HALT DRIFT TO WAR—WILLKIE

HORNER'S AID BLOCKS TEST OF GOVERNORSHIP

Writ with Doubted Signature Recalled.

Savanna, Ill., Oct. 4 [Special].—Gov. Henry Horner, thru his secretary, Arthur P. O'Brien, today recalled a warrant that had been issued for the extradition of a Savanna man charged with a crime in Lancaster, Wis.

This action frustrated the plan to settle thru court action in the extradition case the two year old question of who actually is governor of Illinois. The defendant's attorney had challenged Horner's signature on the warrant and alleged that the long ill governor does not perform the official functions of his office.

Called Proof of Disability.

The action of the governor's office was immediately followed by charges that the withdrawal of the warrant proved the governor's disability. There also were predictions that hereafter the same point will be raised in all extradition cases with the prospect that Illinois may become a haven for criminals safe from extradition to the states where their crimes were committed.

"I would assume," said Circuit Judge Harry Wheat, in whose court the removal proceedings had been set for a hearing on Oct. 14, "that hereafter a smart lawyer would now raise the same point in any extradition case in Illinois."

Dismissal Expected.

Lawrence A. Smith, attorney for the defendant, Adam Mink, 45 years old, a federal employé at the Savanna ordnance depot, claimed a complete victory and asserted there was nothing left for Judge Wheat to do but dismiss his client.

"It appears to me," Smith said, "that the recall of the warrant is an admission of the charges I made in my petitions, that Gov. Horner did not handle the matter personally and that he does not have authority to delegate the power to any other person."

Smith had fought Mink's removal on the constitutional ground that the governor of Illinois had not passed judgment upon the legal adequacy of Wisconsin's request for extradition.

Heard of Withdrawal Plan.

On Sept. 25, in support of this contention, he announced he would subpena Gov. Horner, Lieut. Gov. John Stelle, Finance Director Samuel L. Nudelman, Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, and personal attendants of the governor. The case was continued to permit him to do so. Smith said today that he had held up that action because he had heard a report that the warrant was to be withdrawn in view of his plans to subpena the state officials.

Sheriff Ray R. Westfall of Carroll county mailed the warrant back to the governor's office this afternoon after he had received from Secretary O'Brien the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Westfall: At the direction of the governor we should like to recall the warrant for the extradition of Adam Mink to the state of Wisconsin now in your hands. Will you kindly return the same to this office? Notice of this action has also been forwarded to Judge Harry Wheat before whom this case is now pending."

Gov. Heil Surprised.

Gov. Julius P. Heil of Wisconsin, who had made the requisition upon the Illinois governor for Mink's extradition, expressed surprise at the action by Horner's office. He said Illinois was able to extradite her criminals from Wisconsin and he saw no reason why Wisconsin should be balked when the procedure was reversed.

State's Attorney Richard W. Orton of Grant county, Wisconsin, who sought Mink's return to Lancaster on a charge of nonsupport of his wife and children, said he would not drop the matter.

"I will make an immediate request that Gov. Horner be asked to issue a new warrant," the prosecutor said, "that he personally consider the request for such a rendition warrant and that he personally issue the same.

"Out of the comity existing between the two states, Illinois should heed the request of Wisconsin in returning for trial men who have left Wisconsin and gone to Illinois.

"I feel that if this man is allowed to escape facing the charge against him in Wisconsin, it certainly will be a miscarriage of justice and a gross mistreatment of his wife and family."

TIGERS TAKE 2-1 LEAD IN SERIES; ZIVIC WINS TITLE

The Detroit Tigers took a 2 to 1 lead in the world series yesterday by defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 4, before a throng of 53,877. Rudy York and Pinky Higgins led a four run assault in the seventh inning with home runs. The fourth game will be played today.

Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh became the welterweight boxing champion of the world last night by defeating Henry Armstrong in a 15 round bout in New York's Madison Square Garden.

BOMBPROOF SHELTER

Rebukes Dems for Cheating on Attendance

Hereafter Democratic workers in the 31st ward will drop their attendance cards when meetings are over, not when they begin. Here's why:

The time was last night. The scene was 1935 North California avenue, where a Democratic ward meeting was in progress. Senator James M. Slattery was to speak. Waiting to greet him were Ald. Thomas P. Keane, County Recorder Edward J. Kaindl and other political heavyweights of the ward. But there was a fly in the ointment.

Check Tickets at Door.

Kaindl, rotund, fiery, and a forceful speaker who years ago made the rafters ring in the council chamber where he served the ward for years as an alderman, pounded the speakers' table and spoke as follows:

"I'm more than a little disappointed over the attendance here tonight. And some of you think you're awfully damn smart. Some of the workers brought their tickets in, checked them at the door and then ducked. But I'll spike that practice. From now on we'll collect the cards after the meeting, not before. There will be no more runouts.

"An accurate count is going to be kept of all who attend from now on," he continued. "We've got three more meetings and that count is going to be very accurate. After the election we'll know which ones have been faithful and we'll reward them proportionately."

No Lists Come Back.

He paused for breath, still scowling, then went on:

"It may interest you to know," he said bitterly, "that out of all the Roosevelt stickers I gave out not a single list of those to whom they were supposed to be given has been turned in to me. Today I got a letter from headquarters in the Morrison hotel." He waved the letter, pounded on the table, and began to read it. Then he broke off.

"I'm not going to read any more of it," he cried. "They ask here for the lists to be turned in by Monday. Get busy. Take the heat off yourselves or you'll be sorry."

At this point a hand reached around Kaindl's shoulder, grabbed his right hand, pumped it vigorously. The interrupter was Ald. Keane. As the ward workers laughed Keane said with a smile:

Kaindl sat down, Slattery entered, and the meeting went on.

18,162 MORE CHICAGO VOTERS REGISTERED; TOTAL NOW 104,815

Total new registrations for the Nov. 5 Presidential election in Cook county stood at 104,815 yesterday as Thursday's total of 18,162 new names was added to the rolls. Registration began last June 1 and will end for Chicago at 9 o'clock Monday night. Staffs will be on duty at the city's 139 fire stations and at the election board offices at the city hall until that hour. Voters in suburban areas under supervision of County Clerk Michael J. Flynn will have an additional chance to register Tuesday in 122 local offices.

Of Thursday's total of 18,162 registrants, 10,514 were women, according to Chief Clerk John S. Rusch of the election board.

BLAST WRECKS CHEMICAL PLANT AT TERRE HAUTE

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 4 (AP).—An explosion and fire wrecked a chemical plant here tonight and brought immediate indications of a federal investigation.

The north section of the Commercial Solvents corporation's plant, spread over four blocks, was destroyed when a 30,000 gallon acetone still exploded. The still was in a tower atop one of the three buildings that were wrecked.

One man was feared to have been killed and two were hurt. The missing man was Tom Sankey, who was working in the section where the blast occurred.

Maynard Wheeler, the firm's production manager, estimated the loss at $100,000. He said he did not suspect sabotage, since the company was not connected directly with any work on the national defense program.

Nevertheless, Earl J. Winn, head of the federal bureau of investigation office at Indianapolis, left for Terre Haute as soon as he was notified of the explosion.

The explosion was felt thruout this city and thousands thronged to the scene watching the flames. Hundreds of windows were broken in the neighborhood. A series of explosions occurred in the research laboratory as some flames reached it.

A Bride Adds Some Clothes to Hope Chest

Wilma Weiss may not be a bride today, but the man who jilted her has only the clothes on his back, if that is any comfort to Wilma, and apparently it is.

As far as Wilma knows—and she insists she does know—Edward Mikula, who is 24 years old and lives at 2305 North Menard avenue, still is her fiancé.

He hasn't told her otherwise, but his younger brother, Walter, has, and for this Wilma, 22, and indignant, had Walter arrested.

It's a Quaint Old Custom.

Wilma and Edward were to have been married today. They bought a license last Saturday and Edward, following a quaint and wholly unauthenticated old custom, moved all his clothes into Wilma's home at 2746 Melrose street.

The clothes still are there, as is Wilma. Moreover, she insists, both will stay.

Not until midnight Thursday did Wilma have any intimation of trouble. Then a pounding interrupted her premarital dreams. Brother Walter and two friends were at her door.

"Edward wants his clothes," said Walter.

"Why?" demanded Wilma.

"He's changed his mind," Walter said sweetly.

Wilma called the police. At the station she charged the three with disorderly conduct.

"Edward has changed his mind," Walter told Judge Lambert K. Hayes in Shakespeare avenue court yesterday. "He just didn't have enough nerve to ask for his clothes."

"If he doesn't want to marry her, he'll have to tell her so like a man," Judge Hayes declared. "If he can't do that, she keeps the clothes."

She has them.

Roosevelt Urged to Give Family Photo to Draftees

A suggestion that President Roosevelt present autographed pictures of his sons Elliott and James in their captain's uniforms to all men who register for conscription on Oct. 16 was made last night. It came from Capt. William J. Grace, who is a former Illinois commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and a Republican candidate for judge of the Municipal court. He spoke at a meeting at 3408 Armitage avenue.

ARMY NOT ABLE TO HOUSE MORE; BUILDING CAMPS

May Delay Calling of Guard, Too.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4. — The army general staff today was engaged in a drastic downward revision of the number of conscripts which will be called to the colors in the first draft under the selective service act.

Lack of facilities to house the conscripts, to say nothing of the lack of equipment for their training, is forcing a change in plans which will bring only a comparatively small number of the 16,500,000 young men in the nation between the ages of 21 and 35 into uniform.

At the time the selective service act was passed, officials announced that they expected to have 400,000 men mustered into service by Jan. 1. Today, with the registration date less than two weeks away, officials acknowledged that probably less than 100,000 will be in the army by that date.

Could Have Raised Volunteers.

Army officers acknowledged that such a number could have been brought into service voluntarily, as congressional foes of the draft act contended. Opponents of the draft argued that this country could raise more soldiers than it could house or equip by voluntary enlistment so that adoption of conscription would be a waste of effort, time, and money.

The army shattered all peace and war time recruiting records in September with the enlistment of more than 45,000 volunteers, the war department announced today. The previous monthly record was 39,589, established in May, 1917—the month following the country's entry into the world war.

The September enlistments raised the regular army strength to 335,000 men out of the authorized 400,000 maximum. War department officials, who released the preliminary figures on the number recruited last month, said the total was still incomplete. All enlistments were for three years' service.

Lack Housing Facilities.

Today army officers acknowledged that it will be impossible to provide housing facilities for 400,000 conscripts by Jan. 1. The army is already swamped with the task of providing housing facilities for the expanded regular army and the 92,600 National Guardsmen, who have been summoned to active service.

It was said that the calling of guardsmen to active service may be discontinued until after the first of the year, because the army will not be able to provide facilities for those still in the state service.

Under the present program the army is at work on 10 tent camps for National Guard divisions, seven regular army cantonments, six National Guard cantonments, one cantonment for antiaircraft training, and four tent camps for antiaircraft training.

Erect Reception Depots.

To accommodate conscripts and those who enlist for year military service, the army is building 13 recruit reception depots. These are to cost $275,000. The recruits will be shifted from these depots to camps, but the army has little available space for recruits at regular stations and the new camps.

The selective service act will begin to furnish man power to the army about Nov. 15. Army officers agreed it will be technically possible to furnish the quota of 400,000 men by Jan. 1, but physically impossible to accept that many men in service due to the lack of facilities and equipment.

The nation's young men are to register Oct. 16. Five to 10 days later, between Oct. 21 and Oct. 26, the national lottery will be held in Washington, with President Roosevelt probably drawing the first numbers.

NEW DEAL LEADS AMERICA TO WAR, SAYS GEN. WOOD

Gen. Robert E. Wood, soldier and business man, told a meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations yesterday that the present policy of the Roosevelt administration is bound to involve the United States in war. He spoke before 1,500 persons in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House.

Gen. Robert E. Wood.

"You cannot play with fire and not get burned,' said Gen. Wood, who was responsible for supplying the entire military establishment of the United States during the world war. "You cannot have your government—not private manufacturers—transfer its equipment to foreign powers; you cannot have your government in an unofficial alliance with a foreign power; you cannot be a meddler in Indo-China, or berate Italy and Germany, without eventually involving the nation in war."

Scoffs At War Hysteria.

Gen. Wood, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., scoffed at what he called the fantastic hysteria which swept the United States following the battle of France. He said the majority of military and naval experts will assure the United States that there is absolutely no danger of invasion by Germany.

The speaker expressed a doubt that Germany ever will invade England. And, if such an invasion is attempted, he said, it will be repulsed.

"I believe a majority of the people who are advocating 'aid short of war' do not desire us to enter the war," said Gen. Wood. "But there are others who do desire us to enter the war, who are taking the necessary steps to prepare the American people for participation, who would enter the war tomorrow if they dared, who are today in practical alliance with England, and unfortunately they are the people who are shaping our national policy today. You hear in Washington today that we are now at war. You hear predictions from men—and men who ought to know—that we will actively enter the war within 60 days after the election."

Interventionists' Points Cited.

The speaker said that the arguments of the interventionists are threefold:

1. That the totalitarian state, with its ideology and its record of persecution, is repugnant to our ideals and should be destroyed even if we have to go to war.

2. That our own protection depends on Britain as our first line of defense, and that if she falls we are exposed to the onslaught of a totalitarian combination.

3. That if Britain is defeated it will be impossible for a free competitive, unorganized, and unmanaged industrial system to compete with a totalitarian system.

In answer to the first argument Gen. Wood asserted that it is impossible to destroy an ideology by waging war on it. A nation cannot be knight errant, he said; it must be

U. S. ENVOY REPORTED HELPING BRITAIN WOO RUSSIA'S ASSISTANCE

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 4.—Laurence Steinhardt, American ambassador to Russia, who returned to his post recently from Washington, is reported by his diplomatic colleagues to be actively supporting the effort of the British ambassador, Sir Stafford Cripps, to obtain Russia's assistance for England.

According to diplomats in Moscow, the soviet foreign minister-premier, Vyacheslav Molotov, frequently is unwilling to receive Cripps and Steinhardt is helping his British colleague place his proposals before Molotov. It is not known in Moscow whether Steinhardt was connected with London's recent suggestion that Russia seize Narvik, northern iron ore port in Norway. This proposal was under consideration when the three power pact was announced from Berlin.

The American minister to Latvia, John C. Wiley, is en route to Washington from Riga via the Pacific. During their journey across Siberia Wiley and his wife lost eight trunks. Other American foreign officers who traveled the Trans-Siberian railroad en route home also reported losing trunks.

NEW DEAL FAILS IN ARMING U. S., SAYS CANDIDATE

Wants Nation Made Strong by Work.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 4.—Wendell L. Willkie, returning to Philadelphia, the city where he was made the Republican nominee for President 14 weeks ago, tonight warned the people of America that they are drifting toward war under a government which is incompetent to build an adequate defense in these perilous times.

The nominee spoke in Shibe park before an attentive and enthusiastic crowd of 25,000 which frequently interrupted his address with applause. He was introduced by Gov. Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania. The cheering thousands who turned out earlier in the day to greet Willkie upon his arrival in this city gave him a welcome which has hardly been equaled in his campaign.

After citing specific instances of unpreparedness and incompetence—armaments "on order" and "ghost tanks"—Willkie said that the longer the United States remains incompetent to defend itself, the closer it is drawn to war. This drift toward war and this incompetence must be stopped, he declared.

Wants to Create Jobs.

"Fellow Americans, I want to lead the fight for peace," he continued, "I know how to lead that fight: I will lead this nation back to work. The first step toward peace is to put a job in every home. The second step toward peace is to mobilize American industry for the production of armaments."

The New Deal, Willkie charged, is afraid of this undertaking and is hiding facts and the total cost from the people.

Calling attention to President Roosevelt's speech on defense last May, Willkie said:

"The third term candidate told us over the radio that we had 1,700 modern tanks and armored cars 'on hand and on order.' It so happens that at that time we had on hand 142 tanks and armored cars. All the others—more than 1,500—were ghost tanks and ghost cars."

Orders, but No Factory.

Willkie told of a manufacturer in Michigan who has an order for tanks but has not yet built the building in which the tanks are to be made.

He told of an aircraft company with millions of dollars worth of orders, with the building still in the blue print stage.

"Certainly the next time any official figures are announced," said Willkie, "concerning the progress of the defense program, we shall be in a very wary mood."

He listed many things that are needed for defense and said that the New Deal has refused to face this problem and that our defense is less adequate than it was in 1936.

"The New Deal has not lacked money," Willkie declared. "It has lacked the ability to get things done. It has lacked a fundamental understanding of the forces of production. Without increased production we cannot defend ourselves."

Rides 20 Miles Thru Crowds.

Willkie entered Philadelphia this afternoon after touring the state from Harrisburg east. He rode thru crowds for 20 miles in this city, finding everywhere, even in the industrial districts, a high tide of interest in himself and his message.

After greeting the huge crowd which surrounded the plaza at the Broad street station, Willkie went to Independence hall, the scene of the birth of American liberty and constitutional government. He also visited the Cramp ship yards, where the government recently placed an order for $106,000,000 worth of cruisers. Then he went to Town hall and spoke before a meeting of party workers.

Recalls His Nomination.

In his address at Shibe park Willkie recalled that it was in Philadelphia that he received his nomination for the Presidency. He then told his audience that he wanted to discuss national defense, and continued as follows:

"I have pointed out many times that production—and only production—can provide us with a base for economic prosperity.

"I now say that only production—

BRITISH TO GET NO TIME TO CATCH BREATH: BERLIN

Warning Sounded After Dictators Meet.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—Official German circles today served warning on Great Britain that she will receive no time to "catch her breath" in her war with Germany. They made this declaration after Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini conferred for three and a half hours in an armored railway car on the Italian side of the Brenner Pass, gateway of the axis.

Tho failing to make public the topic of the conversation or the decisions reached by the Fuehrer and Il Duce, Nazi circles said the meeting had "special significance at the present moment when England is compelled to defend herself simultaneously on the English channel, the Thames river, and the Suez canal."

Discuss "New Order."

Both Germans and Italians talked about the "new order" which, they said, is to extend from Europe to Africa. Berlin and Rome are seeking to establish this "new order" in countries they control or which, like Rumania and Hungary, have placed themselves under their "friendly guidance," in the hope of sidestepping occupation by the axis powers.

Describing the Hitler-Mussolini conference as of "vital importance for world politics," the Frankfurter Zeitung said:

"The magnitude of the conversations, it seems, must not be underestimated."

Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, foreign ministers of Germany and Italy, were present at the meeting in the Brenner Pass.

Gen. Keitel at Meeting.

A military note was given to it by the announcement that Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, Hitler's personal representative in the army, took part in the second phase of the conversation.

While the two axis leaders were conferring, Ramon Serrano Suner, Spain's minister of the interior, remained in Rome awaiting Mussolini's return.

Vision Move in Mediterranean.

Some diplomats expressed the belief that this indicates the authoritarian powers "plan to switch the center of gravity of their coming activity toward the western part of the Mediterranean."

Other diplomats, however, maintained that the authoritarian powers are focusing their attention on the eastern Mediterranean. To support their theory, they pointed to nervousness in Bulgaria, with the Bulgarians asserting that a new partial mobilization is being carried out.

[It has been suggested that Germany might send troops to Africa to help the Italians. With Spanish permission or coöperation the Nazis could attempt to seize Gibraltar and then cross to Africa. Another possible route would be to move thru the Balkans, Turkey, Syria, and Palestine.]

Reports continued to circulate that Greece and Turkey have further strengthened the ties uniting them "to safeguard their national integrity against all comers."

Russia Watches Developments.

The Russians are following developments closely. Pan-Slav groups are active both in Bulgaria and Jugo-Slavia, which are doing everything possible to remain in the good graces of Italy and Germany.

Otto Abetz, Germany's special representative to occupied Paris, is in Berlin. He was accompanied by a French delegation headed by Georges Scapini, known for pro-Nazi activities.

It was recalled that before the Dutch Nazis began preparing their pro-Nazi government, Anton Mussert, Holland's Nazi leader, came to Berlin to see Hitler.

Scapini's arrival at a time when many Nazis are discussing the "necessity for France to choose a government of new men" has given rise to reports that he is "working for the incorporation of France in the new European order devised by Hitler and Mussolini."

Danish Nazis Active.

Danish Nazis also are displaying increased activity. Danes who heretofore felt that the political integrity of Denmark would not be affected by the German occupation have voiced apprehension. They said that the Danish minister of commerce, Christmas Mueller, resigned under German pressure because he opposed the introduction of the Nazi creed.

King Christian picked Halvdan Henriksen, a conservative, as Mueller's successor. Some Nazi sympathizers in Denmark are displeased with this appointment. They are working for "the introduction of a government which is willing to coöperate more closely with Germany."

Balkans Jittery as Dictators Meet

Southeastern European nations last night were expecting a diplomatic offensive by the Rome-Berlin axis as one result of the conference of Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini. The principal developments are indicated on the map.

NAME R. A. F. HEAD TO BE GOVERNOR OF NEW ZEALAND

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP).—A surprise shuffle in the royal air force command tonight switched Air Chief Marshal Sir Cyril Newall, the man who built the modern R.A.F., to the key post of governor general of New Zealand. Sir Cyril succeeds Viscount Galway, who held the post six years.

Air Marshal Sir Charles Portal, 47 year old head of the R.A.F bomber command, succeeded Sir Cyril, giving the youngest fighting service its youngest chief for a stepped up air war against Germany. Portal's successor is Air Marshal Sir Richard Peirse, who was appointed a vice chief of the air staff in April.

Some observers believed the transfer of Sir Cyril to New Zealand might have been made with an eye to possible future developments in the Pacific in face of the German-Italian-Japanese military pact.

CHARGES FRENCH GAVE UP ALSACE AND LORRAINE

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP).—Gen. De Larminat, appointed governor general of French equatorial Africa by Gen. Charles De Gaulle, leader of "free France," asserted tonight that a secret clause of the French-German armistice returned Alsace-Lorraine to Germany immediately and unconditionally. He made the accusation in a message to the De Gaulle headquarters here.

De Larminat said he had documents showing that agents of the German government had been authorized to fly to Dakar, West Africa, and were in command of the defense of that port when the De Gaulle forces with British support made their recent unsuccessful attempt to take it.

JITTERY BALKANS LOOK FOR A NEW AXIS 'OFFENSIVE'

Believe All Signs Point to Diplomatic Drive.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 4 (AP).—With German made planes cruising protectively over Rumania's oil fields and the Italian army jockeying along Albania's Greek frontier, southeastern Europe looked tonight for a new axis offensive, probably diplomatic.

A stronger Nazi-Fascist policy in this corner of the continent, including new pressure against pro-British Greece, was indicated.

Balkan political circles were convinced that Adolf Hitler and Premier Mussolini devoted a good share of their Brenner Pass meeting today to discussion of a possible new "prestige" campaign in this area.

Expect Bid to Join Axis.

Some observers believed the new axis program may include an invitation to Hungary, Bulgaria, and Rumania to join the axis in a military alliance as part of new pressure against Greece and Turkey, which also has British ties.

The sight of Messerschmitts among 18 planes in "defensive reconnaissance flight" over Rumanian oil fields was taken as an indication of the manner in which that country is coming under German military protection and guidance.

Rumors of government changes favorable to the axis were current in Sofia, Bulgarian capital, while in Hungary membership in the now United Hungarian Nazi party was reported gaining rapidly.

Boris Decorates Goering.

King Boris of Bulgaria awarded the superlative order of St. Alexander today to Reichsmarshal Herman Wilhelm Goering and the Berlin and Rome foreign ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop, and Count Galeazzo Ciano.

Balkan press reports from Berlin and Rome significantly discussed "possible extension of the axis European front" and reports from all Balkan capitals indicated a developing political nervousness.

The prevailing impression was that the axis, held up in western Europe, now is planning a more active Mediterranean and near east policy in which a tight hold on southeastern Europe was considered essential.

Greek Army Alert.

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 4 (AP).—The Greek army is taking "preventative measures" against any surprise move by Italian forces massing along the border of neighboring Albania, an authoritative source said tonight.

Border advices said some 130,000 Fascist troops were facing the Greek frontier, backed up by 120 tanks. They were said to have arrived from Italy during the last two weeks of September.

REPORT RUMANIA TRIES TO PIN IRON GUARD KILLINGS ON BRITISH

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 4 (AP).—Rumanian secret police, investigating alleged British sabotage of German bound gasoline shipments, are attempting to prove that British agents also inspired the mass killings of several thousand pro-Nazi iron guardists last year, it was learned on high authority tonight.

Police investigators quizzed two Britons, A. Miller, director of the British dominated Astra-Romana Oil company, and Percy Clark, president of the Ploesti Oil company. Both had been kidnaped before being turned over to the police.

Heading the list of Rumanians being grilled was Gen. George Argesanu who was premier in the brief military dictatorship following the assassination of Premier Armand Calinescu. Iron guardists blame Argesanu for ordering the mass execution of their members. Meanwhile, Calinescu's minister of education, Petre Andrei, committed suicide at Jassy as iron guards searched his home for incriminating documents.

NAZI TANK CARS WRECKED AGAIN IN JUGO-SLAVIA

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Oct. 4 (AP).—A second wreck interfering with German oil shipments thru Jugo-Slavia from Rumania occurred today when an express train collided with a string of empty German tank cars, killing several persons, injuring many and ruining many of the tank cars.

Today's wreck, between Belgrade and Nis, occurred as the Jugo-Slav government was still investigating a derailment of a train made up mostly of tank cars en route from Rumania to Germany on Sept. 28. Germany promptly asked an investigation of that wreck.

As in the first case, the Jugo-Slav government today ordered newspapers to suppress the news.

MURKY WEATHER BALKS TWO NAZI RAIDS ON LONDON

Targets Shrouded, Bombers Soon Give Up.

LONDON, Oct. 5, Saturday (AP).—German bombers made two stabs at London last night and early today but quit sooner than usual in the face of murky weather obscuring their targets.

Gunfire was heard in the suburbs and central London during the first raid but in the second there were no explosions in the city proper.

The first assault was concentrated in the northwestern and southwestern areas, but bombs fell, too, in the very center of London. One smashed thru the glass roof of a railway station, just missing a ticket collector and a passenger, but no casualties were reported there. [Both the Waterloo and Victoria stations are roofed with glass.]

Spread Raid to Midlands.

The attacks spread out from here to the industrial Midlands and other areas of England and Wales.

It was the customary follow-up to daytime raids in which the Nazis, flying solo or in tight little wedges, joined the German Big Berthas of Cap Gris Nez in scorching the English shores and ship lanes with bomb blast and shell fire yesterday.

In one case six planes attacked together, smashing part of an ancient castle and knocking over houses in two streets of one coastal settlement.

Once, over the Thames estuary, a four engined super bomber dived from the clouds and dropped nine great bombs. They wounded nine persons.

During one daylight raid, King George himself was in central and east London, inspecting air raid shelters with the new "shelter dictator," Admiral Sir Edward Evans, "Evans of the Broke." Guns rolled in the distance, but no bombs fell near the king.

British Blast Ships.

In their continuing counter-offensive yesterday, British naval planes and royal air force pilots blasted at German held ports along the channel and as far north as Norway. In Bjorne fjord, south of Bergen, a 2,000 ton Nazi supply ship was reported sunk and a 5,000 tonner was left "heavily on fire in fore and after holds" alongside the jetty at Haugesund. One British dive bomber was reported lost.

Added to these attacks, the British declared officially, were the following actions:

A German convoy of 12 merchant ships, escorted by warships, bombed off Dunkirk; two shipping basins in Rotterdam attacked; communications and oil storage reserves bombed in the Cherbourg port region; a steel factory in western Germany, near Wesel, attacked.

Early today the British Press association reported that "extremely unfavorable" weather had prevented the royal air force from "carrying out any operations over enemy territory during the night."

Bomb Scottish Airport.

BERLIN, Oct. 4 (AP).—A devastating attack in which an airport in Scotland was "laid in rubbish and ashes" today by a strong attacking force of planes and the bombing of other airports west of London and in south England was reported by DNB, official German news agency.

Troop barracks, supply centers, war factories, a big oil tank colony, and important rail systems also were bombed in day raids, the agency said, after the high command had described the havoc wrought yesterday in British aviation camps and attacks on troop trains and armament plants.

It reported direct hits on troops and barracks at a flyers' camp at Sheerness, at the mouth of the Thames, and destruction of hangars and airplanes on the ground at an air field in Cornwall, as well as successful attacks on other air fields near London.

Save Refugees After 8 Days in Lifeboat

Three of six English school boys rescued from a lifeboat eight days after the City of Benares sank 600 miles west of England. The pictures above and below were made when the 46 rescued persons arrived in England. The British said the ship was torpedoed and 248 persons are missing, including 77 evacuee children. FLYER BELIEVES GERMANS USING ROBOT BOMBERS

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Oct. 4 (AP).—An American aviator home from London said today he believed the German air forces were using pilotless, radio controled planes in the bombing of the British capital.

Patrick Breen, 34 year old New York pilot, who had been hired by the British to "ferry" fighting ships from English factory to military fields, described one bombing attack in which he saw what he believed to be a robot plane.

"The plane was a twin engined bomber and it was flying at less than 5,000 feet—because I could see the German insignia on its tail. Antiaircraft guns blasted away at it, but it continued on a direct conrse across Victoria station in a direct line for the parliament buildings and the River Thames.

"It did not change course one bit. It did not climb or glide or turn all the time it was in view, which certainly led me to believe the machine was radio controled probably from a plane away up."

NAVY RECALLS SQUADRON FROM EUROPEAN DUTY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—The navy department today recalled three vessels of Squadron 40-T which have been on duty in European waters since the outbreak of the Spanish civil war. At the close of that conflict the vessels continued in European waters to aid in the evacuation of Americans.

The coast guard cutter Campbell will sail for Europe tomorrow to replace the three vessels. It will operate under navy orders.

The squadron is being disbanded under the naval reorganization program incorporating all vessels operating in the Atlantic into the new "patrol force of the United States fleet," consisting of some 125 vessels.

There had been persistent reports that Squadron 40-T would be withdrawn, since its two destroyers might be mistaken for some of the 50 destroyers transferred to Great Britain. Similarly, experts said, the squadron flagship Omaha, altho a cruiser, might also be mistaken, since it is a four stacker like the 50 destroyers.

START SURVEY TO AID DEFENSE TRAINING PLANS

The Chicago Association of Commerce has started a survey of companies in the city to determine the possibilities of establishing in them short engineering courses of college grade for developing the technical workers required for the defense program, William Bachrach said yesterday. He is chairman of the association's council on training of defense workers, which is sponsoring the project with local representatives of the United States office of education.

An early federal appropriation of 9 million dollars for this type of training is indicated, with provision for a limited amount of equipment, he added. Intensive courses from one to several months are proposed.

SWISS TAKE OVER ALL SUPPLIES OF BREAD CEREALS

BERNE, Switzerland, Oct. 4 (AP).—Tightening the nation's belt for what may be lean years ahead if the European war lasts, the Swiss government took over the entire crop and all stores of bread grains today in a sweeping decree. Henceforth grain will be sold and distributed at prices fixed by the government.

Farmers and dealers were ordered to deliver all bread cereals to the government. Swiss home grown bread wheat totals about 8,000,000 bushels, of which the Swiss normal consumption is one-third.

Bread is not rationed so far in Switzerland, but consumption has been reduced by recent orders that it must be 24 hours old before sold.

REFUGEE FLOOD SWAMPS OXFORD, FILLS COLLEGES

Evacuation Scheme Draws New Fire in Press.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Criticism of the British government's arrangements for taking care of the homeless and destitute still is being voiced in the press one months after the start of the aerial blitzkrieg. Even the conservative Daily Telegraph joined the chorus today, publishing a long report from Oxford outlining the difficulties confronting the university city, which is flooded with refugees from London.

The Daily Telegraph said nine out of 20 of the college buildings at Oxford are being used for official evacuees, but soon will be needed for the undergraduates. Accommodations in the town are taxed to the limit, giving rise to a rent racket, the paper charged.

The Daily Telegraph criticized the government's migration scheme because local authorities in provincial towns are not informed beforehand how many refugees they must billet and must cope with the housing and feeding problem as best they can and, also because the refugees are victimized by profiteers, due to the lack of organization in London.

Refugees Pour Into Oxford.

As for Oxford, the Daily Telegraph stated, people from the bombed areas of the capital arrive there in a constant stream day and night, and local authorities do not know how many unofficial evacuees are likely to filter in without notice.

Local residents of Oxford, the Daily Telegraph stated, are indignant that the city should be dubbed the "war profiteers' town," but records instances of women with children being charged exorbitant prices for rooms which were scarcely inhabitable.

One case concerns a woman and two children who were charged a weekly rent of $4 and 45 cents for "extras" for a room used partly for the storage of instruments. The only source of heat in the room was a gas ring and there were no facilities for washing baby clothes. Under the government scheme, householders are paid $1 for every person over 14 years of age and 60 cents for every child billeted with them.

Offers a Solution.

Stewart Swift, the Oxford billeting officer, has suggested that, to relieve the congestion, no one be permitted to leave London for Oxford without assurance that an accommodation would be available. He advocated local authorities be given power to force homeowners to provide accommodations for the homeless.

Many east London families are being accommodated in an Oxford ballroom, where most of them sleep fully clothed on straw mattresses.

QUAKES SHAKE NO. CHILE; MANY BUILDINGS RAZED

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 4 (AP).—Several buildings were destroyed or damaged by earthquakes which shook Chile's northern provinces today. The shocks, apparently strongest in the region of Iquique, were felt intermittently for six hours. No reports of casualties have been received.

Twenty-four houses were shaken down at the Humberstone nitrate field in Tarapaca province and 16 other buildings and the postoffice were damaged at Pisagua.

At Iquique the strongest shock sent most of the city's 40,000 inhabitants into the streets in panic. Iquique, however, suffered little damage.

CHAMBERLAIN RESIGNS JOB AS LEADER OF THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Neville Chamberlain today resigned as leader of the Conservative party, a job he held both as prime minister and after he resigned that post. Yesterday he resigned as lord president of the council. Chamberlain's resignation was contained in a letter to the party organization which will meet next week to decide on his successor. Prime Minister Winston Churchill is mentioned as the most likely candidate. The prime minister has been out of the Conservative party for years.

CANADIAN NAVY 1 YEAR AGO—13 SHIPS; NOW—119

Convoys 2,200 Vessels Across Atlantic.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[FIFTH ARTICLE.]

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Oct. 4.—Six days after war was declared in Europe in September, 1939, the first group of merchant vessels left this port for the war zone under convoy of the royal Canadian navy. Since then Halifax has become one of the world's busiest harbors from which 2,200 vessels and 16 million tons of material have been dispatched in one year.

Such was the record disclosed to American newspapermen who were shown thru Canadian war centers last week. Not one of these vessels has been lost while under Canadian protection, we were told, altho six have been sunk while nearing the British or French coasts under guard of other convoy services.

11,000 Men in Navy.

This convoy work, plus a large additional amount of coastal patroling on both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, has been done by a Canadian force that numbered, on the outbreak of war, 1,756 men and 13 vessels. Expansion has followed until the Canadian navy today consists of 11,000 officers and men and 119 vessels, including 12 destroyers [six of the newly acquired American destroyers are in this total], and three large armed merchant cruisers.

We saw some of these men and a few of the ships in a seven hour examination of the naval establishments here, the double harbor, and some of the convoy and patrol boats.

Training at the recruit center "Stadacona 11" on the western harbor shore, emphasizes gun drill. Dummy guns and real guns set up in practice rooms were manned by teams that sweated as they loaded, cleared the gun, and reloaded under officers who timed them with a stop watch. One team has loaded and fired a 6 inch gun 10 times in 45 seconds for the current record.

Special training is given gun aimers and plotters. In the navy range, elevation, and such information is generally given from a central fire control station, but the men who do the gun pointing also are given training in visual laying of the guns.

Take Mines Apart.

Classes near by were engaged in signal practice with flags, lights, and wireless. Still others were taking apart torpedoes and mines to show the enlisted men how these weapons are constructed and how they operate.

Six of the 24 American destroyers delivered here to date were moored at the Canadian naval jetties and we were allowed to go aboard.

"They were sent to us in excellent shape," said our chief guide, Capt. E. S. Brand. "They were ready to go back to sea immediately as far as equipment was concerned. Spare parts were aboard and all we needed to do was refuel."

One important change, however, is being made in all the vessels. This involves the installation of many new quick firing cannon on antiaircraft mountings. Experience in the English channel, the captain, said, illustrated that addition of these weapons is essential. As delivered the American ships had only two .50 caliber machine guns as their antiaircraft batteries.

Pass Protective Nets.

Taken aboard two Canadian destroyers we cruised slowly thru the inner basin where heavily loaded freighters awaiting the next convoy are moored.

Following this we were taken out to sea—past the protective nets that stretch across the harbor mouth and out into the ocean proper. On our three hour voyage we passed half a dozen Canadian mine sweepers busy on the channel. Not one mine has been swept up since the war began, but work goes on, nevertheless.

As soon as the destroyers crossed the "boom" at the harbor mouth the crews went to battle stations—an indication of the vigilance that is not relaxed for a moment even tho no enemy ship has been seen close to these shores so far. The crews stayed at battle stations until we reëntered the harbor.

Canadians are amused by the fact that most of the men in their navy come from inland provinces, just as most of the new recruits in the American navy come from the middle west.

Two Classes of Reserves.

"As soon as war began we called up 2,000 men from our naval reserve units," Capt. Brand said. "We have two classes of reserve—for merchant seamen who take special naval training, and another for volunteer reservists who are not professional seamen, but take courses and drill in 18 stations in the dominion."

Training of new recruits begins at the inland divisional headquarters, then is continued at the coastal barracks, he said. There are now also 400 "officers and ratings" in England for training at royal naval establishments.

Aside from six destroyers in service at the outbreak of the war, the Canadian navy consists chiefly of fishing vessels, coast guard cutters, and customs boats called into the service. Appropriations of 123 million dollars for the year 1940-'41 has allowed the navy to contract for new antisubmarine vessels now called courvettes —10 of which are for the British navy—18 mine sweepers, and some wooden auxiliary boats. Half of these boats already are on the ways in Canadian shipyards.

Halifax Spy Conscious.

Halifax is spy conscious. Several persons have been arrested and tried as enemy espionage agents. Recently a young girl in a private school that overlooked the harbor was arrested and sent to prison for spying.

Her arrest followed an investigation started after the German short wave radio broadcasts to Canada began telling the names, the numbers and the times that various convoys left this port. Authorities discovered that an unlicensed radio station was operating here and traced it down by bearings.

This led them to the school. In the room of the girl they found the radio transmitter concealed in a trunk. Apparently she watched the convoys leave thru glasses from her window and then radioed her information to Nazi agents in the United States. Following her arrest, references to Halifax convoy movements ceased in the Nazi broadcasts.

More Draft Officials Appointed

NORTH AMERICAN AVIATION GETS WARPLANE ORDER

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4 (AP).—The war department signed today the last of a series of contracts for the 18,641 planes for which congress provided funds at this session.

The order completing the immediate aircraft purchasing program was a $37,770,981 contract awarded North American Aviation, Inc., Inglewood, Cal. Delivery dates, types and numbers were not disclosed.

RUSSIA JUSTIFIED IN ATTACKING FINNS, H. G. WELLS ASSERTS

New York, Oct. 4 (AP).—H. G. Wells, British author, today defended soviet Russia's invasions of Finland and Poland.

"Suppose some foreign power was situated on Staten Island, a harmless little neutral state," said Wells in referring to the Russo-Finnish war, "but this little state was armed to the teeth with powerful guns that commanded the narrows and you had a theory that this country might be used as a spearhead of attack against the United States. I ask you what Uncle Sam would do? I am sure he would dismantle those batteries and I am afraid he would act almost as dreadfully as Russia did."

He defended the soviet march into Poland by asserting she merely took back land awarded her by the "Curzon line" in 1920 and which had been held by Poland "in spite of the league of nations." Wells attributed friction between Britain and Russia to the "ignorance of statesmen of both nations."

Save All but 3 on British Liner Sunk by Nazi U-Boat

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 4 (AP).—The local agency of the Royal Mail Line today said word had been received from London that all aboard the British liner Highland Patriot except three crew members were rescued when the ship was torpedoed by a German submarine. Germany announced the sinking of the 14,172 ton liner yesterday. She was en route from Rio de Janeiro to Britain.

APPOINTS ACTING DRAFT EXECUTIVE FOR COOK COUNTY

State Director Chooses Maj. McNeil for Job.

The appointment of Maj. Stanley R. McNeil, a Chicago broker, as temporary head of the selective service office for Cook county was announced here yesterday by Paul G. Armstrong, state selective service director. Armstrong also announced that Lieut. Col. Edward A. Fitzpatrick of Milwaukee, president of Mount Mary College for Women, will be acting assistant selective service director for a month, with offices in Springfield.

Lieut. Col. Edward A. Fitzpatrick.

Maj. McNeil, a world war veteran, has been a member of the state staff of the Illinois National Guard since 1937. Lieut. Col. Fitzpatrick, who had charge of the draft administration in Wisconsin from 1917 to 1919, has been a lieutenant colonel in the specialist reserve of the army since 1934. Both men have been inducted into federal service.

Aid for McNeil Named.

Maj. Victor Kleber, a member of the specialist reserve of the army for 18 years, will be McNeil's aid. Until beginning his active service a week ago, Kleber was director of public relations in the office of Mayor Kelly.

Armstrong said he did not know who would be named permanently to the Springfield and Cook county jobs. He is awaiting a ruling from Washington on whether army men or civilians shall be chosen. It was considered probable that McNeil would be named permanently to the county post if it is decided to use an army man. He is 48 years old and lives at 1127 Columbia avenue.

Maj. Lester Johnson, 2506 North Richmond avenue, will be medical assistant to the state draft organization.

School Holiday Proclaimed.

Following issuance of a proclamation by Gov. Horner at Springfield yesterday calling for a school holiday in Illinois on Draft Registration day, Oct. 16, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki announced that he would ask James B. McCahey, head of the Chicago school board, to urge that teachers volunteer as draft registrars.

County draft headquarters will be opened immediately at 100 West Monroe street, Armstrong announced. An announced plan to use National Guard headquarters at 7 South Dearborn street was abandoned because the 33d division is not expected to move out for a year's training until January, he said.

DRAFT, PUTS MEN WHO'VE HID TRUE AGES IN DILEMMA

Fear Job Loss if They Admit Ineligibility.

The day of reckoning has come for those men who told little white lies about their ages in order to get jobs.

THE TRIBUNE'S draft information bureau at 1 South Dearborn street has learned of many a case wherein men actually above draft age are afraid to admit it, John F. Gillespie, director of the bureau reports.

"One man has convinced his boss for more than 10 years that he is 7 years younger than he actually is," said the director. "He is 40 years old, but the boss thinks he is 33, and according to social security records he is 33. We have advised him to make a clean breast of it with the boss and run the risk of being fired rather than deceive Uncle Sam."

Home Town Pride Arises.

The bureau has received numerous queries from young men of draft age who, altho working and living in Chicago, desire to register in their native cities so that their names may some day be etched in bronze in the home town. They are told that they must register in the precinct of their present legal residence.

More than 6,000 queries had been answered by THE TRIBUNE'S bureau thru yesterday, 3,732 of them phone calls, 2,125 at the information counter, and 215 by mail. Typical questions and answers during the last few days were:

Q.—My son is in Mexico and won't be back by Oct. 16 [draft registration day.] What shall I do? A.—Write him and tell him to have a talk with the American consul if convenient, and, if not, to register within five days after returning to this country.

Q.—I had planned to leave the country on a vacation trip before Oct. 16, and stay away thru registration day. What shall I do? A.—You will have difficulty in getting out of the country if you are of draft age.

Wedding Set for Oct. 30.

Q.—My boy friend and I set our wedding date for Oct. 30 nearly a year ago. What shall we do? A.—The first draft call will be several days before the date of the wedding, so we suggest you wait until then before canceling your plans. At the rate enlistments are coming in, only about one out of 20 eligible draftees will be called, and the young man may escape the first call.

Q.—I have 50 men of draft age in my office. Is it a good idea for me to arrange their work so that they can go in relays to register? A.—The men are expected to register in their home precincts if possible, and they should do this before going to work. The registration offices open at 7 a. m. You should allow them to be tardy on registration day.

Many queries have come from Pullman conductors and porters who will be traveling across the country on Oct. 16. No provision has been made for these workers, they say. It is expected special arrangements will be made whereby agents will take their registrations en route, since it will be impossible for them to register in cities where but brief stopovers are made.

Bombs Again Hit Coast of Ireland, British Claim

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP).—The British Press association reported tonight that an unidentified plane had dropped bombs Tuesday off Louth and Meath counties, on the coast of neutral Ireland.

BRITISH BOMBS BLOCK RAIL LINE FROM GULF OF ADEN TO ETHIOPIA

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 4 (AP).—The railway line from Djibouti to Addis Ababa, Italy's only rail connection from the Gulf of Aden with Ethiopia, was blocked by bomb hits on junctions and a train was "successfully attacked," the royal air force reported here today.

Another rail line in Eritrea, connecting the coast with Massawa, also was attacked, the communique said and a railway station set afire.

Malta Shoots Down Raider.

VALLETTA, Malta, Oct. 5, Saturday (AP).—Authorities at this British Mediterranean base today announced one raiding Italian plane had been shot down and another damaged.

Italian Bombs Draw Bombs.

ROME, Oct. 4 (AP).—The high command today reported Italian planes had bombed British forces near Gallabat in the Anglo-Egyptian-Sudan, but acknowledged the British had struck back with an aerial bombardment of Berbera in Somaliland.

GERMANS JAILED FOR LISTENING TO BRITAIN ON RADIO

Berlin Publishes List of 'Ether Criminals.'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—That drastic punishment awaits Germans who dare to listen to news broadcasts by foreign nations again was evidenced today when DNB, official news agency, published a list of so-called "radio criminals."

The news agency disclosed that in Munich, Magdeburg, Dortmund, Dresden, Breslau, and Giessen sentences from four to six years in prison were meted out to persons who listened to foreign stations.

German broadcasting stations are state controled. They frequently broadcast British radio or press items protesting about this or that development in England. The German radio stations tell their listeners that this indicates how bad conditions must be in England.

The fact that English public opinion is allowed to express disapproval occasionally strikes intellectual Germans as evidence that England still retains some freedom of speech. They feel keenly their inability to find out what is being reported in foreign lands.

Workers who formerly had contacts with foreign countries thru trade unions and other international bodies frequently are tempted to twirl the dials of their radios when England or Switzerland broadcast in the German language. As a result those who listened to foreign stations and were denounced before the courts came from all walks of life.

3,394 Seamen Register Under New U. S. Alien Act

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4 (AP).—The justice department announced today that 3,394 seamen registered under the alien registration act in the first month of the law's effectiveness. New York led with 2,301 registrants, followed by San Antonio, Tex., with 301, San Francisco, 248, and Los Angeles, 110.

JAPAN BIDS U. S. TO CO-OPERATE WITH 3-PLY AXIS

Warns Opposition Will Bring 'Finish Fight.'

TOKIO, Oct. 4 (AP).—Japan thrust two sharp warnings at the United States today that any challenge of the Rome-Berlin-Tokio axis would tumble her into a "fight to a finish."

Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe, in his first interview since the signing of the three-power pact, emphasized Japan's stiffened attitude toward America with the declaration that:

"Whether the Pacific will become the scene of war or peace solely depends on whether Japan and the United States respect each other's position. At the present, there is no concrete idea of taking the initiative in negotiations with the United States."

Urges Axis Coöperation.

Konoe urged the United States to throw in her lot with the axis by "positively coöperating with their construction of a new world order."

"Nevertheless," he added, "should the United States deliberately refuse to understand the true intentions of Japan, Germany, and Italy and consider the triple alliance hostile to herself and challenge the axis nations, the axis would be ready to accept such a challenge and fight to a finish."

Simultaneously, Yakichiro Suma, foreign office spokesman, declared recent American moves in the far east "clearly indicate she is taking step after step in the wrong direction which might precipitate her into the vortex or armed conflict."

Recognize U. S. Position.

Konoe emphasized that the axis is prepared to recognize the leading position of the United States in the Americas, provided the United States showed the same consideration to it with reference to Europe and the far east.

Japan will continue her efforts to reach an understanding with Russia, Konoe asserted.

Women May Leave China.

SHANGHAI, China, Oct. 4 (AP).—A general withdrawal of American women and children from the far east, especially China, appeared probable today as the feeling grew among Americans that conflicting Japanese and United States policies in the Pacific are heading toward a collision.

It was reported reliably that the Texas Oil company had suggested its employés send their families home.

France Accuses Thailand.

VICHY, France, Oct. 4 (AP).—The Petain government today charged today that Thailand [Siam] is backing up territorial demands on French Indo-China with "systematic" violations of that colony's frontier by groups of 20 to 40 planes. The government also said Thailand border guards have been substantially increased in an effort to bolster agitation for frontier revision, demands for which Vichy has refused twice.

Duchess Reaches U.S.

Grand Duchess Charlotte, refugee ruler of Luxemburg, arriving in New York aboard Clipper plane yesterday.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 4.—A pretty and socially prominent horsewoman and her secret lover died together today in a murder-suicide pact. With their bodies, clad in riding clothes, police found a blood-stained note, which read:

"Please place our bodies as close together as possible. We have nothing to say. We love each other.—Gwen and Jerry."

The victims were Mrs. Gwendolyn Pelton, 34 years old, wife of an oil executive, and Gerald Earl Freeze, 41. Their bodies were found in Mrs. Pelton's coupé, parked beside a country road. In Freeze's hand was a pistol.

Herbert F. Pelton, the husband, wept when informed of the tragedy.

Royalty Swarms Airport to Hail Charlotte.

New York, Oct. 4 [Special].—New York airport's seaplane base was cluttered up with royalty today and there was more curtseying, heel clicking, and hand kissing than you could shake a lady-in-waiting at.

The Grand Duchess Charlotte, hereditary ruler of Luxemburg, arrived on the Yankee Clipper, to be swarmed over by princes, princesses, grand dukes, and even a jobless emperor.

It was 10 to 1 that if you stuck your hand out somebody would kiss it. Court etiquette ran rampant. For instance, the husband and five children of the grand duchess curtseyed, bowed, and kissed the regal hand before receiving any return salute. Then the duchess granted each a chaste kiss on the cheek.

Baroness Hardly Noticed.

The Luxemburg ruler, deposed by the Nazis, came here to join her family, who arrived by boat last July 25. She has six children, but one, Princess Marie Gabrielle, was ill and could not be present. The rest were on deck, including Prince Felix, the royal consort; the hereditary Grand Duke Jean, Prince Charles and Princess Marie Adelaide, Elizabeth and Alix.

So many titles were pushing around that the Baroness Rothschild, the former Kitty Wolff of Philadelphia, hardly received more than a bow when she landed.

There were reliable reports she was carrying more than $100,000 in jewels with her but even this failed to get much attention. The baroness, who caught the Clipper in Lisbon, was met by her husband, Baron Eugene Rothschild.

Archduke Otto There.

The grand duchess, who is 44 years old and has ruled her 999 square mile country for 21 years—was accompanied by her 79 year old mother, Grand Duchess Marie Ann, and 25 pieces of luggage.

When the Clipper landed up in the forefront of welcomers of Grand Duchess Charlotte was her nephew, Archduke Otto of Hapsburg, pretender to the throne of Austria, who has been around these parts for some time.

Bouquets were heaped upon Charlotte as soon as she put foot on American soil. Included was a heap of orchids from Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Belgium, with whom Prince Felix and the royal children have been living at Greenville, N. Y. The grand duchess and her mother will go there, too.

BRITISH WORKERS THANKED FOR HELP IN SAVING NATION

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP).—Britain's new minister of home security, Herbert Morrison, said in a broadcast today that British factory workers had "turned the cry of our enemies—that democracy is effete and decadent—into a historic joke."

Morrison said that "no man can promise you safety," but he said he was determined to do everything possible "to ward off danger, to lessen hardship, and to organize some measure of rest and decent living for those of you who suffer directly."

"We are all of us leading dangerous lives and we must keep our chins up and take our risks," he said. Factory management and workers, he said, had "helped to save our country."

FRANCE TO EXILE EX-CABINET MAN AS A DESERTER

Zay Will Be Degraded Before His Troops.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Oct. 4.—Jean Zay, former minister of education, today received a sentence of military degradation and five years' deportation from France to an unspecified place after a trial before a military tribunal sitting at Clermont-Ferrand.

Jean Zay.

Zay, formerly a second lieutenant attached to the general staff of the transportation section of the 4th French army, was charged with deserting the army in face of the enemy.

The former cabinet minister, who is 34 years old, was arrested along with other high personalities who are accused of backing the movement to leave France and continuing the battle against the Germans from North Africa.

Goes to Bordeaux Instead.

The court found Zay guilty after it was brought out that on the night of June 18 his outfit, which was in effect the headquarters of the 4th army and then stationed near Riom and Chatelguyon, got orders to evacuate to St. Flour and that a retreat was set for 5 a. m.

Zay, it was said, drove to Bordeaux without orders, stopping en route in Dordogne to pick up his wife and daughter. At Bordeaux he boarded the steamer Massilia and left for North Africa. He stayed in Morocco until Aug. 16, when he was arrested and turned over the military justice.

Had Order of Mission.

Zay, it seems, did not desert, but had an order of mission signed by former Minister of the Interior Charles Pomaret, who was arrested a few day ago. Pomaret faces trial on possible charges that he signed exit permits for politicians who left on the Massilia, even tho at the time he was minister of the interior in the government of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, which decided to remain in France.

Zay's sentence involves the ceremony of military degradation, which means his buttons will be torn off his uniform and his sword broken before his troops.

U. S. AND CANADA MAP SECRET PLANS FOR DEFENSE OF COAST

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, Oct. 4 (AP).—The Canadian-United States joint defense board drafted secret recommendations today for the two governments for coördination of defense measures in event of an attack on Canada's northeastern seaboard.

The recommendations, to be forwarded immediately, cover not only measures to be taken in case of actual attack but also steps that should be taken at once and before any threat can be made.

"I think we have accomplished something for the first time in the history of our countries—a definite defense plan for our nations and the western hemisphere," said Mayor La Guardia of New York, chairman of the United States section of the board.

BE STRONG! HALT DRIFT TO WAR, WILLKIE PLEADS

New Deal Incompetent to Arm Nation, He Says.

not orders—can defend us from aggressors.

Fifteen Hundred "Ghosts."

"Last May the third term candidate told us over the radio that we had 1,700 modern tanks and armored cars 'on hand and on order.' It so happens that at that time we had on hand 142 tanks and armored cars. All the others—more than 1,500—were ghost tanks and ghost cars.

"But I happen to know of a large manufacturing company in Michigan. It has orders for many hundreds of tanks. Those were included, I assume, among the ghost tanks 'on order' that the third term candidate spoke about. But this particular manufacturer has not yet built the building in which those ghost tanks are to be manufactured.

"I happen, also, to know of an aircraft company which has several million dollars' worth of 'orders.' Presumably these airplanes are among the ghost airplanes on order, to which the third term candidate referred. But that company is still working on the architectural and engineering designs—not the actual walls, but the design—of the building in which the aircraft are to be manufactured.

"Factories on Order."

"So what we are really talking about is not tanks on order or airplanes on order — but factories on order.

"For seven years we have also had prosperity on order.

"The purpose of the Republican party in this crusade is to have prosperity on hand.

"Now it is easy for us, sitting here tonight, to laugh at this ridiculous phrase 'on hand and on order.' It is easy for us to make fun of this blundering attempt to cover up the deficiencies in our national defense in a critical election year.

"But I pray God, my fellow Americans, that our laughter does not die in our throats. I pray God that our descendants, turning the pages of their history books, may at least be able to smile at this attempted hoax.

Expects Little Laughter.

"Yet as I survey the perils with which we are even now confronted, I confess that I do not anticipate much laughter. I do not think that our sons, or our grandsons, will find much cause for humor in the record of the past five years.

"Certainly, the next time any official figures are announced concerning the progress of the defense program, we shall be in a wary mood. We shall be looking for the catch.

"For I see ahead of us a grim task: The task of arming our democracy so fully and so rapidly that the aggressors will not dare to strike.

"For every moment we have lost in the past, and for every moment we are losing now, I see for our children and our grandchildren a harder task, a more dangerous world.

"This is the challenge to our generation. For our own sake, but still more for theirs, we must arm America now.

The Time Element.

"In Cleveland last Wednesday I listed a number of things we still need to equip a modest army of 750,000 men. It will take at least 13 months to get some of these things. It will take two years or more to get all of them.

"For instance, we need 1,400 37-millimeter antiaircraft guns. To get them will take 13 months.

"On Aug. 1 we had on hand no 8 inch howitzers whatever. We need 48, and it will take months to get them.

"We need many 16 inch coast defense guns. It will take at least two and a half years to get them.

"It takes a year to build a pursuit plane, and a year to train its pilot. It takes two or three years to build a long range bomber, and about two years to train its crew. The pilot of a four engined bomber must be trained for four years.

"Not Arguments—Facts."

"These are not political arguments.

"These are facts—hard facts. We must face these facts before we can defend democracy in a dangerous world.

"But now we must meet this further question. What chance is there of obtaining these vital necessities under the New Deal? What chance is there of obtaining them before it is too late? That is the question I want to lay before you tonight.

"There is, I think, a false notion that our defense problem is a recent problem; that it came upon us suddenly.

"The fact is that the New Deal has known for many years that we were faced with this problem. The third term candidate told congress in January, 1936, that America must save itself from foreign quarrels and foreign attack thru adequate defense.

And—Five Years Later.

"Today is Oct. 4, 1940—nearly five years later. All the democracies on the continent of Europe have collapsed. Britain fights with her back to the wall. Three ruthless aggressors have banded together in a pact aimed at the United States. Attack is closer than ever. America is still unsafe.

"Our defense is still inadequate. Compared with the rest of the world, it is far less adequate than it was in 1936.

"For nearly five years the New Deal has been aware of the growing need for defense. It has expressed that need on many occasions.

"For example, in his message to congress in January, 1938, the third term candidate said, 'As commander in chief of the army and navy . . . it is my constitutional duty to report to the congress that our national defense is, in the light of the increasing armaments of other nations, inadequate for purposes of national security and requires increase for that reason.'

Still Years to Go.

"Yet here we are in 1940, and we find that it will take one, two, and even three years to build a modest defense system.

"What is the reason for this?

"The New Deal has not lacked information. Thru the state department and the army and navy, its total knowledge regarding foreign powers and military developments has been as good as any in the world.

"The New Deal has not lacked money. In those five years it has spent a total of forty-three billion dollars.

"What then has it lacked? It has lacked the ability to get things done.

"It has lacked a fundamental understanding of the forces of production.

"It has lacked a fundamental regard for the forces that make democracy strong.

"Heart of the Issue."

"Think about this. Turn it over in your minds. It is the very heart of the issue of this campaign.

"Without increased production we cannot defend ourselves.

"I want to place before you the example of France.

"France was defeated in 34 days. But the battle of France had been lost before it began. It had been lost in the wasted years when France was floundering under the Blum government—her own New Deal.

"For instance, French production of steel, which had slowly increased from 1932 to 1937, declined again in 1938, just when France should have been producing more steel than ever before in her life.

"At the close of the world war in 1918, France was producing about 1,000 airplanes a month. In 1936 she was producing 150 a month. At that point the Blum government decided to nationalize the aircraft factories. They were almost all taken over by the government — and production dropped to 50 a month.

War Time Production.

"At the time of the battle of France, the best that the French aircraft industry could produce was 300 airplanes a month.

"We, too, in America increased our general production level from 1932 to 1937—tho our rate of increase was slower than that of most other countries. But we, too, turned downward in 1938.

"We turned downward two years after the present third term candidate had observed the necessity for an 'adequate defense.' We turned downward because the New Deal was absorbed in its own political objectives: The attack against business and the attack against the Supreme court.

"While total industrial production was declining in these critical years, our airplane industry made some progress. But it was not enough for adequate defense.

"At the close of the world war the United States, like France, was producing about 1,000 airplanes a month. In 1937, one year after the administraion had recognized the need for an 'adequate defense,' we produced less than 1,000 military planes during the entire year.

Record of 1939.

"Even in 1939, three years after the New Deal announced the need for a defense program, we produced only 3,000 military planes.

"And this year, with all the desperate need of Britain and ourselves, we shall be lucky to produce 7,000 military planes—little more than half the rate of 20 years ago.

"Think what a difference it would have made to the democracies of the world if the American aircraft production of 1940 had been attained in 1939. Seven thousand airplanes from America in 1939 would have given the democracies another lease on life. Seven thousand airplanes in 1938 would have meant 10 or 15 thousand today. It would have changed the course of history.

"The reason for our failure was that the New Deal theorists and the New Deal politicians blocked the creative forces of our people.

"They could have provided new jobs for thousands of young men, by building American aircraft production up to defense requirements. Instead, they kept those thousands idle on the relief rolls. Relief was politically more attractive than defense.

Freedom vs. Slavery.

"You know and I know that the system of free enterprise can outstrip any dictator on earth. The slave labor of modern Europe cannot compete with free men, well fed, well housed, and working reasonable hours.

"I have earned my bread both as a worker and as a manager. I know what free men can do. Given a chance to go to work, American labor and American industry can outstrip the world.

"Don't be fooled by all the money that the New Deal now is talking about. Don't be fooled by all the power that it has been granted. Money and power have been the New Deal remedies from the beginning. And neither money nor power has ever solved any fundamental problem in American life.

"And politicians, however powerful, don't build factories.

"So long as money and political power remain its only remedies, this administration will be incompetent to achieve defense. Its record with the present national defense advisory council is an example. The able men on that council cannot get things done because the third term candidate has kept all the power in his own hands.

"Results of Incompetence."

"The results of incompetence are written large upon the history of the last few years. Incompetence invites bold action on the part of other powers. The longer the United States remains incompetent to defend itself, the closer are we drawn toward war.

"We must stop that drift toward war. We must stop that incompetence.

"Fellow Americans, I want to lead the fight for peace.

"I know how to lead that fight: I will lead this nation back to work.

"The first step toward peace is to put a job in every home.

"The second step toward peace is to mobilize American industry for the production of armaments. This would be the greatest industrial undertaking in the history of the world.

"I dare to imagine such an undertaking because I have faith in the American people.

"I also have faith in many able men, both in labor and industry, whom I know personally, and whom I would trust with temporary authority.

"Our entire experience in American industry demonstrates a project of that size cannot even be imagined if it has to pass over the desk of one man.

"And the New Deal has not imagined it. The New Deal is afraid of it. The spokesmen of the New Deal have even been afraid to give the public any idea of its total cost.

"Fellow Americans, so long as we are haunted by fear, we cannot hope to preserve our precious liberties.

"We must, rather, awake from the bitter dreams, from the discouragement and despair, the poverty, the unemployment, and the fear.

"We Must Awake!"

"We must awake. We must awake. It is not true that our days are finished or that our industries are dead. These are bad dreams that we have had. But now I am calling to you. I am telling you to awake. I am pleading with you to brush aside what was never true—to join me in building America, in rebuilding America, in building a new America, so strong, so full of hope, that we can keep the peace that we want, the democracy that we want, and the liberties that we want.

"That is my plan for America."

WILLKIE'S ROUTE RETURNS HIM TO ILLINOIS OCT. 17

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 4.—Wendell L. Willkie's campaign itinerary up until Oct. 17 was announced here today. It includes a brief foray into Illinois, where he is expected to return for a more thoro campaigning late in the month. His Chicago appearance may be around Oct. 23 or 25.

After campaigning in New England and western New York, Willkie will reach Ohio again on Oct. 16, swinging across the state from Mansfield to Cincinnati. On Oct. 17 he will cross into Illinois from Evansville, Ind., and stop at McLeansboro, Mount Vernon, Nashville, Belleville, and East St. Louis, Ill., speaking in St. Louis, Mo., that evening.

Willkie will spend the next four days around New York, and will go from there to Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts. He will spend the last two days of next week in the latter state and will remain at Albany, N. Y., over the week-end. The first part of next week he will spend in crossing New York to Buffalo.

GEORGIA PARTY OF DEMOCRATS BACKS WILLKIE

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 4 (AP).—A newly organized political party, Georgia Democrats for Willkie, today had indorsed the Republican Presidential ticket and the regular Democratic slate of state officials for the Nov. 5 general election.

The action came a few days after Alabama Republicans had chosen 11 Presidential electors, nine of whom were formerly identified with the Democratic party, and three Republican candidates for state offices had withdrawn from the November ticket in Florida in a move to aid anti-third term Democrats.

Georgia Republicans are expected to name the same Presidential electors chosen by the Willkie Democrats.

realistic. The czarist and communist régimes of Russia, the speaker said, were repugnant to the United States. Despite this, he said, the United States until 1917 remained true to the foreign policy of the country's founders—that of keeping aloof from the quarrels of Europe and Asia.

Doubts Britain Can Be Invaded.

"As for an invasion of England," Gen. Wood said, "at the great risk of being called a false prophet, I doubt whether any invasion ever will be made, and if it is attempted, it will be decisively repulsed.

"To land 250,000 Germans in England, with mechanized equipment, ammunition, and necessary supplies, would be a gigantic operation. Once landed, that force would have to face 1,500,000 Englishmen under arms, fighting on their own island, behind strong defenses. And to land these 250,000 Germans means practically complete mastery of the air, blocking off the English fleet, complete control of the channel—none of which objectives has yet been attained after more than a month of intensive effort.

"To sum up, I doubt whether the island can be conquered, and I am quite sure the British fleet cannot be put out of commission.

Hits U. S. Invasion Fears.

"Now we come to our own danger of invasion and the perfectly fantastic hysteria that pervaded this country after the battle of France. I think any competent military or naval expert—certainly the vast majority—will tell you that there is absolutely no danger of an invasion of the United States, even if Germany is completely victorious, and I doubt that she will be.

"The amount of shipping required for the transportation of even 250,000 men of a modern mechanized army with their ammunition and supplies over 3,000 miles of ocean is colossal, and it is to be presumed that our own navy and air force will not be idle."

If it is impracticable for an army to cross 25 miles of channel, Gen. Wood asked, what valid grounds are there to suppose the same army can cross 3,000 miles of ocean?

War Will Exhaust Germany.

He said that at the war's end Germany will be in an exhausted condition and that if the United States, with its 130,000,000 people and two ocean barriers, cannot defend itself, it does not deserve to survive.

As to the economic argument, Gen. Wood said that when two nations or two continents each have things the other needs, trade eventually results regardless of the feelings each may have for the other.

"It is in Argentina and Chile that our troubles come," the speaker said. "We cannot take the meat, cotton, and wool of the Argentines, because we produce those products ourselves. The same applies to the copper and nitrates of Chile. We cannot sell unless we buy, and that is a far greater obstacle than Nazidom."

Asia, Europe, and Japan, he said, will trade with the United States as long as the United States has products those countries can use.

Suggests Export Cartels.

"As for lack of organization, if needs be, we can meet fire with fire; we can set up export cartels and mass purchasing organizations, and we can do this without danger to our system."

Gen. Wood said that there are two points in the present situation that he resents: the attempt by interventionists to smear Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, an opponent of intervention, and the way the war issues are being presented to the American public.

He termed the attacks on Lindbergh the "summit of mud throwing" and said: "You have no right to denounce a courageous, patriotic American citizen as a traitor merely because he disagrees with your views."

Of the manner in which the issues are being presented, Gen. Wood said: "We are being edged into the war without the masses' knowledge." He asserted that if the United States went to war it would start with a debt of 50 billions, that the cost of the war would mean an ultimate debt of 100 to 150 billions, and that a war would end with great economic dislocations.

Asks All Cards on Table.

"I would unhesitatingly say to throw everything we have into a war to defend the United States or our own sphere of influence, which is the North American continent and part, if not all, of the South American continent. . . . It is up to the American people to decide whether they want to make these sacrifices to preserve not England but the British empire, and help regulate Europe and Asia. But they should make the decision with all the cards on the table, not misled by artifice and subterfuge."

If the decision is for war, Gen. Wood concluded, "I think you will find that Americans like myself, who sincerely believe such a course spells disaster to the nation, will be at their posts of duty in the service of this country. I am old-fashioned enough to believe in the toast offered by Stephen Decatur back in 1816: 'Our country: In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be right; but our country right or wrong.'"

Title Disputed

MISS JEAN ROTH.

Whether or not Miss Jean Roth, 18 years old, 7806 Euclid avenue, is freshman beauty queen at the University of Chicago was disputed yesterday. Her selection was announced by editors of Pulse, student monthly magazine. However, Miss Roth's title is disputed by the Daily Maroon, student newspaper which is conducting a contest of its own. The Daily Maroon said the official queen would be named next Friday. Miss Roth is one of the candidates in the Daily Maroon poll.

U. S. JURY IN QUIZ ON SLUSH FUNDS TO TAKE RECESS

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 4 (AP).—Assistant United States Attorney General O. John Rogge said today that a federal grand jury investigating alleged use of political slush funds by midwestern utility companies would recess for a few days next week.

Rogge said the grand jurors would take the recess next Wednesday or Thursday to enable them to obtain a rest from the month-long probe. The jury is to reconvene Monday, Oct. 14. The assistant attorney general said he would go to Detroit next week to join in an investigation of political figures there.

Rogge declined to comment on reports that the jury recess might be used to draft indictments for the jury's consideration. Discussion of the investigation was prohibited, he said, by Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle's order suppressing the names of all grand jury witnesses and enjoining government prosecutors from commenting on the case until the jury reports.

NORWEGIAN NAZI CHIEF PLANS NEW FLAG FOR NATION

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 4 (AP).—Maj. Vidkun Quisling, sole political leader of Norway, has decided to force a new flag on Norway.

Speaking last night at a large national union party meeting in Oslo, the Norwegian Nazi also announced that Norway would become a corporative state and that the name storting—which means "great parliament"—would be replaced by riksting—"state's parliament."

CHARGES WILLKIE FILM IS BANNED BY WHITE HOUSE

Pryor Asserts Freedom of Speech Involved.

New York, Oct. 4 [Special].—A charge that the Democratic national committee and the White House had "forbidden" release before the Presidential election of the second part of a movie short entitled "Information Please," in which Wendell L. Willkie is featured, was made today at Republican national campaign headquarters here.

Samuel F. Pryor Jr.

Samuel F. Pryor Jr., eastern campaign manager, and Clarence Budington Kelland, his assistant, asserted that the ban constitutes the most serious abridgment ever known of constitutional rights, of freedom of speech and of the press. They said an investigation of the affair by the senate would be demanded. The first part of the movie was shown soon after Mr. Willkie was nominated and he himself was among those who viewed it here.

Film Head's Explanation.

George J. Schaefer, president of R. K. O., denied that release of the movie short by his company had been held up as a result of Democratic pressure or for fear of reprisals. He said the company had "never contemplated releasing the picture until the latter part of November, or early in December." Kelland said release had been planned for this month.

Schaefer said the first short had been made and its showing scheduled before Mr. Willkie was nominated.

"We have no right, and we do not want to use the screens of America to show any picture at this time that would advocate or further the cause of either candidate, whether Willkie or Roosevelt," said Schaefer. He added the second short was "not even finished."

Points to Popularity.

Pryor said that the first "Information Please" movie short, showing Mr. Willkie as a guest on the regular radio program quiz, was the most popular short ever produced with the exception of Walt Disney's "Three Little Pigs," and that the advance bookings for the second broke all records for years.

Pryor also said that the latest figures in a nationwide poll to be published Sunday would show that Mr. Willkie's election "is definitely assured by the trend that has set in as a result of his western trip." A similar rise will follow Mr. Willkie's present eastern trip, Pryor predicted.

ELLIOTT'S DONE IT—COLORADO WANTS WILLKIE!

Young Roosevelt's Draft Dodging Stirs State.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Denver, Colo., Oct. 4.—If Mr. Roosevelt is defeated for reelection numerous theories will be advanced to explain why.

Some will attribute it to the split in his party on the third term, some to the fear that he was getting the country into war. Others will ascribe it to the failure of the New Deal in seven years to put 10 million unemployed to work. Still others will contend that the straw that broke the camel's back was the spectacle of the commander in chief of the army keeping his son out of the draft.

At least, the last theory will be widely held in this region, if one may judge by the popular reaction to the escape of Elliott Roosevelt from conscription thru his father's influence, which got him a captain's commission in the noncombatant procurement division of the air corps reserve.

Parents Disillusioned.

No development of the campaign illuminating the character of the Presidential candidate is being more generally discussed hereabouts than the incident of Elliott Roosevelt dodging conscription by the invocation of Presidential power over army authorities. Parents whose sons will be drafted for fighting are disillusioned and resentful. Young men subject to conscription are indignant at the discrimination in favor of a son of the President and are making no secret of how they will vote on Nov. 5.

Since Elliott got his captain's commission in a soft and bombproof job numerous young men have applied at the army recruiting station here for commissions as a captain, even as a lieutenant. All have uniformly been turned down by the recruiting officer. One of the applicants, C. J. Shortess Jr., Denver, related his experience, saying:

"They wouldn't even take my application, and told me that they know of no way that a man in my position can get into the service with such a rating as Elliott Roosevelt received."

Visit Helped Willkie.

The indications are that Colorado was headed for inclusion in the Willkie column long before the showing up of the President by his son's draft dodging. There are many factors contributing to Republican success in this state.

Not the least of them is the popularity Mr. Willkie gained during his summer vacation in Colorado. During his stay in Colorado Springs and in his visits to Denver and a dozen other communities he acquired almost the status of an adopted son. His attractive personality won him thousands of friends, and the doctrine he preached gained countless more supporters.

Gov. Ralph Carr is one of the original Willkie men at Philadelphia and is a member of the Willkie advisory committee. Carr is exceedingly popular and has a large following, including many Democrats. He is a candidate for reelection and probably will win. He is exerting a potent influence for Willkie.

The third term is an important factor in the Willkie advantage, according to the Republicans. At the headquarters of the independent Willkie clubs it is stated that fully 50 per cent of those signing pledge cards and making contributions to the campaign are Democrats. A separate Democratic Willkie organization is headed by W. W. Grant III. Democratic leaders minimize the split, asserting that 99 per cent of the Democrats supporting Willkie now were against Roosevelt in 1936.

McNary in Chicago

Senator Charles McNary, Republican nominee for Vice President, said yesterday that the third term, reciprocal trade agreements and the farm problem are the issues in the present campaign. He paused in Chicago on his way to Ulen, Minn., where he will make a broadcast speech today.

"The Republican party is going to win," he declared, "Wendell L. Willkie is demonstrating every day to the American people that he has a great capacity for the job of President."

The foreign situation, he said, is not having a "particle of effect" on the campaign. He said the wickedness of reciprocal trade treaties is that foreign prices determine domestic prices.

"We are promising the farmers a home market," the Vice Presidential nominee said. "The Republican party will keep the home fires burning for agriculture."

LEHMAN MOVES TO FORM STATE SECRET SERVICE

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 4 [Special].—Gov. Herbert H. Lehman took the first step toward organization of a special state secret service today, issuing an order conferring on Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr. almost unlimited powers to investigate fifth columnists and subversive activities in this state. The governor's authority is a world war statute, which he invoked for this purpose.

A leading interventionist, the governor said it appears to him that public interest requires the attorney general to "inquire into all matters concerning the public peace, public safety, and public justice."

The law under which the governor acted was passed in 1917. It provides that the attorney general, when directed by the governor, can set up a state secret service, the names of the employés of which shall be unknown to any except the governor and himself.

Invests Her $23.98 AAA Check in Willkie Campaign

WILLKIE, TOURING KEYSTONE STATE, CALLS FOR UNITY

Demands Stop Be Put to Class Warfare.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 4.—Following his address to labor at Pittsburgh last night, Wendell L. Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee, continued his campaigning across Pennsylvania today, stopping first at Harrisburg. There a throng of 20,000 or more heard him from the capitol steps, where he was introduced by Gov. Arthur H. James. Gov. James recalled that 2½ years ago Pennsylvania entered the war against the New Deal.

"We won in 1938," he said, "and we have met today on the battlefield to marshal our forces for the supreme conflict."

Pleads for New Unity.

Willkie asked for unity, for the help of all groups in the rebuilding and protection of America. He spoke out again against class warfare in America, reminding his audience that Gov. James had once been a miner and that Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, who was on the platform, had once worked in the tinplate mills of Elwood, Ind., and had tried to organize the workers in a time when such efforts were dangerous.

"I join the prayer to end class distinctions, the division which is preached from high places," Willkie said.

"I have given one instruction to the local committees in the industrial towns where I have gone. I told them I wanted to go where men work, where class hatred is preached, so that I can talk to these people and revitalize their interest in America."

Upholds Simple Virtues.

At Lancaster, the center of a rich agricultural country where the Amish people have built their comfortable homes and remained serenely unconscious of the ways of the modern world, Willkie said:

"What we need in the solution of all our problems is the application of just the common sense learned in communities like these. I still believe in thrift and frugality, plus the spiritual values. The democratic way of life does not live in the fog of cynicism. The President, as the leader of the nation, should set the tone, practice these virtues. I would reanimate the spiritual values of this nation and call back the simple virtues of such a county as this."

In a speech at Coatesville, where the crowds reached for blocks around the station, Willkie talked again of the "cynics" in Washington. He said that if elected he would remove the "smart boys" from Washington by the trainload.

Another egg incident occurred at Coatesville, when one was tossed at the Willkie car from a group of boys, but it fell short of the train.

DEWEY TO SPEAK IN MICHIGAN AND 2 ILLINOIS CITIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 4.—District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey announced today he would make a series of speeches the middle of this month in Illinois and Michigan on behalf of Republican Presidential Nominee Wendell Willkie.

Addresses are scheduled for Peoria, Chicago, and Saginaw, Mich. The stumping tour will take place during the week starting Oct. 14. Dates of the New York rackets prosecutor's appearances have not been set definitely, because the schedule has yet to be ironed out so Dewey's talks will not conflict with any planned by Willkie or other G. O. P. stalwarts.

Originally the Peoria speech was slated for the night of Oct. 17, but Republican national committee leaders now expect Willkie will talk that evening. Dewey's speeches in Peoria and Saginaw will be over national radio hookups. The Chicago talk will be at a luncheon sponsored by the state and Cook county party organizations. Nominees on the state ticket will be present.

FEAR ROOSEVELT WILL STIR CRISIS ON ELECTION EVE

Congress Group Opposes Move to Adjourn.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—As administration leaders began a campaign for votes to get congress out of Washington at least until after the Presidential election on Nov. 5, Republicans and Democratic nonintervention-ists today expressed the fear that President Roosevelt will provoke some grave international crisis just before the election.

Representative Knutson.

Representative Harold Knutson [R., Minn.] charged on the floor of the house that Mr. Roosevelt is leading the country to war and might try to accomplish that end "before the election, if necessary, to assure success of the third term campaign."

"I am afraid we are going to get into war before the election," Knutson said. "I am satisfied we are going to get into it immediately after the election."

Majority Leader Hits Back.

Majority leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts denounced Knutson's charge, saying he resented "such reflections on any President, Democrat or Republican."

The fear expressed by Knutson is shared by many Republicans and Democratic nonintervention-ists. They expect a crisis with explosive possibilities in American relations with Japan immediately after Oct. 18, when Great Britain is expected to reopen the Burma road, only avenue of war supplies for China except from the soviet union.

Great Britain yielded to Japanese demands in July and closed the road until Oct. 18. Since then the Roosevelt administration has been putting pressure on the British to reopen the road. If it is reopened, as expected in Washington, Japan is expected to retaliate against British interests in the far east.

Fear Action Against Japan.

The fear of the noninterventionists is that Great Britain will hold the United States responsible for the consequences and that drastic action against Japan will be taken by the administration on the very eve of the Presidential election.

The administration leaders began their campaign to get congress out of Washington after a conference with Mr. Rosevelt at the White House this morning. Altho the President was told that sine die adjournment is out of the question, the leaders agreed to do everything possible for a continuous recess until after the election.

Notices were sent out to absent administration supporters in the house, urging them to be on hand next Tuesday to support a concurrent resolution to recess congress until Nov. 18. It was learned, however, that the leadership has little hope that such a resolution will prevail in the house, especially if the Republican membership is well represented. Most informed members agreed that congress is more likely to take a series of three day recesses, under a gentlemen's agreement to transact no business until after the election.

Deficiency Bill is Passed.

The senate today passed a $37,000,000 rivers and harbors authorization bill, while the house and the senate approved a conference agreement on a $238,390,014 deficiency appropriation bill, sending it to the White House. This measure makes supplemental appropriations for various government agencies, most of it in connection with the 17 billion dollar armament program.

The conferees today restored half of an $80,000,000 appropriation for airports to be constructed by the Civil Aeronautics administrator, which the house had approved and the senate had eliminated. The $40,000,000 will be used to start work on some 200 to 300 public airports to be located by a board to be appointed by the President.

GREEN DECLARES G. O. P. BATTLES TYRANNY TREND

Dwight H. Green, Republican nominee for governor, told an audience at Braidwood, Will county, yesterday that he was in the fight to restore representative government in Illinois.

"It has disappeared under the present administration," he said. "The Kelly-Nash machine with Nudelman and the statehouse gang has foisted a machine on the people of Illinois which has increased the cost of government and tremendously increased the burden of taxation."

He termed the present campaign an exalted crusade to retain the opportunity "we had as boys—freedom of speech, press, and assembly."

"There is only one agency which can do away with the New Deal centralization of authority which is leading to tyranny," Green asserted. "That is the Republican party under the leadership of Wendell L. Willkie."

Dig Cable Car Relic

J. Walter Grimm with cable car sheave dug up by subway workers.

Subway workmen digging beneath the intersection of State and Madison streets yesterday unearthed a relic of another transportation era in Chicago's history—the days of cable cars. They found a sheave, or grooved wheel, used to support the moving cables which supplied motive power to the trams of the 1890s. Sheaves were placed at intervals of 25 to 40 feet to catch the slack in the underground cables and to prevent wear on the cables. Chicago Surface lines records showed that the first cable car line in the city went into operation on State street in 1882, and was in use until 1906.

SEIZE 13 DRIVERS WHOSE MACHINES LACK MUFFLERS

Capt. David Flynn, head of the police traffic division, reported yesterday that 13 men had been arrested for driving automobiles, trucks, or motorcycles without mufflers. The 13, who were given summonses Thursday, are:

DR. MOOREHEAD STILL IN COMA, WIFE REPORTS

The condition of Dr. Frederick B. Moorehead, eminent Chicago physician and surgeon, who is in Presbyterian hospital suffering from a cerebral thrombosis, remained unchanged yesterday.

Dr. Moorehead had a stroke Aug. 13, and since then has been critically ill. His wife, the former Margery Maxwell, opera singer, said he has been in a state of coma for eight weeks and does not recognize her.

This, she said, made it necessary for her to petition the Probate court to adjudge him physically incompetent, which was done on Sept. 17.

"It was just a protection to him," she expained. "I had to get the order to take care of his affairs."

TORCHES OF OLD TO LIGHT TAFT SPEECH TONIGHT

An old time political atmosphere will be thrown around Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio when he speaks tonight at a Republican mass meeting in the athletic field of Morgan Park Military academy, Hoyne avenue and 111th street.

Approaches to the field will be indicated by flares and red and green torches will illuminate the platform on which the speakers will appear. Senator Taft, one of the leading pre-convention candidates for the G. O. P. nomination, will speak at 8 p. m. His speech will be broadcast.

HELD TO JURY IN DUAL SLAYING.

A coroner's jury yesterday ordered Virgil Rawlings, 31 years old, held to the grand jury on two charges of murder. On Sept. 27 he killed his wife, Myrtle, and a friend, Jesse Oates, with a hammer when he found them in his home at 612 North State street.

NEW ROOSEVELT 'NONPOLITICAL' TRIP UNDER WAY

Rep. Jenkins Charges Him with Hypocrisy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—As President Roosevelt sped northward tonight on another of his "nonpolitical campaign tours, his conduct in the third term attempt was criticized bitterly by Representative Thomas A. Jenkins [R., O.], who asked:

Rep. Jenkins.

"How long will the third term candidate believe he is fooling the public with his pretense of a 'nonpolitical' campaign?"

Mr. Roosevelt boarded his special train tonight for his mother's home at Hyde Park, N. Y. Tomorrow afternoon he will speak at the dedication of three WPA schools in his native village. The schools are the Franklin D. Roosevelt High school and two grade schools.

"Inspection" of Arsenal.

Over the week-end Mr. Roosevelt may also go into upper New York state, a Republican stronghold, to "inspect" the army's gun arsenal at Watervliet. He will return to Washington and then leave next Thursday for another "inspection" tour into western Pennsylvania and Ohio.

In commenting tonight on Mr. Roosevelt's contemplated tours, Representative Jenkins declared that the President is planning to follow the path taken by Wendell Willkie, the Republican Presidential nominee, altho insisting that he is not campaigning.

"The third term candidate, who since July 19 has been away from Washington 43 days, to 37 spent at his desk, has actually been conducting one of the most active political campaigns undertaken by any President in office, while hypocritically endeavoring to convince the public his only interest is that of national defense," Jenkins declared in a statement.

"The American Way."

"Why does not the third term candidate accept the challenge of Mr. Willkie to an open debate of the issues of the campaign in the American way?" Jenkins demanded.

"The third term candidate, frightened by Mr. Willkie's reception in pivotal states, now plans to follow on the Republican nominee's heels with invasion of these same states," he asserted.

"Thus, we are advised by the press, Mr. Roosevelt next week will make an appearance in Pittsburgh, Pa., where, on Thursday evening, Mr. Willkie was accorded a vociferous welcome. He also will invade Ohio, just toured by Mr. Willkie, and will dramatize an 'international fireside chat' on defense by speaking over the radio from his 'private car,' paid for at the taxpayers' expense, from Dayton, O., on Oct. 12.

Then New England.

"Next, we are advised, is a contemplated tour of New England, also following Mr. Willkie's itinerary.

"Of course, the purpose of all these trips, if the third term candidate is to be believed, is to 'inspect' the nation's defenses.

"But this is not all; there are always dedications that can be arranged to demand the chief executive's presence."

Mrs. Hull Christens New Steamer President Hayes

Newport News, Va., Oct. 4 (AP).—Mrs. Cordell Hull christened the steamship President Hayes at its launching by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company today. Navy restrictions barred the general public from the ceremony. The ship is the third of a series of seven being built here for the President Lines.

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS BLAMED IN SUICIDE OF WINNETKA BANKER

A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane over domestic affairs was returned yesterday at an inquest over James O. Brooks, assistant cashier of the Winnetka Trust and Savings bank. He was found Thursday on the lake front, shot to death, 48 hours after disappearing from the bank at noon Tuesday.

Police at first were mystified by the suicide of Brooks, who at 40 was a model family man, had a comfortable bank balance, and excellent prospects. The verdict was based upon a statement at the inquest by a brother, Charles I. Brooks, 813 Glencoe avenue, Highland Park, a civil engineer.

The brother said he had learned both from the victim and his wife, Elizabeth, that he had felt his sons, James Jr., 10 years old, and David, 8, were not being reared as they should be. These fears seemed to concern religious beliefs, according to Charles Brooks. The widow did not appear at the inquest.

FIRE IN GARAGE BRINGS SEIZURE OF LIQUOR STILL

After firemen put out a small rubbish fire in the garage of John Burns at 3640 Harper avenue yesterday, Policemen William Curran and Fred Smith became suspicious of a locked door to a room in the rear of the garage. They asked Burns about it. Burns said he didn't have a key and wasn't very helpful about finding one. So the policemen borrowed an ax from the firemen and chopped down the door. Inside they found an alcohol distilling plant, including two large vats and a cooker. Police said the equipment never had been used. Burns was held for investigation by agents of the federal alcohol tax unit.

3,000 CATHOLIC YOUTHS TOLD OF U. S. PROBLEMS

Will Debate Issues at Sessions Today.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Various problems of democracy were presented to more than 3,000 Catholic youths last night during a general session of the city's first Catholic Youth congress in the Auditorium theater. Sessions continue thru today at the Stevens hotel, when the youths will debate the subjects outlined last night.

Joseph L. Block, executive vice president of the Inland Steel company, contrasted effects of totalitarianism and its regimentation of business with traditional American free enterprise. Citing not only the effects of Fascist guilds of Italy and Nazi controlled business in Germany but also the disastrous results of this country's National Recovery administration, he related what new steel production methods which were adopted by the steel industry during 1931 depression months had done toward improvement of wage scales and increased number of jobs for Americans. This advance, he said, would not have been permitted either in Germany or Italy.

Other speakers on the symposium included Bishop Robert E. Lucey of Amarillo, Tex., and Henry Johnson, assistant national director of Packinghouse Workers' Organizing committee. The congress will attend solemn pontifical mass tomorrow at St. Mary's church, 9th street and Wabash avenue, when Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, director of the Catholic Youth organization, will be celebrant.

BROOKS ASSAILS THREAT TO THIRD TERM SAFEGUARD

Says We Must Have Free Choice of Leaders.

In a radio speech addressed to independent voters, Wayland Brooks last night stated his position on the third term issue.

The Republican nominee for United States senator, however, listed the Roosevelt attack as only one phase of the menace from within that threatens the American form of government.

This menace he described after touching upon the devastating machines of military power which he said now threaten the future freedom of men thruout the world.

Ability to Change Leadership.

"Our liberty, our standard of living, our progress, and our future," he said, "depend upon the ability to change our leadership at regular intervals thru the free choice of independent citizens.

"For more than a century and a half we have guaranteed our safety and progress by changing our leadership at least once every eight years, and that safeguard and tradition must not be violated or broken now.

"The present administration is using every power and force of our government to break down the clear thinking of the independent voter. The most gigantic propaganda machine has been set in motion to confuse the American people.

"This administration in its mad march for power has asked us to cast aside our faith in our Supreme court, so that they might change and pack it at will.

Effort to Control Congress.

"They have tried to coerce and control our congress. They have criticized and sought to reorganize our government. They have attacked our industrial system and weakened our financial structure. And finally they have attempted to destroy and abolish all hope of independent voting by a designed destruction of the two-party system of control.

"First they took control of the Democratic party, immediately pulled down the Democratic flag and hoisted in its stead the banner of the New Deal. Then they cast aside and disregarded all those who held to the Democratic constitutional principles of government, and promoted only those who pledged allegiance to the New Deal plan of change and destruction.

"Then they sought to destroy all party opposition by systematically taking from the Republican party so-called leaders to serve under the banner of the New Deal.

Attack Led by Machines.

"When they thought they had the people sufficiently confused, they formed a flying wedge of the corrupt political machines to batter down and barge thru the historic American third term tradition. That attack is being led by Tammany of New York, Hague of New Jersey, Kelly-Nash of Illinois, and Pendergast of Missouri.

"Just as the tanks and planes of the dictators in Europe are wiping out all independence of individuals across the sea, these powerful political machines, made strong by the New Deal, are massed and riding hard to batter down the last bulwark of protection of the independent voter of America."

Suspect Incendiary Origin in Blaze at Canton Church

Canton, Ill., Oct. 4 (AP).—Fire Chief Robert Essex said he believed a fire which damaged the Congregational church here today was of incendiary origin and asked the state fire marshal to investigate. The building, not completed, was being erected to replace the building destroyed by fire Oct. 13, 1939. Essex estimated today's damage at more than $10,000.

SEEK $78,819 WPA PROJECT FOR CITY HALL REVAMPING

An application for a $78,819 project to remodel the city hall, so that five branches of the city government may be moved back to the hall, has been made to the Work Projects administration, Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, disclosed yesterday.

The result of the remodeling would be a saving of $12,675 a year in rentals now paid for space outside the hall, Hewitt estimated. The city's share of the project cost would be $20,745.

The remodeling would include reopening the seventh floor offices vacated by the health department several years ago. Most of this space would be used by the bureau of streets and electricity, now on the sixth floor. Branches that would be returned to the city hall and the outside rentals now paid for them are: Board of local improvements law department, $6,600; railway terminals committee, $2,175; recreation commission, $2,400; license appeal commission, $900, and committee on consolidation, $600.

DEBATE PETITION ASKS ROOSEVELT TO MEET WILLKIE

Petitions asking two public debates between President Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie, Republican Presidential nominee, reached Chicago yesterday after sweeping thru eastern states, according to Robert K. Smith, general agent of the Federal Life Insurance company, 111 West Washington street, who received the blanks.

Each has room for 25 signatures and suggests that the debate subjects be "Defense and the Foreign Policy" and "Social Reform, National Economics, and Recovery."

Smith has been appointed associate chairman of the Citizens' Committee for Democracy, Stamford, Conn., which originated the petitions.

GREEN CAMPAIGN SIGN REPAIRED; 2 GUARDS HIRED

A 6 foot high neon sign advertising the candidacy for governor of Dwight H. Green was turned on last night after being out of commission since last Sunday. The sign, just below the roof of a 3 story building at 1110 South Oakley boulevard, was smashed by vandals.

William Parrillo, Republican committeeman of the 25th ward, said that the sign cost $1,000 to erect and would henceforth be guarded by two armed watchmen. Parrillo earlier had said that an attorney of his acquaintance had been told by a Democratic court clerk:

"We won't stand for that sign and are going to smash it."

BY EDWARD WILSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Geneseo, Ill., Oct. 4.—An attentive crowd of farmers and residents of this small, prosperous town stood at the main intersection thru a light rain today and heard Hugh W. Cross, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, and Justus L. Johnson, candidate for secretary of state, hammer at the New Deal and the Kelly-Nash machine.

For the first time in a week of street corner talking in small towns the speakers had a heckler. Cross was attacking the New Deal candidates on their records in the last war and asserting he was proud of the war records of every Republican candidate.

"Who is more likely," Cross asked, "to keep up out of another war—the man, Willkie, who volunteered in the world war as a private and went to the trenches and saw the bloody hell of war, or the New Deal candidates, Roosevelt and Wallace?

Points to Records.

"Wallace was out in Iowa during the world war. He didn't volunteer. Roosevelt had a soft spot as assistant secretary of navy. He didn't suffer with the men."

At this point a tall, white haired, elderly man, Al Delander, rushed out from the crowd toward Cross and shouted: "Would you want the assistant secretary of navy to carry a gun?" Cross, undisturbed, spoke in his usual low voice to his heckler and said: "Here is our microphone for the sound truck. You are welcome to make your own speech if you wish."

"I don't want to," shouted Delander, "but"—and he held up a shining half dollar—"I'll bet you this that Roosevelt will be elected—if there is an election."

He turned and ran thru the crowd before Cross could ask him how an election could be prevented or could take his bet.

Raps Roosevelt Policy.

Johnson, in his homely, philosophical manner, told the crowd that the Republicans will tell Europe: "You keep your nose out of our affairs and we'll keep our nose out of Europe."

"Why," said Johnson, "all Roosevelt has done is to first lead the countries on to think that we would help them—and then let them down. He just used snowballs and creampuffs.

"And what is more, in 1936 one-third of the 30,000 voters in Henry county here didn't vote. Now I want all you folks on this corner to see four or five friends and be sure they vote. You know if you do that we can lick the tar out of those fellows."

Johnson attacked the incumbent secretary of state by charging that it will be impossible to wrest control of the state from the Kelly-Nash machine unless "the king-pin of that machine, the Democratic secretary of state, is dethroned."

Sound Truck Operator Helps.

Even the operator of the sound truck of this Republican caravan did his share of electioneering today. Before the caravan pulled into Geneseo, Milford Pittman of Duquoin, the sound truck operator, was there blasting out music to gather the crowd. One bystander muttered: "Im sick of that music. If you don't stop it I'll vote for Roosevelt."

"Mister," said Pittman as he put on another Sousa march record, "if you don't like this march music I'm telling you now you'd better not vote for Roosevelt. That fellow will have you marching to it every day and carrying a gun as sure as I'm working this machine."

Geneseo is a town of 3,800 population, primarily a farming community, altho there is considerable strip coal mining nearby. The town has three banks which remained open thruout the depression, closing only during the bank moratorium.

At noon the candidates addressed a large crowd in the industrial city of Kewanee. Tonight they spoke at Havana, home town of Senator Scott W. Lucas [D., Ill.], where Cross reminded the citizens that Lucas had indicted the Democratic national convention in Chicago for not being "free and open."

BOB TAVERN AND CUSTOMERS.

Three robbers, believed to be the same gang which has held up more than 25 taverns in the last six weeks, early today took $35 from a tavern at 4663 North Rockwell street. Twelve customers also were robbed.

WOMAN LEADER RAPS NEW DEAL FOR DEBT LOAD

Sheboygan, Wis., Oct. 4 [Special].—"Instead of the more abundant life, promised by the New Dealers, the country is burdened with more debts and more foreclosures," Mrs. G. G. Towne of Waukesha, president of the Wisconsin Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, told the meeting for women sponsored by the Sheboygan Republican Women's club here this afternoon. There have been 104 HOLC foreclosures in Waukesha in the last four years, she said.

Mrs. Fred H. Clausen, wife of the Republican candidate for the United States senate, urged the women present to help get out the vote in November. She said Willkie will need the help of a sympathetic congress to carry out his recovery program. Mrs. Harvey Vetten sang a solo, "Touchdown with Willkie."

Quiz Bares Treatment of Non-Members.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Hospital bills for four women were charged to local 278 of the Bartenders and Beverage Dispensers' union, which has no women members, according to a report yesterday to State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney.

Murray Humphreys [top] and Louis Romano.

There also were 55 other persons on a list of nonunionists whose hospital bills the union paid or was asked to pay.

William Crawford, assistant state's attorney, who has been presenting evidence to the September grand jury concerning the bartenders', the elevator operators', and the building service employes' unions, expects to have the October grand jury investigate this apparent misuse of union funds.

Bills Under Investigation.

The bills as presented by the American hospital, 850 Irving Park road, to the bartenders' union have been under investigation by Roy D. Keehn and his aid, James U. Sammis. Judge Robert J. Dunne put these men in charge after George B. McLane, business agent, several months ago appealed to the court to save the union from the Nitti gang."

McLane told the court he had been supplanted in authority by Louis Romano, union president and "a Nitti stooge," and that he, McLane, had been ousted from the union last spring for "exposing" the hospital deal. The indictment last Wednesday of seven men, including Frank [the Enforcer] Nitti, Murray Humphreys, and Romano, was based on McLane's testimony. Nitti is a fugitive.

McLane charged that last March the 4,200 members of the union were notified by Romano that they had unanimously voted in favor of a hospitalization plan arrangement with the American hospital. The members were to pay $10 a year, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1940. Whenever they needed hospitalization they were to get it free at the American hospital.

$3,000 Payment Stopped.

Keehn already has stopped payment on checks for $3,000 drawn on the union's treasury in favor of the hospital. He has found that the union had paid the hospital $4,150 this year.

"Maj. Sammis checked the names on the bills with the union's membership," Prosecutor Crawford said. "He announced that 25 per cent of the names appeared to be strangers to the union. Thereupon President Romano and Secretary-Treasurer James Crowley hastened to the hospital.

"Subsequently some of the bills were revised. Still, I am informed, there are at least 74 items on the bills that will require an explanation."

The names given by Keehn and Sammis to the prosecutor, on order of Judge Dunne, show the following to be non-members of the union, on the hospital's monthly bills, with the amounts charged in their names:

Hospital spokesmen said they had received letters from the union saying each person admitted was entitled to treatment under the union plan.

Three Freed on Bond.

It was Bartenders' union day yesterday at the criminal court and the union's president, Romano, along with his chief aid, Tom Panton, and Murray Humphreys, the so-called No. 2 gangster of the middle west, were present giving bail on the indictment charging them with conspiracy to seize control of the union and its $135,000 treasury.

Nitti, Louis [Little New York] Campagna, Fred Evans, and Paul Ricca are the others named in the indictment.

The indictment against George Scalise, ex-convict pander recently convicted in New York of stealing from the Building Service Employes' International union while he was its president, was returned before Chief Justice James Fardy in the criminal court yesterday. It had been voted Wednesday and it accused Scalise of thefts in Chicago from the union treasury. Scalise is described as a former labor ally of Nitti.

Tells of Nazi Bund

DIES GROUP TOLD BUND DRILLED TO JOIN NAZI REVOLT

Ex-Member Tells of 'The Day' for U. S.

Washington, Oct. 4. (AP).—A former German-American bund member told the Dies committee today that the bund in New York City had been trained for "the day" when a government similar to that of Germany would take over the United States.

Richard Werner, 36, New York chef, related in detail that he and other bund "Storm Troopers" were taught military tactics and the use of rifles.

"Why were you trained in these military maneuvers?" Representative Joe Starnes [D., Ala.] asked.

"Our leaders told us many, many times how we must be prepared—must be fit for a certain day—that that day was coming," Werner replied.

Meant Overthrow of U. S.

"What did you understand 'that day' to mean?"

"The overthrow of this government and establishment of a government like they have in Nazi Germany," Werner replied.

Under questioning, he testified that Storm Troopers in New York were told by their leaders to prepare for "the time blood will flow in the streets of the United States." The troopers planned, he said, to march to Wall street and "get some big workers"—among them "Morgan" and "Kuhn and Loeb."

"We were going to hang them up to the nearest post or tree," Werner declared, adding that the time of the Wall street march would be set by "the highest leaders."

He said this could mean that Adolf Hitler, himself, might set the date. Werner said he resigned from the bund last February.

Large Number Not Citizens.

Werner testified that at least 25 per cent of the members both of the bund and Storm Troopers were not citizens.

He said that he was born in Germany, first came to this country in 1926, returned to Germany as a bund leader one time and returned. He said he was an alien, and had become a bund member in June, 1938, he asserted.

Under questioning by J. B. Matthews, committee investigator, Werner said that he was continuously employed from the time he came to the United States and, as an employé of the North German Lloyd company, knew of an instance in 1938, when 48 of the crew of 52 on the Minden jumped ship at Houston, Tex., because they saw a greater opportunity here than in Germany.

Werner identified for the committee the arm insignia, shirt, tie, trousers, and cap he wore as a Storm Trooper.

The troopers received rifle training in the summer at a New Jersey bund camp and other training for fighting which the witness said was almost compulsory.

GAMBLER TELLS JOHNSON'S TAKE FROM DOG TRACK

Reputed Boss Got $6,000 Weekly, Says Wait.

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.

William R. Johnson, reputed gambling boss, accepted a split of $6,000 a week from the Hawthorne dog race track for several months in 1928, according to testimony introduced yesterday at Johnson's trial on income tax charges.

Johnson and eight co-defendants are on trial before a jury in the federal District court of Judge John P. Barnes. They are accused of conspiracy to defraud the government of $1,887,864 in income taxes.

Yesterday's testimony was given by Ed Wait, a gambler and a co-defendant of Johnson. He said he also received $3,000 a week from the dog track.

$150,000 Put Up for Track.

Wait testified he and Johnson entered into a partnership in 1926 to open a dog racing track. He said Johnson put up $100,000 and he put up $50,000. He said they ran the place—the Lawndale Kennel club, a greyhound track—during 1927 but did not get their investment back until later.

"What do you mean by 'later'?" asked Paul M. Plunkett, an assistant United States attorney, who cross-examined Wait.

"In the following year [1928] we had an interest in the Hawthorne dog track," explained Wait. "We got our investment back at Hawthorne. There wasn't enough business for two dog tracks."

"Do you mean you were paid not to open the Lawndale track?" asked Plunkett.

Question Draws Objection.

"I wouldn't say that," replied Wait.

"Who owned the Hawthorne track?" asked Plunkett.

An objection by Floyd E. Thompson, chief defense counsel, halted that line of questioning. It was believed the defense feared that mention of the name of Al Capone, reputed owner of Hawthorne, might have a prejudicial effect. Plunkett then asked Wait what he meant by saying he and Johnson had an interest in the Hawthorne track.

"We had an oral agreement that we'd get a percentage from the Hawthorne track," testified Wait. "We'd get so much per week."

"It was $9,000 a week," answered Wait. "I got $3,000 and Johnson got $6,000. This arrangement lasted four or five months during 1928."

TWO ATTACKERS OF DOCTOR GET 4 MONTH TERM

Judge Frank M. Padden yesterday sentenced two young men to four months in the Bridewell on charges of malicious mischief growing out of their assault on an elderly physician. In sentencing the youths, Earl Davenport, 19 years old, 920 West 19th street, and Emil Ochodnicky, 18, of 1942 South Carpenter avenue, Judge Padden said he wished to correct an impression that he had advised them to join the army at an earlier hearing.

"I commented at that hearing that a lot of fine boys were joining the army while young loafers like they were breaking windows and assaulting citizens," Judge Padden said. "The army doesn't want young men who have been convicted of criminal offenses." Charges of assault to rob and of assault and battery were continued to Feb. 6 and Judge Padden said that disposition of those charges will depend on their behavior while in jail.

Davenport and Ochodnicky were arrested Sept. 5 for breaking windows in a home and later assaulting Dr. William F. Schaare, 957 West 18th street, when he said he would have to notify police after treating Ochodnicky for cuts on his hands.

TWO BANDITS ROB COUPLE.

Dr. Alfred Parano, 2200 Taylor street, and Miss Louise Volpi, of 4239 Maypole avenue, his fiancée, were robbed of $17, and jewelry and furs worth $625 early yesterday by two robbers who accosted the couple in front of Miss Volpi's home.

Start 110 Mile Ride

Sixteen women and 43 men set out yesterday on a 110 mile horse back journey over the trails of the Cook county forest preserve and Lake county. The ride is a test of horsemanship and horses.

Awards will be made for horses and riders that are the least fatigued at the end of each of the three days the trip will require, as a skilled rider should know how to cover the most ground with the least effort to him and his mount. Speed will be considered in the scoring, but the contest is not a race. Riders were forbidden to complete yesterday's ride in less than seven hours.

Each day's ride begins and ends at the Onwentsia club in Lake Forest. Horses and riders came thru in excellent condition yesterday, according to Wayne Dinsmore, one of the organizers of the trip.

TRUCK KILLS GIRL AS SHE PREPARES BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Rose Franks, 3047 Loomis street, baked a birthday cake yesterday for her daughter, Dolores, 9 years old, and told her to invite some friends for a party. Near 32d and Morgan streets, on the way to a friend's home, Dolores ran into the street and was struck and killed by a truck. The driver was James Burrell, 339 South Trumbull avenue.

Mrs. Ellen Garcia, 46, of 15806 Sawyer avenue, Markham, was killed last night when a car driven by her husband, Frank, collided head on with another in 159th street near California avenue. Garcia and the four occupants of the other car were taken to the Oak Forest infirmary with serious injuries. The others are L. W. Nelson, 18431 Klim avenue; George Hrncsjar, 1437 East Ridge road, and Walter Rehberg, 18347 Morris avenue, all of Homewood, and Robert Alamshak, 8229 Ingleside avenue.

Mrs. Eleanor Rampala, 52, of 3309 South Carpenter street, died yesterday in Mercy hospital of injuries incurred Oct. 1 at 35th and State streets when she was hit by a car driven by Herman Green, colored, of 3328 Michigan avenue.

Edwin Meyer, 30, of 1500 Walton street, a WPA worker, died in the county hospital of injuries incurred Sunday when the automobile in which he was riding struck a safety island at North avenue and Le Claire avenue. The driver, Benjamin Janusz, 1618 North Marshfield avenue, was charged with reckless driving.

Up to 4 p. m. 657 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 485 were killed in Chicago, where 17,751 were injured in the same period.

A BUFFALO BULL CRISIS DEMANDS A BUFFALO BILL

Indiana's Troopers Admit They're Buffaloed.

A posse of 12 weary farmers and 10 disgruntled state troopers, using squad cars, draft horses, a Montana broncho, and lassos, managed to trap a 500 pound buffalo cow calf. But the beast's playmate, a lusty 800 pound bull, still was at large, crashing thru farm fences and scattering herds of cattle.

The two buffaloes started their rampage Wednesday when a trailer in which a California rancher was taking them home from the South Bend zoo overturned in an automobile accident on Indiana route 43, south of Michigan City.

Crash Thru Fences.

The buffaloes broke thru a fence on the farm of Gustave Kane. At the approach of men they would speed off, breaking down other fences. No one could get near them. Yesterday Kane appealed to his neighbors for help. State troopers also joined in with a will.

Slow draft horses were no match for the speedy buffaloes, but every one thought the beasts would be an easy prey for Farmer Alex Kniola and his Montana broncho.

Kniola had his horse up to an estimated 30 miles an hour. But the buffaloes kept well ahead of him, charging thru fences, plowed ground, and two corn fields.

On a nearby farm the buffalo cow, traveling at full speed, charged head down into an oak tree. Two squirrels tumbled out of the branches and the buffalo, shaking its head dazedly, went on, but the end was near.

Lasso Winded Animal.

Finding the winded beast wallowing in a narrow creek, with high banks, Kniola and State Troopers Tony Perrotta and Charles Sutherlin, threw a rope around the cow and it collapsed. They tied up the animal, loaded it on a truck, and left it in a farmer's box stall for the California rancher, W. L. Williamson.

But what of the 800 pound bull calf, grazing unseen thru high weeds and timber? Today, in desperation, a local aviator will cruise the woodland in an effort to spot the beast.

Shades of Buffalo Bill!

200 WOMEN CAFE OWNERS TO DINE TUESDAY EVENING

Two hundred women members of the National Restaurant association, attending the 22d annual convention which opens Monday in the Furniture Mart, will be guests at an all-American dinner Tuesday evening in Tracy's On The Avenue restaurant, 540 North Michigan avenue.

Vincent Tracy, vice president of the Chicago Restaurant association, and host on the occasion, said yesterday that "hors d'oeuvres à la Russe and all the other aristocrats of foreign tidbits are going to give way to truly American palate pleasures." He said the menu will remain a secret until his guests sit down to dinner.

The dinner is the only event on the week's program exclusively for women. Miss Kathleen Vaughn will act as hostess.

THE CAMPAIGN
Both Sides of it

REPUBLICAN

Lehman Defines the Issue.

BY CARLISLE BARGERON.

(Assigned by Republican National Committee.)

At the outset of this campaign, Mr. Willkie hoped that the foreign situation would not be drawn in. The reason for this is very simple. The foreign situation is very delicate. It is something about which there should be very little talking on the part of politicians. Regardless of what he does, whether he is right or wrong, Mr. Roosevelt is our President until next January. He is responsible.

In order that there would be the appearance of unity behind the President, in order that his hands would be strengthened, Mr. Willkie, in effect, said to him:

"You seem to be reluctant to do anything about conscription because of its political effect. Let's take this subject out of the campaign. I join with you in this question. I join with you on the proposition of extending aid to Britain."

But in spite of what Mr. Willkie has done, in spite of his trying to keep the foreign situation out of the campaign, the New Dealers insist upon bringing it in. They insist that Mr. Willkie's election will "please" Hitler.

Fixed U.S. Policies.

Very well, Gov. Lehman, you have asked for it. You reiterate your charges that Mr. Willkie's victory will be a Hitler victory. You say that Mr. Willkie, himself, is O. K. on the foreign question, but that the Republican party as a whole is not.

Now, governor, you owe it to the people to tell them exactly what you mean. This is what you mean: Notwithstanding Mr. Willkie's support of conscription, the majority of the Republicans in congress were against it. Well, conscription has now been voted. It is the law of this land.

Furthermore, it is the established policy of this government, with the approval of Republicans, to extend aid SHORT OF WAR to Britain.

Republicans have unanimously voted for a 15 billion dollar defense program.

Governor, these being the facts, what do you foresee in a Republican victory? What is it that displeases you? What is it that the New Dealers will do if elected, but which the Republicans won't do?

You see "isolationist" Republicans holding Mr. Willkie back from war, even if he were minded that way.

You can't see them holding him back from "short of war aid to Britain." You can't see them holding him back from the national defense. These are DEFINITELY SETTLED policies of this government.

A Vote for War.

Your dread, governor, is that they will HOLD HIM BACK FROM WAR.

The record seems to be very clear that if Mr. Willkie should become war minded, which he won't, those "damned isolationist Republicans" will hold him back.

Governor, the cards are unmistakably stacked against the war mongers in the event of Mr. Willkie's winning. They are perfectly justified in turning heaven and earth to defeat him.

You seem to have well defined an issue, governor. You did it, not us. It is clear that a VOTE FOR ROOSEVELT IS A VOTE FOR WAR! Isn't that right, governor?

DEMOCRATIC

Lost!

The Republican nominee for President has now arrived at that stage of mental befuddlement which so often engulfs a candidate trying to face both ways at the same time. Something is needed to give his sagging campaign a little more drive and lift.

So he fixed on foreign policy as the lifting derrick. He wants to pin the label of "war party" on the Democrats in the hope of snaring the so-called isolationist vote. But he is deathly afraid of offending the huge mass of citizens who heartily approve Roosevelt's superb handling of international affairs.

Willkie in his Cleveland speech charged the Roosevelt administration with torpedoing the London economic conference [wrong], promoting the surrender of democracy at Munich [wrong], and failure to build up American defenses [wrong]. Then he polished off by approving the Roosevelt policy of extending aid to Britain as the surest means of staving off potential enemies from these shores.

A leading newspaper recently published an editorial asking "Is There a Willkie?" The writer was suffering from jangled wits and frayed nerves after attempting to unravel and disentangle the Willkie foreign policy. He reasoned that perhaps there were two Republican nominees for President instead of one.

A Dangerous Split.

Every one appreciates that during the next four years the United States will be compelled to thread its way thru a world dominated to a large extent by predatory powers seeking more gains. The foreign policy of America must be clear, positive, and vigorous.

Yet in the event of a Willkie victory, the key men in congress controling Republican policy will be diametrically opposed to the policy espoused by the man in the White House. Senator Hiram Johnson of California is the ranking minority member on the senate foreign relations committee. Johnson is a rabid isolationist and just behind him on the committee are Vandenberg of Michigan, and Shipstead of Minnesota, a former Farmer-Laborite now back in the G. O. P. fold. These men have a potent supply of stumbling blocks, graded and sized, for any President who dares to propose extending aid to Britain.

What Willkie Overlooks.

When Candidate Willkie attempts to write the charge of unpreparedness on the Democratic doormat, he shows a sublime ignorance of the record of his adopted party. He overlooks the votes cast by his running mate, Senator McNary, against increasing the air force and laying up vital stocks of tin and rubber. He overlooks the effort of Senator Taft, last spring, to cut down naval and military expenditures by 25 per cent.

And, of course, in calling for an army of 750,000, Willkie made no mention of the fact that the Republicans in congress, under the guidance of his own leader, Joe Martin, voted against conscription.

Foreign relations woul dbe hodge-podge with Willkie in the White House. The country can't afford to take the gamble.

NEW BIDS BRING LOWER BALLOT PRINTING OFFERS

Board Will Investigate All of Them.

The problem of awarding contracts for the printing of 3,163,520 ballots for the Presidential election was still something of a jigsaw puzzle to the board of election commissioners yesterday, following the opening of a new set of bids.

The first bids, submitted last week, were ordered rejected Thursday by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, after the low bidder, M. Kallis & Co., had withdrawn its bid of $8.63 per thousand, and the board had voted to award the contract for $20.50 to the second lowest bidder.

Yesterday's low bid was $8.15 per thousand ballots, submitted by Ignacio Izsak, who identified himself as a representative of the Foreign Language Newspapers. His price would make the total cost of the ballots $25,783, compared with $64,852 at the $20.50 price offered by the Lincoln Printing company and George G. Renneker Printing company on a joint basis.

Makes Bid for Friend.

Izsak, however, explained to a reporter that he was not bidding for the job, but had simply made the bid in his name for a friend, John Maher, president of the Maher Printing company. Maher's explanation was that as an "exchange of courtesies" Izsak's name was used, but the job was to be done in the Maher plant. Izsak is editor and publisher of a Hungarian weekly newspaper. Maher said his firm had never printed any ballots before.

Mrs. Mabel Reinecke, member of the board of election commissioners, declared that this procedure was unusual if not unprecedented and said she doubted that the Izsak bid was legal. Izsak, she explained, was apparently not a printer and hence could not be held responsible for the job.

All bids will be investigated and the qualifications of the printers to do the job will be studied, Mrs. Reinecke said.

Protest Bids a Minute Late.

Meanwhile, a representative of the Lincoln Printing firm protested that yesterday's bids by the Kallis firm and the Buckley Dement company should be disallowed on the ground they were a minute late in depositing their bids. The bids were due at noon.

Buckley Dement submitted the second lowest bid, $8.55 per thousand, but offered to print only enough for 800 of the 3,848 precincts. The Kallis company's bids was $11.45, compared with its bid last week of $8.63, which was withdrawn on the ground that an error had been made in the estimates.

Lincoln Printing, while sticking to its former price of $20.50 a thousand, offered to do the job for 25 per cent less or $15.38 if full payment in cash would be made in 90 days and if the city would pay off the present balance due on a previous contract for ballots. The city controler's office said the city still owes $20,000 on a $24,000 contract for ballots printed in 1938.

The Lincoln firm also offered to submit all cost figures and reduce its price if the board found it was making an unfair profit.

WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN.

Mrs. Barbara Maus, 65 years old, was killed yesterday when she was struck by a Wabash railroad freight train at the Cook avenue crossing in Oak Lawn. She lived at 9610 52d avenue, Oak Lawn.

COUNTY SETS UP 3 FREE SOCIAL HYGIENE CLINICS

Three free social hygiene clinics have been opened in Cook county, Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board of commissioners, announced yesterday. The clinics, established thru funds obtained from the National Venereal Disease Control act, are in the Berwyn, Maywood, and Robbins health centers. Additional clinics will be opened soon in Cicero, Harvey and Chicago Heights.

ASPHALT PAVING BIDS BLOCKED; INQUIRY ASKED

Approval of bids for four asphalt paving projects on Pulaski road was blocked temporarily yesterday by County Commissioner William Busse at a meeting of the county board roads and bridges committee. Busse contended that if concrete, instead of asphalt, were used, the saving would be $168,537. He asked for a further investigation.

The projects call for a total of 110,800 square yards of paving. The average square yard cost of asphalt paving [exclusive of excavation, demolition, etc.] was $3.71 in the low bids opened Monday while the unit cost for concrete paving, being used on two Lincoln avenue projects, was $2.19, or $1.52 less.

Commissioner Dan Ryan, chairman of the committee, said the state highway department has requested some asphalt paving be included in spending the county's share of the motor fuel tax. He said that Maj. George Quinlan, superintendent of the county highway department, recommended asphalt for the Pulaski road projects. Maj. Quinlan refused to discuss the matter last night, saying he would present his side at another committee meeting on Wednesday.

The Pulaski road projects, the low bidders and their bids [complete cost, including excavation and demolition] are: Armitage to Belmont avenues, the Midwest Construction and Asphalt company, $223,250; Harrison street to Chicago avenue, Rock-Road Construction company, $223,009; Chicago avenue to Armitage avenue, Standard Paving company, $233,763, and Cermak road to Harrison street, Union Contracting and Engineering company, $229,890.

Wife of Kidnap Murderer Sues Convict for Divorce

Jack Russell, Oklahoma desperado who is serving a 199 year federal sentence for the kidnap murder of William Scott Hamilton, Kansas salesman, was sued for divorce in Superior court yesterday by Mrs. Mary Russell, 6527 Kimbark avenue. The couple were married in 1936 and separated a year later.

END CORRUPTION IN COOK COUNTY, METHODIST PLEA

Urge Voters to Smash Political Ring.

Armand Guerrero.

Freeport, Ill., Oct. 4 (AP).—Charging that an alliance of crime and politics exists in Cook county, the Rock River conference of Methodist churches called upon the citizens of that metropolitan area today to break the power of the politicians in next November's election.

The conference was unanimous in the adoption of a report from its public policy committee which held that Cook county was in the hands of racketeers and professional criminals, protected by unscrupulous politicians.

"We cannot ignore the presence of one of the most corrupt political machines operating within the bounds of our own conference," said the Rev. Armand Guerrero, Chicago pastor, in offering the policy group's statement on state legislation.

"The federal government is now prosecuting gambling in Cook county," Mr. Guerrero continued, "but there is little indication that the political satellites of these criminal elements are to be touched."

Will Assist Objectors.

In another report, the committee termed war a "political demonstration of the power of sin," adding that "we shall strive to maintain freedom of conscience and to give needed assistance to those of our membership who feel bound in loyalty to Christ to refuse to participate in war and training for war."

Thomas H. West, a Chicago layman, offered a report on economic order which held that "the economic problem which determines so largely the environment of good life has not been solved even after a decade of depression."

Hits Dictator Methods.

Dr. Ernest F. Tittle of the First Methodist church of Evanston told the conference that "Hitler can not win in the end and neither can any one who uses his methods, even if he is the President of the United States."

NEW MILK TRUST PROBE ORDERED AS PRICES GO UP

A new federal grand jury investigation of the Chicago milk industry, as a result of the increase in the retail price of milk which went into effect Tuesday, will be undertaken within a few days.

This was announced here yesterday by Thurman Arnold, head of the antitrust division of the department of justice.

"I am tremendously disappointed in the way the milk decree turned out," Arnold said. "I will recommend that the grand jury investigate the entire situation as soon as possible."

Arnold referred to a consent decree signed on Sept. 18 as a result of which the government dismissed a criminal indictment which accused the major dairies, the dairy farmers, and the union milk wagon drivers of conspiracy to violate the Sherman antitrust law by fixing prices.

FARMERS' MILK PRICE INCREASED FOR SEPTEMBER

An increase in the price paid to farmers for milk delivered in September was announced yesterday by A. W. Colebank, acting market administrator for the Chicago milk marketing area. Farmers will get 1.1 to 2.5 cents a hundred pounds [46.5 quarts] above the August price for all classes of milk except that used for relief. The price for relief milk is fixed by the government at $1.63 a hundred.

The increase brings the September price for class 1 milk to $1.989 a hundred pounds [4.28 cents a quart]. The blended price—the price farmers actually receive for all milk delivered—has not been announced. It will depend upon the amount of milk sold in the different classes.

Colebank attributed the increase largely to improved butter and cheese prices on the Chicago butter and Wisconsin cheese markets, on which the milk prices are based.

THE DERIVATIONS OF A FOREIGN POLICY.

Mr. Roosevelt's foreign policy is understandable from his background. In the background are Hyde Park, Groton, and Harvard. Hyde Park is the English country place. As John T. Flynn has said, there Mr. Roosevelt is the country squire. He is the head of the present generation of the old county family.

Groton is the closest approach to an exclusive English public school—meaning by the word "public" that it is reserved for families that get over the wall of its exclusiveness—to be found in all the United States. If it could be picked up and put down in the English countryside, that countryside would not find that anything alien had come into it nor would the school be breathing strange air.

Harvard, our oldest institution of learning, is an English type university. Altho its English house system was not there when Mr. Roosevelt was an undergraduate, its bond with English scholarship, and English traditions, and the English people was strong. Furthermore, it must be remembered that New England is new England. The adjective retains its force.

Many of the people derived from the 17th century English colonization retain a traditional affiliation with what still is to them the mother country. It is reflected in many of their ceremonies and their habits, both of thought and daily life. The towns were named for English towns and the people on both sides of the water still remember that. They send greetings to each other. Harvard rows on the English Thames and Harvard and Yale track athletes meet annually with Cambridge and Oxford. The ties are close.

All this is the background of Mr. Roosevelt's upbringing, and when he had George and Elizabeth as his guests at Hyde Park he had all the sensations of the head of an old English country family entertaining his king and queen. Mr. Roosevelt could show that as a ruler in his own right he was a notch above the county family by serving hot dogs and beer.

The best to which our landed gentry in the east can aspire in their own consciousness is the status of the English upper middle class. Without a court on their own soil they must recognize the social limitations of a country that tries to be democratic. However, the status of the upper middle class rates them, in their own estimation, above the democratic masses of the hinterland and what lies west of the Hudson is something very remote from the life on the seaboard, where that life has fallen into pleasant places.

When Mr. Roosevelt was in public life in Washington during Mr. Wilson's administration he was there as assistant secretary of the navy at a time when that navy was serving as an auxiliary to the British navy in the other war. The British admiralty and the British admirals were tops. Mr. Roosevelt's first lessons in international affairs were taken from his desk job in wartime, trying, so far as his duty required him, to meet the requirements of the British sea lords.

Mr. Roosevelt naturally, from his upbringing and his way of life, has regarded the necessities of the English people and the British empire as obligations upon himself. He also realized that distinction, gratifying to him, can be found in cutting a great figure in world affairs in support of the empire. The approval of the British government and of the English people is a gratification for which not only he, but most of his class in the east, would willingly stake the welfare of the rest of the country.

These are explanations of his foreign policy and they are also explanations of his domestic policy. His kind exploit the country financially and politically, and quite cold bloodedly. He has done both. The people who think he has benefited them, altho he has not, close their eyes to his selfish objects. There was no consideration for his country in the decision he said his conscience compelled him to make.

THE CONGRESS STREET RACKET.

Now the proposal is to spend 40 million dollars on the improvement of Congress street but to proceed on a pay as you go basis. It is estimated that 10 million dollars a year will be available from local, state, and federal sources and that the work can be completed, therefore, in four years, without borrowing.

The financing method is all right. What is wrong is the project upon which the money is to be spent. Of all the proposals for improving traffic conditions in Chicago, the Congress street plan has least to recommend it. It will not return 40 million dollars' worth of safety and it will not return 40 million dollars' worth of relief for traffic congestion. At much less expense elevated highways can be built which will serve the city's real needs for real superhighways to far better advantage.

The Congress street plan has had little support from motorists. That is because it is recognized as a shameful scheme for making money at the expense of the taxpayers. The clamor for the Congress street highway comes largely from the owners of dilapidated buildings who want to sell their holdings at fancy prices to the city; and from other owners of real estate in the vicinity who see in the highway the only chance they will ever have of unloading at a fancy profit.

JACKSON IN ROLE OF JANUS.

The government has brought pressure to bear upon coal and petroleum, two closely related and competing industries. Action by the department of the interior affected coal. Action by the department of justice affected petroleum.

The department of the interior put into effect its schedule boosting the price consumers have to pay for coal. This was done because it was said that the industry was selling its product too cheap for its own good. The coal operators on their own motion wouldn't adopt and adhere to a uniform price schedule, so the government had to establish one and make it obligatory. Chiselers can be punished.

On the same day that the government boosted coal prices and made price competition illegal, the department of justice filed proceedings against the petroleum industry. Suits under the antitrust law were brought against 22 oil companies, charging the "defendants have conspired to restrict production of crude oil and the manufacture of petroleum products." By means of an enumerated series of steps, the companies were alleged to have fixed and maintained noncompetitive prices.

The oil companies are being prosecuted for doing what the government has compelled the coal companies to do. At various points there were coal dealers who fixed and maintained coal prices, but the government was not satisfied with the prices established and now has made them higher.

One of the problems of the coal industry in recent years has been the loss of part of its market to oil. Anything that puts up the price of coal and puts down the price of oil is bound to make the coal operators and coal miners' lot harder. If, therefore, the department of justice succeeds in establishing its charges, and wins its suit, the price of oil will be cut and it will be feasible for more persons now using coal burners to substitute oil burners.

If Attorney General Jackson and his assistant, Thurman Arnold, get their injunction against the oil companies, coal will be more depressed, and the coal people no doubt will demand that the price of oil be raised and controlled by the government. The consequence of victory for the government in its suit will be to create a demand for legislation to get the oil companies to do what they are now accused of doing.

The ability of the New Deal to ride off in opposite directions at the same time was never better illustrated than it was last Monday, when one department boosted the price of coal and another department moved to reduce the price of oil.

Mr. Jackson does not alone disagree with Mr. Ickes, he doesn't even agree with Mr. Jackson. For on the same day that he proceeded against the oil companies for "conspiring to reduce the production of crude oil," Mr. Jackson wrote a letter to Senator Guy M. Gillette of Iowa, in which he said that the doctrine of compulsory competition embodied in the antitrust law is unwisely applied to oil production "where the principle of conservation of an exhaustible and irreplacable resource should replace the principle of competitive exploitation."

That is just what the oil companies have been doing—acting together to prevent "competitive exploitation." The attorney general approves of the results of their coöperation and, therefore, sues to compel them to stop it.

PROPAGANDA EXPOSED.

Just after the defeat of France, Nazi agents were said to have offered to sell arms to the Argentine government for delivery in October. At about the same time Iron Age reported that Germany was offering steel in several South American countries, with delivery in October guaranteed by a cash bond. No figures have been given out of the amount of business done on this basis. But here is October, and German arms and steel are not being delivered in this hemisphere.

Maybe this business fell in Goering's sphere of activity, or in that of the ministry of economics. If so, there have been some miscalculations. But more likely it was an activity of Herr Goebbels' department, having to do with propaganda. It appears to have been part of an effort to create the impression that the British cause is lost.

There is another little propaganda stunt which has become quite transparent. Each time the Germans have won a military or diplomatic victory the price of the German government's dollar bonds has risen on the New York market. This might be thought to create the impression that complete German victory is nearer at hand, and that such an event will be followed by the honoring of German debts. If such a movement of reich bonds was really spontaneous, it would indicate that some Americans of means believed just that.

But the other day when the alliance of Japan with Italy and Germany was announced, something funny happened. The German bonds went up as before, but Japanese and Italian bonds sank. If the Fascist nations were going to prevail, and thereafter do the honorable thing about their debts, all of the bonds should have gone up. Hereafter, if Goebbels is going to use the New York bond market for a propaganda stunt, he will have to see that the Japanese and Italian bonds do not give it away.

CORRECTION FROM MR. WALLACE.

[Kansas City Times.]

Henry Wallace has amended his petition. It seems that there was a little misunderstanding over Mr. Wallace's acceptance speech.

When he said the Republican party was the "party of appeasement" and that "powerful elements in our opposition will, if the Republicans come into power, force us to make one concession after another to the totalitarian countries," he didn't mean to include Wendell Willkie among those elements. He didn't even mean to indict the entire Republican party.

As a matter of fact, it is the considered judgment of this spokesman for the New Deal that Mr. Willkie is not a friend of Adolf Hitler, Benito Mussolini, or Joseph Stalin. And he is willing—indeed, anxious—to concede the possibility that not all Republicans are appeasers, fifth columnists, and Nazis.

What the Democratic nominee for the Vice Presidency meant to say was simply that "every Nazi, every Hitlerite, and every appeaser is a Republican." In short, a vote for Mr. Willkie in November will be a vote for Hitler, since, as Mr. Wallace so neatly puts it, "this is a campaign between Roosevelt and Hitler."

Now that's white of Mr. Wallace and very obliging, too. It isn't every candidate who would take time out to correct such a misinterpretation in justice to a political opponent.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

GREAT OPEN SPACES.

This is a day of hollow mockery. It is the first Saturday in October, but the football stadia are empty. There isn't a game in town, except on the high school lots. Certain reformers will point with pride; we view with alarm.

* * *

Is Chicago life dwindling and thinning or is it merely scattering, on the wheels and wings of modernism, into places where we can't find it? We've been wondering about this ever since the drama became the Sick Lady of the Arts. . . . Anyway, there's always the lake to look at.

* * *

Let's go home and console ourself with the advance sheets of a book called "Gem of the Prairie." It's a history of Chicago's underworld life by Herbert Asbury, who specializes in the vanished vices of American cities. [See his "The French Quarter," for New Orleans, and "The Barbary Coast," for San Francisco.] . . . This is a rewrite job from old newspaper clippings; the facts are here in all their scabrous ugliness, but the atmosphere of the past has not been recaptured.

* * *

In this work a map of the old 22d street district, locating the haunts of sin, commits a grievous error. A car barn is labeled as the place where the so-called car barn bandits started their sensational career. Mr. Asbury's text, however, gives the correct place, somewhere in the Englewood region.

* * *

The past has become popular. Consider the historical novels, memoirs, and ragbags of Americana that clutter the shelves of the circulating libraries. Consider the torrent of movies with similar themes. Escape from modernism? Or merely mankind's eternal faith that there were giants in those faraway days, and dragons, too?

EMANATIONS FROM AN AIRPORT.

We who are being trained in this arm of defense
Are troubled over a question
That contains all the elements of a stench.
When the science of aviation
Has been entirely omitted from his education,
What does a young man do
When he receives a commission
As Captain of Air Corps,
And the company under him
Rises above him and into the air soars?
Does he do as a hen does
That heedlessly hatches out ducks,
Then stands on the bank when they go in the lake,
And helplessly clucks?
Or does he go bravely down to the capital city
And sit at a polished desk and pursue his task
Where there's not the remotest chance
For the enemy to shoot him?
We who are about to die or go
Or whatever it is we are being prepared to do,
Would like to know about this
Before we salute him.

Tom Chekouras.

When the Old Maestro Came to Town.

Quotation from an announcement in a Thomas concert program of 1881:

"We have the honor to present to the public the opening program of a series of concerts, the general object of which is to secure for Chicago a large share of the advantages to be obtained from the tuition of Theodore Thomas in the best music of all times. The connection of Mr. Thomas with music in Chicago began on a stormy Saturday night in November, 1869. He came here with no blowing of trumpets, with no herald but his own reputation. A few musicians and connoisseurs attended the concert, but the great public stayed away, slowly waking to the discovery that it must go when Mr. Thomas came again."

Why Artists Like Alleys.

When artists go sketching they seldom select boulevards, or stately buildings, but are often found in obscure alleys. These have an individuality entirely lacking in well ordered thorofares. Here abound dilapidated, picturesque structures, of a distinctive character all their own. Barns, shanties, and sheds of infinite variety. Occasionally, well built garages, but more than balanced by lean-to shacks. Some neat, well kept and painted. Others weatherbeaten, with tilting fences. Broken windows, hanging shutters, and unhinged doors. Slanting roofs and play of light and shadow that are an artist's delight. Chimneys, cornices, and gables found nowhere else. Ash cans, washlines, and wired poles. Prowling cats, barking dogs, and stamping horses. Concourse of milkmen, icemen, and vegetable venders. J. J. L.

How to Select a Pseudonym.

Selecting a suitable pseudonym is simple; it requires only a mirror and a dictionary. As an example, take the word that means "to ridicule; to mock with pretended seriousness; to eye suspiciously or mockingly"; add to it the word that means "fellow, beast—by way of reproach or contempt, or humorously or with no definite meaning"; connect them with an egotistical "I," and you have Quizzicuss.

Nearly every time the telephone rings, it's some one wanting to know the real name of Little Girl, who writes verses about heart break and the fickleness of the male animal. We gather that there are other little girls in town, pretending to be our Little Girl. CHARLES COLLINS.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune].

OSTEOMYELITIS—A DESTRUCTIVE BONE DISEASE.

We ordinarily think of bone as hard material that defies decay. But is it indestructible, particularly in the living body? Unfortunately, no! In the presence of infection it can melt away almost like wax before a hot fire.

One of our most persistent diseases is known as osteomyelitis and any part of the frame may be involved. As a rule, the malady attacks children from 2 to 12 years of age and there is usually a history of an injury—a blow or fall. In other cases, the germs find their way into the blood stream from boils, carbuncles or even the pimples of acne. The tonsils, teeth, gums, or sinuses may serve also as starting points.

Any microbe that wanders into the blood may be carried to the "end" vessels and lodge in the skeleton. The vessels are thus named because they do not communicate with veins and are like blind alleys or dead end streets. Because of a lack of a continuous flow of the circulation bacteria may stagnate, establish themselves and flourish.

Nature dislikes this situation and a defensive war is declared promptly. White blood cells are massed for the attack, an abscess starts and an intense inflammatory reaction ensues. Because of the pressure, the surrounding hard mineral matter undergoes solution as the pus attempts to burrow toward an outlet.

In the meantime the patient is acutely ill and may be seized so suddenly with chills and a high fever that poliomyelitis or some other condition may be suspected before a correct diagnosis is made.

Immediate surgery is not advised. The serious nature of the ailment demands plenty of fluid—sometimes blood transfusions, the best possible nursing and the use of such drugs as sulfanilamide. Only after the patient's general condition improves should drainage be instituted. Many surgeons advocate several drill holes rather than the removal of a window to permit the exit of the confined pus. Again the victim may require small transfusions of blood to sustain strength.

Unfortunately, the malady may be long drawn-out and sometimes the disease settles down into a chronic state. Healing may be followed by reasonably good health for weeks or months only to be succeeded by a new outbreak requiring another operation. The Orr method of treatment has been widely adopted. The wound is packed with vaseline gauze, a plaster cast applied and the dressing is left in place for weeks. Skilled nursing, of course, is a prime essential as the resistance of the individual must be kept at par.

The lesson of this ailment lies in the fact that we dare not neglect minor skin wounds or badly infected tonsils if we would avoid a tedious bout with such an illness. Infection does not just happen. It comes from a positive source and cases have been reported in which a single squeezed pimple has been responsible.

DIET SUGGESTIONS.

Miss R. writes: My mother is suffering from hardening of the arteries due to her age. Are there any foods which are valuable to one so afflicted?

REPLY.

These individuals should eat the same as any one else, with emphasis upon dairy products. If one can take milk, buttermilk, butter, cottage cheese, etc., this régime supplies generous amounts of needed calcium. Plenty of vitamin-containing vegetables should be the rule, altho one should not depend entirely upon vegetable proteins. If the patient is active, 4 to 6 ounces of meat per day should be consumed. This quantity may be cut in half if exercise is eliminated. Small, frequent meals are better than the standard three.

SUSCEPTIBLE TO CLOTHES.

F. E. writes: Every time I wear a certain dress I get a rash all over my neck and arms. What could be the reason?

REPLY.

You are sensitive to the material or the dye. Why not present the garment to some deserving friend who can wear it with safety? A burnt child dreads a fire.

SYPHILIS.

M. J. writes: In syphilis, does a chancre or initial sore, always appear at the site of infection?

REPLY.

Yes. The spirochete gains entrance thru a break in the skin. The first stage in development is a sore in the immediate vicinity.

ASK MORE DAYLIGHT HOURS.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—How ridiculous that Chicago had to set back its clocks a week ago and thus deprive its millions each evening of an hour of golden daylight. Yesterday the sun went down in glory at 5:30; it could have been kept for us until 6:30 with harm to no one and with inestimable joy to the people.

Why can't the daylight saving hours at least be extended to cover another month in the spring and another month in the fall? I ask you. B. S. E.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—I believe the majority of the people are not in favor of going back to standard time. The evenings are so dark and dreary and we miss the sunshine after working hours. The mothers of Illinois were, no doubt, those who voted for its return as it seemed so early for the youngsters to get up for school.

However, if we stop to consider that, according to navigators, Chicago is actually 10 minutes behind schedule by the sun, we are really only 50 minutes ahead when daylight saving is in effect. In Michigan daylight saving time is working out satisfactorily the year around even tho there many youngsters have to help with chores before schooltime.

I hope that at the next election people will reconsider this question and let us have the fast time the year round. I am sure we would all be happier for it. What do you say? J. O.

HE HAS HIS DOUBTS.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—I wish I knew the real truth about great affairs. I can't believe that the Germans, Italians, Russians, and Japs are all wrong and the English are all right, and that all virtue lies in British breasts. It's like saying that all beauty is in one country, and all ugliness in another; or that all happiness is in one country, and all sadness in another.

Naturally, my prejudices favor the English, but I'm not so sure my prejudices are right. The allies won the last war—and what happened 21 years later?

RICHARD E. BALDWIN.

YOUTH AT THE WHEEL.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Within the last two weeks four men have been reported killed in Chicago in four separate automobile accidents; and in each case the driver blamed was 19 years old. In another accident a boy was badly injured, and, I believe, died in the next few days, and in the latter case the driver was 17 years old.

Doesn't this indicate a great lack of thought on the part of parents in allowing these youngsters to drive or, at least, in allowing them to drive without some very good advice? E. A. E.

A GROWING ANGER.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 1.—It has taken me some time to become incensed at THE TRIBUNE'S editorials and cartoons, continuously criticizing every national move of preparedness that President Roosevelt makes. It is so obvious that THE TRIBUNE is playing cheap politics against national emergency that it defeats the very purpose which it is striving to gain—votes for Willkie and the Republican party. J. M.

FORT DEARBORN NEGLECT.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—The city of Chicago should be ashamed of itself for permitting Fort Dearborn to become a rathole. Either maintain it or do away with it.

MRS. MILDRED STROM.

REFUGEES IN STATE JOBS.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 3.—The state institution at Bartonville, Ill., near Peoria, has on its medical staff three doctors who, very recently, came from Europe as refugees. This is a well known fact around Peoria and the citizens are wondering if there are not sufficient natives to fill such positions. All decent Americans must certainly sympathize deeply with those unfortunates of Europe, but I fail to see why we shouldn't place "Americans first."

The federal government in its institutions of similar nature requires that all employés be citizens of the United States. I can understand Gov. Horner's sympathy for the victims of foreign wars, but when I sing the song "God Bless America" I want to be able to sing it louder and more enthusiastically than any alien.

With election approaching, I want the views of both candidates for governor on this question. I want a promise that the state laws will be amended so that only American citizens may be employed by the state of Illinois. Certainly if any one must receive dole, it should be those refugees and not our own citizens.

VOTING TAXPAYER.

WINDOW COVERED SALOONS.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—President Roosevelt after the repeal of the 18th amendment said he hoped the states would see to it that the saloon would not come back in any guise whatsoever.

The state law requires a clear view of the interior of a tavern from the street. Capt. Thomas Duffy has begun to enforce this law in the 1st ward. If such enforcement were general thruout the city much of the law violations inside would not take place. PHILIP YARROW,
Chairman, Commission on Civic Relations,
Chicago Church Federation.

EGGS, BOOS, AND A 3D TERM.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 2.—The action of certain of the electorate in throwing eggs, vegetables, boos, catcalls, etc., at the Willkie party in certain towns in Iowa, Michigan, and possibly other states, is fairly indicative of the mental caliber of The Peepul who will have a third termer elected or break up the party.

Latin American countries, U. S. R. R., Germany, and Italy have no surplus of eggs or vegetables to throw, even if a voter had the nerve to try it; and, of course, he would do that just once.

C. T. RAY.

PRICE FIXING FOR MILK.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—The trust busters and brain trusters are quick to point the finger of suspicion at the oil industry on charges of price fixing, but when we have price fixing in the milk industry such as we continually experience in Chicago [note the unity of action of all milk companies in the present price increase], we never hear a murmur from Thurman Arnold, et al. Milk, of course, is essential to national good health; we could get along without gasoline if the price were too high. The palaverings of the milk companies and the football tactics used on the price of milk lead one to believe that this essential commodity should be declared a public utility and thereby subjected to some equitable control. CONSUMER.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

RENT OBLIGATION.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A lease between my tenant and me, for a house, expired on Sept. 30, 1939, at which time the tenant moved, owing me $95.00. The rent, of course, was due on the first of the month, in advance. Shortly after moving he paid me $20 and verbally promised to pay me the balance as soon as he is financially able to.

1. How long a time have I to sue him for this amount, and
2. Would I have to go thru the regular proceedings of a civil case suit to obtain judgment? I understand that he has some property, mortgaged of course.
3. Would it be advisable for me to take his promissory note?
4. I mean would the note be better security for the amount than the lease?
5. How long a time would I have to sue him on the note after it became due, if he did not pay that? G. N.

1. The Illinois limitation period on written contracts is 10 years.
2. Yes, except that if the lease contains the common wording authorizing judgment by confession, then service by a summons would not be necessary.
3. Yes, unless you are asked to give something up in exchange.
4. It would reduce the possibility of any contest as to whether the rent is owing. If the note does not contain a judgment clause and the lease does contain one and if the note is regarded as a substitute for the lease, then this would be a disadvantage.
5. Ten years.

Test Your Horse Sense

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Select the answer which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 26.

1. You should expect to find Canterbury bells in a Church Belfry Garden Choir Loft Music Shop.
2. The octane selector on a gasoline motor is used to adjust the Carburetor Spark Setting Foot Throttle Muffler.
3. In troning a man's shirt, the average housewife begins with the Sleeves Collar Back Front.
4. A hunter recently told a party of friends that he had killed a buffalo on the veldt. Had he been hunting in Montana India Africa South America.
5. The body of an automobile is made of Wrought Iron Tin Cast Iron Steel.
6. One day Tom was walking along the street when he chanced to find a $10 bill. He used it immediately to settle a $10 debt to Dick, who, in turn, employed it to cancel a $10 loan he had received from Harry. But Harry owed Tom $10, so he returned the bill to Tom. The latter decided to deposit the money in a savings account, but the bank cashier noticed that it was a counterfeit bill, and confiscated it for Uncle Sam. What were the economic and psychological effects? Did anybody gain or lose?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

W-G-N WILL AIR SERVICES FROM MANY CHURCHES

First of Programs to Be Heard Tomorrow.

Broadcasts of one hour services from representative Chicago churches of all denominations will begin tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and continue each week on station W-G-N. Tomorrow's service will represent New First Congregational church, Ashland avenue and Washington boulevard. The title of the broadcast will be Chicagoland Church Hour.

Dr. John Evans, religion editor of THE TRIBUNE, will act as commentator and will direct the series. Chicago Church federation reports and other studies show that no city in the country exceeds Chicago in religious activity. It contains the chair of one of the notable Catholic sees of the world and is known as the Lutheran center of the nation.

Large and Small Churches.

Station W-G-N undertakes the series as a contribution to the religious devotion of the metropolitan area and will use the electrical transcription method of carrying the message of pulpit choir and sanctuary to the listening congregation. This method, thru the use of the W-G-N mobile unit, will be able to show a complete cross-section of the city's religious life thru the presentation of large churches and small which are representative of their communities.

The Rev. Dr. Oswald W. S. McCall, tomorrow's church hour preacher, speaks from the text, "Conceived in Liberty—and Dedicated." The choir of 125 voices under the direction of Dr. William Lester sings the hallelujah chorus from Beethoven's oratorio, "The Mount of Olives," as the introit.

Seek No Special Services.

The series is announced as not seeking special services or notable occasions for broadcast. Rather, the effort will be to present the city's churches at their regular work and worship. Regular pastoral announcements will envisage the church's activity to the congregation of the air, and the commentator will tell of the church's service area and history, identify the choral numbers, and relate other details of general interest.

St. Luke's Lutheran church, Belmont and Greenview avenues, will be heard on Oct. 13.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Incomplete Returns

TODAY'S RADIO BROADCASTS

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.
[Central Standard Time.]

The Chicago Theater of the Air from 9 to 10 tonight on W-G-N and Mutual will open its fall series with Rudolph Friml's operetta, "The Vagabond King." The leading singing rôles will be taken by Marion Claire, operatic soprano, and Conrad Thibault, romantic baritone. The musical background will be provided by the W-G-N concert orchestra and augmented chorus directed by Henry Weber.

The fourth game of the 1940 world series between the Cincinnati Reds and Detroit Tigers will be broadcast from Detroit by Bob Elson and Red Barber starting at 12:15 p. m. Immediately after the game Guy Savage will be heard from Notre Dame with a description of the opening football game of the season with the College of the Pacific.

Football scores and high lights taken from the many games will be offered at 5:45 p. m. by Red Grange and at 7:15 p. m. by Eddie Dooley.

'VAGABOND KING' OPENS W-G-N AIR CLASSIC TONIGHT

Conrad Thibault Stars with Miss Claire.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Radio listeners thruout the nation tonight will get their first taste of the rich musical fare which W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system are to provide for the 1940-'41 season. For at 9 p. m. the curtain will rise on the Chicago Theater of the Air, which is to present one hour radio adaptations of the world's most popular operettas each Saturday.

Conrad Thibault.

Tonight's première of the Theater of the Air, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will present Rudolph Friml's stirring "Vagabond King," the story of the romance between François Villon, poet, patriot, and ruffian, and Katherine de Vaucelles, high spirited lady of the court who rejected the suit of Louis XI. of France.

Claire and Thibault to Star.

Marion Claire, Chicago's own soprano of stage, radio, and screen fame, will sing the rôle of Katherine. Conrad Thibault, romantic baritone of opera and radio, will have the rôle of Villon. Thibault arrived yesterday from New York for rehearsals. Miss Claire, who also stars on The Tribune Symphonic Hour, a Sunday night program, will sing the leading feminine rôles each week on The Theater of the Air.

The second of W-G-N's new musical programs—concerts by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, directed by Dr. Frederick Stock, with world famous guest soloists—will be launched next Thursday evening over W-G-N-Mutual. And starting Monday, Nov. 4, W-G-N and Mutual will present the Chicago Opera productions each week.

Weber to Direct Music.

Tonight's production in W-G-N's blue and silver auditorium before 600 invited guests represents the climax of many weeks of preparation. William A. Bacher, chief of W-G-N programs and productions, today will put the finishing touches to the elaborate production.

Henry Weber, musical director of W-G-N and artistic director of the Chicago Opera company, will conduct the W-G-N Concert orchestra and the augmented chorus in providing the musical background for the operetta.

SYMPHONIC HOUR TO GIVE WORKS FROM CLASSICS

Selections from Wagner, Tschaikowsky, Mozart, and Dvorak will highlight orchestral offerings on the Chicago Tribune Symphonic hour to be broadcast from 9 to 10 p. m. tomorrow. The program will be presented from W-G-N studios over the Mutual network and the network of the Canadian Broadcasting corporation.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be the speaker. Marion Claire, soprano, will be the soloist and will sing "Connais tu le Pays" from Thomas' "Mignon" and "The Rosary" by Nevin.

The orchestral selections will include Dvorak's "Carnival Overture," the third movement from Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony; "Liebestod" from Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," and the fourth movement from Mozart's "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik."

William A. Bacher will produce the program. The musical commentary will be by Cecil Smith.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Ida C. Kerber.

Mrs. Ida C. Kerber, who recalled that as a child she saw the body of President Lincoln when the funeral cortége passed thru Chicago, died yesterday in her home at 911 Sheridan road, Evanston, at the age of 79. She was the widow of Dr. Henry C. Kerber, Chicago physician. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. William C. West, and Mrs. Lewis D. Suhr; a son, Herbert, seven grandchildren, and a great-grandchild. Services will be held at 2:30 p. m., Monday, in the chapel at 1567 Maple avenue, Evanston.

Peter J. Crowley.

Funeral services for Peter J. Crowley will be held at 10 a. m. Monday in St. Giles church in Oak Park. Burial will be in All Saints cemetery. Mr. Crowley, who was 66 years old, died Thursday night after a heart attack. He was a paving contractor. He was the father of Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney. His widow, a daughter, Mrs. Vivian Urbain, and another son, Edward, also survive.

LeRoy N. Sweet.

LeRoy N. Sweet, vice president and manager of Surpless Dunn & Co., hardware concern, died yesterday in his home at 609 Ridge road, Kenilworth, after a short illness. He was 51 years old and had been with the company for the last 35 years. His widow, Ricka, and a daughter, Miss Shirley Sweet, survive. Services will be held at 1 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 1567 Maple avenue, Evanston.

Bauke Van der Meer.

Funeral services for Bauke Van der Meer, who for 48 years conducted a coal and feed business at 403 West 103d street, will be held at 2 p. m. Chicago Symphony Players to Be Guests of E. L. Ryersons

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE CHICAGO SYMPHONY orchestra will meet Monday morning for its first rehearsal, but that will not be the first time the men have been together this season, for tomorrow they and their wives are to enjoy a barbecue luncheon as the guests of the Edward L. Ryersons. Mr. Ryerson is president of the orchestral association. The party is to be given at the Ryersons' week-end cabin on the Des Plaines river. Dr. Frederick Stock, conductor of the orchestra, and Mrs. Stock; Hans Lange, associate conductor, and Mrs. Lange, and John Weicher, concert master, and Mrs. Weicher will be the especial guests.

The golden jubilee season of the orchestra opens next Thursday night. To last year's box list have been added the names of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Greene and Philip Manuel and Gavin Williamson, who will have box P; William E. Goodman and John Nuveen Jr., who have taken box V. The lists for the Tuesday and Friday afternoon concerts are virtually unchanged.

Mill Creek Hunter Trials Hold Center of Interest.

The interest of hunting enthusiasts this week-end is centering about the Mill Creek hunter trials which are being held tomorrow on the property of Mrs. Benjamin L. Behr in Millburn. The traditional hunt ball, to be held tonight at the Onwentsia, will be preceded by several cocktail parties, given by Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Douglas, the Joseph T. Bowens, the Edward H. Bennetts, Mr. and Mrs. G. Corson Ellis, and the William B. Cudahys, who will be hosts with the Hugh McB. Johnstons at the latters' home.

Altho most of those who will attend the trials will have picnic luncheons, a few will make use of the clubhouse, among these the Howard Linns who will entertain for Miss Margaret Hutchins and Anthony M. Ryerson, who are to be married next Saturday.

Brock Fuller of Milwaukee will judge the eliminations in the morning and the championship and hunt teams in the afternoon. S. Prentice Porter and Mr. Johnston are joint masters of the hunt and James Simpson is clerk of the course. Mrs. Porter, Mrs. Johnston, Lloyd Laflin, and Daggett Harvey comprise the hunt committee.

Among those who have made parking reservations are Mrs. Laurance Armour, the junior Philip D. Armours, the Valentine Bartletts, the Thomas A. Connors, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy Jr., the Charles Dennehys, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene du Pont III, the Fletcher Durbins, Mrs. Byron Harvey Sr., Mrs. Thomas W. Hinde, the Howard Linns, Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney, the Chauncey McCormicks, the Peter Moons, the Austin H. Niblacks, and the Conway H. Olmsteds.

Mrs. Bennett and her daughter, Miss Betty Mead, William B. McIlvaine, Mrs. Kimball Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. Porter, William B. Cudahy, Mrs. Merrill Hubbard, young Charles F. Jelke Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, Hulburd Johnston, and Mrs. John Andrews King are among those who will ride.

Anne Ward Willetts to Be Wed This Afternoon.

Fashionable St. Chrysostom's church will be the setting for the marriage of Miss Anne Ward Willetts and Victor L. Lewis at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The bride's mother, Mrs. George M. Willetts, will give a reception following in the Polo room and east lounge of the Ambassador East.

George R. Martin of New York will give his niece in marriage. Two other uncles, Nicholas Martin of Birmingham, Ala., and Raymond J. Willetts of Milwaukee, and their wives are here for the ceremony, at which the Rev. Dudley S. Stark will officiate. Miss Willetts will wear some lace that was worn by her sister, Ruth, when she became the bride of Herbert S. Nock. Mrs. Nock will be matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Jane Hubbell, Miss Mary Lyon, Miss Amonett Gordon of Washington, D. C., and Miss Penelope Weld of New York.

John T. Ricks of Cleveland, O., will be best man for Mr. Lewis, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Lewis of Oak Park. The ushers will be Myron Lewis, a brother; Mr. Nock, Alfred A. Snowball, John J. Davidson Jr., and Robert Gardner. After a wedding trip to Sea Island, Ga., Mr. Lewis and his bride will be at home in Evanston.

Shumway-Longstaff Ceremony at 430 o'Clock.

Miss Betty Longstaff and Philip B. Shumway are to have a quiet wedding at 4:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Longstaff, in Evanston. Only the families will be present to hear the Rev. Herbert E. Prince of the Church of the Holy Spirit of Lake Forest read the service. The same small group will remain to drink a toast to the son of Mrs. Philip R. Shumway, also of Evanston, and his bride before they depart on a wedding trip.

Miss Longstaff will be attended by her future sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert L. Elliott. John Shumway will be best man. Ralph Longstaff Jr. has come from Park Falls, Wis., for the ceremony. Also here is a cousin of the bride, Miss Josephine Lorraine Longstaff of Ann Arbor, Mich. For something old the bride is carrying a lace handkerchief that belonged to her great-great-grandmother. Mr. Shumway and his bride will reside in Evanston.

A second Evanston wedding is one that will take place at 8:30 o'clock tonight when Miss Dorothy Woodruff Meaker will become the bride of Edward Ray Cullen, son of the John W. Cullens of Wilmette. The ceremony will take place at 8:30 o'clock at the Country Club of Evanston, the Rev. Hugh Elmer Brown officiating, with a reception following, given by the bride's mother, Mrs. Guy L. Meaker of Evanston.

Miss Mollie Meaker Will Be Maid of Honor.

Miss Mollie Meaker will be her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Mrs. John W. Cullen Jr. of Columbus, O.; Mrs. Robert Lindstrom,

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Stephens Aiken Reichner just after their marriage at noon yesterday. The bride is the former Phoebe Logan Terbell. The ceremony took place in the Lake Shore drive apartment of her father, Stuart Logan, with only the family and close friends present. Mrs. Reichner's gown was of light green faille and her hat of brown velvet. Mr. and Mrs. Reichner will be at home in St. James, N. Y., after a month's wedding trip.

Front Views and Profiles — By June Provines

Check the 21st as Thanksgiving.

Miss Marion McGinnis of the June graduating class of Mundelein college wants to be married on Thanksgiving day and was eager to know on what day it would fall this year, so she could make her plans. She wrote to President Roosevelt to ask him and, according to a paragraph in the Mundelein Skyscraper, received a prompt answer. Thanksgiving day—and Miss McGinnis' wedding day—will be celebrated officially Nov. 21.

Home of the Ballet Theater.

Letter from New York from member of the Ballet theater, which give performances with the Chicago Opera this season:

"Our crowd is working like a family of beavers in preparation for Chicago. The Ballet theater has moved into a fine old mansion that once belonged to George Blumenthal (of the picture collection). There are studios in ballrooms and state dining rooms, and his private gymnasium is the bar room—not what you think—I mean room for bar work. The Gothic library is a little studio, and dancers dress in pantries and maids' rooms. The music library is the little dining room, and we lock up the scores in a closet that has a combination like a bank vault. The large old kitchen is the costume room where our Mrs. Mary Brennan holds forth, and one pantry is a fitting room. Offices are in the very French bedrooms upstairs. We have settled in and the dancers are beaming with happiness. We've always had a housing problem because we are so big. But at last we have enough room and big enough studios.

"The music Darius Milhaud has written for The Man from Midian just arrived. We gathered in a respectful and solemn mood (easy in this cathedral of a house) to hear a run thru. Dick Pleasant (director of the Ballet theater), Alexander Smallens (musical conductor), Eugene Loring (choreographer), and Winthrop Bushnell Palmer, the poet who is author of the libretto. The score that was sent has been reduced to piano for four hands. M. Milhaud's polytonal harmonies seemed to us very elegant. But the neighbor to the east called out informally and somewhat harshly that she was calling the police."

Student's Gripe.

(In the morning mail.)

Well, I started the super course with Prof. Howtoreadabook, but what I'd like to know today is how to get a book, after making an heroic odyssey on foot—east, west, north, and south—trying to buy Homer's 'Iliad,' our first stint.

O, no, the university book store doesn't have it. Such a minor detail as stocking required books for a definitely outlined course could not be within the province of an institution of learning.

Churches to Observe World-Wide Communion

Protestant churches throughout the world will observe tomorrow as World-Wide Communion Sunday to emphasize the solidarity of Christian fellowship. The observance is sponsored nationally by the Federal Council of Churches in coöperation with other Protestant faiths in both hemispheres.

Merchants Hail Tribune's Show as Trail Blazer

BY MARCIA WINN.

Leading Chicago merchants yesterday praised THE TRIBUNE'S American Fashions show as a vital contribution to the world of fashion and to Chicago.

They praised the beauty and originality of the designs resulting from the $7,500 nation-wide contest which was concluded Wednesday. They praised the maturity of technique, the exquisite workmanship of the 48 garments shown, the careful choice of jewels [the $500,000 collection lent by Chicago jewelers], furs, and accessories, and the presentation. Most of all, they praised the contest for its pioneering.

"THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has a long, long record of doing significant pioneering at just the right time, but this recent promotion of American styles for American women should go up near the top of its list of achievements," wrote David Mayer, vice president of Maurice L. Rothschild's and president of the State Street council.

"With Paris fading out of the style creating picture, women had to look elsewhere for their fashions. You said, 'Why not to America?' and then did something about it. You not only centered interest on American styles, but focussed the spotlight on Chicago. State street appreciates this finely executed promotion."

Comments of other leading executives were:

Charles C. Bunker, vice president and general merchandise manager of Marshall Field & Co.: "The Tribune fashion contest should prove a stimulus to the whole American designing industry. Surely such a display of talent and originality was unexpected."

Bruce MacLeish, secretary of Carson Pirie Scott & Co.: "The fashion show gave proof that we have first rate designers in America. It was an extraordinary presentation—first because of the character and quality of the presentations shown, and also because it was so thoroly well done. We believe it has been an important contribution to the recognition and encouragement of American fashion design."

Elmer T. Stevens, president of Chas. A. Stevens & Co.: "The contest reached a magnificent climax in that superb style show at W-G-N. The outstanding thing with us as we left the showing was a feeling of pride in American design. We admired the freshness of viewpoint and marveled at the maturity of the technique and the excellence of taste."

James S. Schoff, president of The Fair store: "It was a very wonderful show and demonstrated a great deal of possibility in this country for developing a real group of designers. It should be a great stimulant to design."

M. C. Penticoff, general manager of the Chicago stores of Sears, Roebuck & Co.: "THE TRIBUNE is to be congratulated both for what was accomplished at the show and because Chicago was permitted to make this first important step. It gave the American designer an opportunity for expression, and demonstrated the new world knows where to go from here."

Nathan Goldblatt, vice president of Goldblatt Brothers. "The Tribune has done an important thing for the United States, for fashion and for Chicago especially. The styles were beautiful and the show perfect."

Others who made glowing comments yesterday are Mrs. Jacques Potts of Jacques, Inc.; Thomas Considine, president of John T. Shayne; Harry Auster, Chicago manager of Saks-Fifth Avenue; R. E. Peacock, president of C. D. Peacock; and Helen Y. White, fashion buyer for Lane Bryant.

Looking at Hollywood
By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 4.—Orson Welles, who is now almost as slender as a leading man, has been getting the weight pounded off by a girl named Hilda in a Sunset boulevard beauty shop. . . . Ben Hecht's Columbia picture, "Angels Over Broadway," was previewed to excellent notices—but he and Harry Cohn have grown cold. . . . Ed McNamara has torn himself away from The Players long enough to come out here for a screen test for a Raoul Walsh picture at Warners'. . . . Overheard part of a luncheon conversation between a script writer and his agent, with the agent needling the author into doing a little work: "You know what would be terrific? Another 'Gone with the Wind'—but drawing room, see?" . . . Joan Crawford on her way back from New York to work in "A Woman's Face" at Metro. Type casting! . . . Tyrone Power and Annabella depart tomorrow for a three week motor holiday up the coast. Jack Oakie, who will finish in "Tin Pan Alley" next week, had wanted to travel somewhere for a vacation—but won't go because Mrs. Oakie is still too ill. Betty Grable, from the same picture, will go to Chicago for a personal appearance she contracted for a year and a half ago.

For the second time since he invaded the movies, Harpo Marx won't be seen playing the harp in Metro's "Go West." But he'll have his harp solo just the same. His fans wouldn't allow him to do otherwise, as they proved on the lone occasion when a Marx brothers film had no harp solo.

In "Go West" there will be a scene on an Indian reservation, with Harpo inspecting the weaving of a Navajo blanket. He will touch the loom—and lo! it will give music. It took the property department three weeks to make a harp look like an Indian loom.

Among those working as a "dress extra" in "Tin Pan Alley" on the Fox lot is Maurice Costello, who was a film idol in the days when stars really got dough, and not just a few thousand a week. Now he gets $12.50 a day—and says he is satisfied.

Costello has long since worn thru wealth and fame and his hair is snow white. The occasional $12.50 a day he gets is "just about money enough to meet my needs."

"I still could do with a little more money," he continues, "but mostly it's the way you look at things. Of course, I didn't enjoy being shoved off my pedestal and being knocked down into the extra ranks—but my viewpoint has changed. I've had a chance to take stock of things.

"My wants are few and my responsibilities are fewer, I eat plain food, sleep regular hours, and have time for things that give a flavor to life. This wasn't true in the old days. My life was hardly my own. There were scripts to read, conferences, business matters, houses and boats to keep track of. Now I have time to read, attend some lectures and go to concerts when I have the price. And I have time for old friends. No, I don't need sympathy from anybody. I guess I always was a better actor than a business man."

Indiana Society Elects Mark A. Brown President

Mark A. Brown, vice president of the Harris Trust & Savings bank, was elected president of the Indiana society of Chicago yesterday. He succeeds Col. George T. Buckingham, who died Sept. 9. Plans for the society's 29th annual dinner were announced. It will be Dec. 14 in the Stevens hotel. The special guest will be John T. McCutcheon, cartoonist of THE TRIBUNE, whose life will be dramatized in song and story at the dinner. The Indiana university glee club will sing, and cadets of Culver Military academy will give a patriotic demonstration.

The Borrowed Cottage

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1940: By Alice Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Rowan Wilde, an American girl, goes to the isolated cottage of Hazel Fordyce in England to do some studying. Arriving at night, she enters the house and is frightened by footsteps. Investigating, she opens a closet door and a dead man falls out. As she rushes from the house she runs into Mr. Stephen Smedley, a member of a publishing firm, who, because of ill health, has come to the country for a rest. He lives nearby in an old chapel. Rowan tells Stephen her story and he goes off to get his car. When he fails to return Rowan starts out to search for him and stumbles upon him prostrate. Helping him into the house, he collapses upon the sofa. Rowan leaves him and goes to her bedroom for a nap, but is awakened by Stephen entering her room holding a butcher knife. A sharp command from her makes him drop the knife and retreat. The next morning he seems to remember nothing of the knife episode, and the dead man has disappeared. Mrs. Faithful, the housekeeper, fails to show up, but has sent Mrs. Yallice, mother of Robert, the caretaker, to get Rowan's breakfast. Rowan has found a brief case with a manuscript about Russia in it and is hiding it with her bloody skirt and a gun she has also found, just as the Rev. Bogge and Lord Romrytch arrive at her cottage searching for the vicar's brother Bertram, whom they say has been allowed to study in the cottage. From their conversation Rowan gathers that Bertram had an affair with the vicar's servant girl, who was engaged to Robert. Stephen admits the dead man was Bertram and that he was trying to interest Stephen in publishing a book he had written. Lord and Lady Romrytch invite Rowan, Stephen, and the vicar to luncheon.

SEARCHING PARTY.

INSTALMENT XVIII.

Faced by the two gaps at the table, Lady Romrytch gave attention to the vicar—clearly an uncomfortable duty. "Well," Mr. Bogge," she drawled, "you let my husband handle this business about your brother. Take it from me, once Henry gets on to a job you can just sit back and relax."

Bogge roused. "I beg your pardon? O, assuredly! It's—it's certainly most kind of so busy a man to occupy himself with my problem. I scarcely—hrumph!—like imposing on him."

"O, applesauce! Can't you see he's just eating it up?"

The vicar ran a stubby forefinger inside his collar, his eyes rackedly seeking escape. Duty done, Lady Romrytch engaged Stephen on the subject of the Wimbledon prospects, but she had scarcely embarked before her husband clattered in.

"Settled!" He slid into his chair, but as he was about to continue his voice was drowned by a strange, more cultivated one, intoning from the radio.

". . . this being the third of our specialists' talks on the Russian Ukraine. Sir George Wendover, the celebrated authority on Europe's natural resources ——"

Abruptly the announcer ceased. Rowan, facing the door, saw Mr. Forbes just removing his finger from some invisible button. There came a fractional silence, then Lord Romrytch went on.

"Settled," he repeated. "A dozen beaters, just starting off. Not that they'll find anything, but ——"

The vicar shot out of his seat. "I—I'll go with them, I think. On the chance of any discovery I should prefer to ——"

"Be in on the kill? Good God, Dahlia, don't shush me. Bogge knows I can't take this disappearance to heart. By all means, padre, Forbes will show you the way. Half a mo, I've left the dictaphone going. I'll just shut it off."

Three of the party withdrew. Only the two women and Stephen remained, to be served by two footmen and the butler. Lady Romrytch sighed with relief.

"Well, thank God that gospel man's gone. Doesn't he give you the pip?"

Rowan laughed, feeling criminal. "I can't somehow believe he cares an awful lot what's happened to his brother. Or rather ——" She bit her lip, noting Stephen's unresponsiveness.

"Dearie, of course he doesn't care a couple of hoots. This is England, haven't you got it? It's the scandal. Listen to me, I've yet to meet the Britisher that doesn't go all fooey at the thought of a little mud sticking to him. Except Henry—and if he's different it's only because he's so darned powerful he can walk right up to the devil and spit in his face."

Chocolate ice cream appeared, with a small rice pudding for his absent lordship. When cheese had been handed and a mountain of bloated strawberries was beginning to dwindle, the butler came in with a message.

"His lordship's detained. Would Miss Wilde and Mr. Smedley be so kind as not to leave till he's had a word with them? His lordship says he won't be long."

"Leave? Naturally they aren't going to eat and run. Coffee in the sun parlor, Matthews. Come along."

Glassed on two sides, the sun parlor overlooked a wide sweep of exquisite landscape. Dark woods framed in a fan vista of garden beyond which the distant sea melted hazily into sky. As they stretched themselves in long chairs, Lady Romrytch donning blue spectacles, a car crunched away from below. In it was the secretary, alone. He had missed half his lunch, but possibly if he felt like this every day he wouldn't much mind.

Something fell plop on Rowan's hand—a bit of paper, wadded into a ball. Starting up, she beheld Lord Romrytch in the doorway behind, grinning and wigwagging to her to join him. She glanced at her two companions. Lady Romrytch was dozing, the sun hot on her shapely calves. Stephen also had his eyes closed.

Rowan slid to the red tiles.

"What is it, Lord Romrytch?"

"S'sh, not so loud!"

His blunt fingers piloted her into a cool little study of whose furnishings her sun-dazzled eyes could discern only blurred outlines. She realized that she, too, must have dropped off. No wonder, after that meal.

"Now, Miss Wilde, let's get this straight. It's a fact, is it, that you're stopping entirely alone in that cottage?".

"Why, yes. What about it?"

"Then don't. Can't you get some friend to keep you company?"

All the blissful lotus-mirage ebbed from her. Outside, with shaved lawn and pale sea before her and even the wind frustrated by glass, she had been lapped in heavenly peace. If she had thought of corpses at all, it was to assure herself that the one corpse connected with her had been transferred far beyond her ken.

"Does it matter?" she parried. "I've a woman in the daytime, her son—your gardener, you know—sleeps there at night. Tell me, Lord Romrytch, why are you saying this to me?"

He hesitated, then his hard palm patted her arm.

"Don't know. Things I've noticed. I'm a noticing chap. Maybe that's got home to you, what?" Of a sudden his gaze pierced hers. "You don't want to run into a nasty mess-up, nice girl like you over here all on your own? Do you? Answer me that."

She knew then that he had seen something. Something in that room—something her eye had missed. Whatever it might be it wrecked in an instant all she had so carefully built up.

She swallowed. "I don't understand. Why should I, of all people, run into any mess-up? I didn't so much as know this man Bogge."

"Quite, but suppose he comes back? He may. He's left papers he can't want seen. O, I've not let on I twigged what was in 'em! And the padre's taken the lot, I'm fairly positive of that. Only Bertram Bogge don't know that, does he?"

"He won't come back," declared Rowan incautiously, and gave a gulp. "Well, look at it," she protested, seared by the shrewdness burning into her. "From what I've gathered he's been threatened by a beating-up by the very man who lent him the room. Yesterday Egbert Yallice was in Lydport, so it was safe to be there, but ——"

"Did Bogge come to the cottage? Did you see him?"

"Of course not. I didn't see a soul." She perceived a way out. "Listen, Lord Romrytch. I didn't like saying this, and anyway I wasn't asked, but just after I arrived I heard some one walking about, I couldn't think where. I'd come in by the lower gate, you see, and the old part of the house doesn't show from the front terrace. For a minute I almost believed the place was haunted." She laughed shakily. "Oughtn't we to mention this to the vicar?"

"What else did you hear?"

"Nothing, except when I turned the wrong switch and started the electric-making contraption. Then a door closed. That was all."

and Miss Edith Foster. Richard Cullen will be his brother's best man. Ushering will be Mr. Cullen Jr., Burton Young, Marshall Ling, and Thomas D. Hicks. Mr. Cullen and his bride also are to make their home in Evanston.

Howes Memorial chapel on Northwestern university's Evanston campus has been chosen by Miss Eleanor Litsinger, daughter of the Edward R. Litsingers of Astor street, and Eugene Earl Mancinelli for their marriage at 10 o'clock this morning. Only the families will be present and there will be no breakfast following, as Mr. Mancinelli and his bride will depart immediately by motor for Mississippi. Mr. Mancinelli is a son of Mrs. Eugene Mancinelli of Wilmette.

The annual Arden Shore benefit tonight in the Gold Coast room of the Drake is certain to have a luxurious, expensive looking setting, for orchids are to be the decorations. This does not mean that the committee is spending any money on the flowers, for they are being donated by florists as their contribution to Arden Shore camp. The party is a dinner-dance starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. George Williamson, Mrs. Stanley O'Connell, Mrs. Arnold Kirkeby, and Mrs. Melvin Soles are among those who have planned cocktail parties to precede the ball. Mrs. Dwight H. Green is the benefit chairman, and Miss Beverly Roach is chairman of a group of debutantes who will sell flowers and cigarets.

The Esquire

"MY LOVE CAME BACK," a comedy which is best described as a romantic escapade, its story is swift, its mood gay and airy, yet liberal in chuckle inducing incident. It is briskly acted by a group of the screen's pleasant characters. Charles Winninger, playing a roue, is certain Olivia De Havilland's interest is not platonic, and his pursuit sends the plot spinning with harmless but amusing double entendre. You will particularly relish the handling of the musical portions.

Good Morning!

"What are you laughing about?" asks Mr. Ralph Bellamy of Miss Maureen O'Hara, who has been—WEEPING—on his shoulder. . . . And she tells him she's been laughing because it all COULD have been so simple. . . .

Well—life is like that. We think we know so well what other people are thinking about and what SHOULD be our reactions and our words. . . . And so, often we push some of the best things in life away from us. If we ever get a chance at them again—we're lucky. . . . "Easy does it" is a right smart phrase and I don't know of a better one to start the day with.

If Judy O'Brien, dancer, hadn't been so sure on that rainy day that the nice man with the umbrella was being fresh, all of the following wouldn't have happened to her:

She wouldn't have got wet. . . . She wouldn't have been forced to accept a distasteful job in a burlesque house as stooge to the big attraction—one "Tiger Lily White." . . . She wouldn't have burned her fingers in a divorce scandal fire. . . . She wouldn't have got in a fight, landed in the night court or a lot of other things. BECAUSE——

The man with the umbrella was Steve Adams, dance producer, whom she had been trying to see for some time without success. . . .

The above couple of paragraphs give you an idea of this movie's story—and an idea's all you really should ever have about a film before you see it if you're to enjoy it properly.

"Dance, Girl, Dance" is interesting and different. It has lots of dancing, both high and low class, with Maureen scaling the heights as it were and Lucille Ball nittily impersonating a lowbrow terpsichore. . . . But you've heard, haven't you, how Judy O'Grady and the Colonel's lady are allee samee under the skin . . . ? Keep your eyes open then for the moment when the straw breaks the camel's back—i. e., when one Bubbles at last proves to much for one Judy . . . ! The fight in "Carmen" is tame compared to what you see THEN. . . .

The two so different maidens are excellently played by Maureen and Lucille. Supporting players are able and alert. Staging is tops and direction was comprehending.

["Easy does it." Don't forget!]

Co-Eds' Stoop Shoulders Attributed to Depression

Cleveland, O., Oct. 4 (AP).—The weight of uncertain economic conditions has contributed to the stoop of college girls' shoulders, the National Recreation congress was told today. Miss Helen Barr, physical education director at Denison university, Granville, O., said stoop-shouldered Sue's droop is not due entirely to neglect of physical training or the once popular debutante slouch, but rather to a sense of defeat due to current economic conditions.

It's a nice commentary on the American way of life, we think, that more and more women and men too are constantly on the hunt for good grooming aids, especially those preparations that serve the good cause of fastidiousness.

It's necessary for the user to understand that it's asking a great deal of a product to give absolute protection against perspiration odor at all times and under all circumstances.

In addition to the stronger preparations it's a good rule to keep a deodorant powder handy for those unforeseen circumstances when perspiration odor might present itself unexpectedly.

One of the beauty houses has just such a product; it's a fine, white powder with a light, refreshing perfume. This is packaged just as talc would be, in a alim tin with a shaker top. Until you've used a product like this you've no idea how helpful it is in keeping to your grooming program. It's very much a product for the desk drawer. Use it when you freshen up during the day. It's very pleasant—and you know that it will bolster your sense of well being and your poise because it's surprisingly effective. It's to be used as often as necessary.

If you have lots of parties and like new ideas for savory appetizers, perhaps this is just the book for you. It's called "Hors D'oeuvre and Canapes," and was written by James Beard. Publisher, M. Barrows & Co.; price, $1.75.

The book tells you how to obtain professional looking appetizers for cocktail parties and first courses. Altho the ordinary household does not possess all of the utensils recommended for making these tasties, rotary chopper, pastry tubes, mortar and pestle, various cutters, shredders, and graters, these are, after all, unnecessary for the most part. For an inventive man or woman cook can make most of these tidbits without them.

The hostess who likes to play around with wines in her cooking will want to own a new "Wine Lover's Cookbook," by Jeanne Owen, also published by Barrows, and also priced at $1.75. Some of these recipes for cooking winey dishes are surprisingly simple; others are most elaborate. Among them are to be found elegancies such as goose liver in champagne jelly, Roast Duck Provençal, Pheasant Normandy.

"Smooth, rhythmical, thoro kneading is one of the most important steps in making excellent yeast rolls and breads of all kinds," says the foods director of the Wheat Flour institute.

Whether the dough is kneaded with palms, knuckles, or in a mechanical mixer matters little, but the dough must have been kneaded sufficiently to be smooth, resilient, and nonsticky. It may be soft, but it needn't be sticky, even so. Rich doughs which contain eggs, as well as more sugar and shortening than usual, take longer kneading than plain doughs. When they have been kneaded enough, they look blistered under the surface.

Try cutting "doughnut buns" from your yeast dough sometime, using the doughnut cutter, of course. Glaze or frost them, if they are made from a sweet mixture. Use the "holes," those little balls of dough left by the cutter, to make cloverleaf rolls. Press them together by threes, dip in melted butter, and place in muffin cups for the final rising.

Three Children's Patterns

CHILDREN'S ATTIRE AND DOLLS.

The three patterns today will delight youngsters. One makes a variety of dolls, another either a coat or a dress, and the third a poke bonnet. These are simple designs to use and require a minimum of material.

Style No. 3462 is designed for sizes 2, 4 and 6. Size 4 requires 1½ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅜ yard of contrasting for dress; 1¼ yards of 54 inch for coat.

Style No. 2812 is designed for sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10, and 10, 20, 20½, 21, and 22¼ inches head size.

Style No. 3495 is designed for 14, 16, 18, and 20 inch dolls. Includes sailor dress, aviator costume, and nurse outfit.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Today being Saturday, the self-rating bridge examination is on vacation. Examinees will therefore have the chance to review their answers to the week's questions and possibly change their minds about a couple. This may be particularly helpful in those cases in which readers have decided to send their answers to me for grading. Remember, if you do this, put your answers to questions 1 to 5 in one envelope, addressed to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper, and mail no later than 5 p. m. tomorrow (Sunday). Be careful to label each answer according to the question number and to print your name and address carefully. Do not send me a copy or a clipping of the question itself. The number is sufficient.

The official answers will begin appearing in this column next Monday. Here's hoping that every one earns a master, or an expert, or at least an advanced player ranking!

Today's Hand

A certain player of my acquaintance has gone around for a week concealing his cards under his vest as soon as he has finished looking at them. The reason for this strange habit lies in this hand, played against him recently in a rubber bridge game.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 spades	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
6 spades [1]	Pass	7 hearts	Double [2]
Pass	Pass	Pass

[1] A very bad bid induced by greediness for honors.

[2] Tempting, but not good.

West opened the ten of clubs, dummy played the jack, and East delightedly put up the queen. Declarer took a long time to study the situation. All he could win by setting up his own hand was four heart tricks, five spades, and one diamond. His only hope of making the contract was to trump three clubs in his own hand and draw trumps from the dummy, subsequently taking the five spades and the diamond. The dummy would need three entries, two for club ruffs and one to draw the last trump. The king of spades furnished one entry and a trump furnished another, but the third was difficult to find. At last South saw a possibility. He ruffed the first club lead with the king and led the small spade. West played the deuce and dummy finessed the eight spot. When this held the trick West leaned back in his seat and put his cards in his pocket. The rest of the hand proceeded as planned and West has not been the same since.

A second club was ruffed in declarer's hand, another spade led to the king, the third club ruffed with the ace, and the last trump led to dummy, after which the hearts, the rest of the spades, and the ace of diamonds furnished a total of 13 tricks.

It is often possible to build a small home of used brick, and then blot out the evidence of any "past" by attractive new paint. . . . White paint on brick will reflect light and make the house seem larger. . . . Besides this, proper paint, properly applied, will act as a water-repellent on the brick.

October Now Rivals June as Brides' Month

October seems to be as popular with brides as June, judging from the number of weddings on today's calendar. One of the prettiest of today's brides will be Miss Maryanne Peters, who is being married to Robert Gillett White at 4 o'clock in Trinity Episcopal church, Highland Park. The wedding will be small, with only the families and a few close friends to hear the Rev. Robert Holmes read the service. A small reception will follow at the Highland Park home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ernest Peters.

No previous announcement had been made of the engagement of Miss Peters, who attended the Stoneleigh school at Rye Beach, N. H., and the Goodman theater school, to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold White of Milwaukee, formerly of Highland Park. Mr. White is a graduate of Dartmouth college and received his master's degree from Rochester university.

A number of weddings of interest here are taking place out of town today. Miss Barbara Dobson, daughter of the Fulton L. Dobsons of Downingtown, Pa., and Charles James Anstrand Jr., son of Mrs. Anstrand and the late Mr. Anstrand of Chicago, are being married at the Dobson home. Arthur Ringlon Jr. will be best man. Mr. Anstrand and his bride will make their home here.

Miss Jean Engh, daughter of the Harold V. Enghs of Sycamore, Ill., and Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y., and Lieut. Richard Gordon Lycan, son of the Julius S. Lycans of Pullman, Wash., will be married in Irvington. Miss Barbara Engh, who was color girl at Annapolis last June, will be her sister's maid of honor. Lieut. Engh is with the United States air corps. The wedding will be a military ceremony.

At 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Glencoe Union church Miss Gertrude Schnur, daughter of the William V. Schnurs of Glencoe and Deerfield, and Arthur D. Bradbury, son of the C. C. Bradburys of Glencoe, will be married. The Rev. Douglas H. Cornell will officiate, and a reception will follow at the Skokie Country club. The bride will have seven attendants, including the bridegroom's sister, Miss Dorothy Anne Bradbury. Wilbury Bradbury will be best man, and among the ushers will be the bride's brother, Gerry Schnur, and Robert Bradbury, a student at Cornell.

Miss Jean Braden, daughter of the Edwin Stuart Bradens of Evanston, will become the bride of Robert Powell Atkins II of Kansas City, Mo., at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the chapel of the First Methodist church of Evanston, with a reception following at the Shawnee Country club. After a wedding trip south Mr. Atkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Atkins of Forest Home, Ala., and his bride will be at home in Kansas City. Their wedding attendants will include the bride's cousin, Mrs. Harry S. Chinberg, the bridegroom's brother, Herbert Atkins of Mobile, Ala., and Dr. Edwin S. Braden Jr.

Miss Sallie G. Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Steele of Omaha, Neb., and Thomas S. Noble III, son of Dr. and Mrs. Noble of Chicago, will be married at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the rectory of St. Cecilia's church with a reception following at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Noble and his bride will reside in Chicago. Miss Steele attended the University of Minnesota and her fiancé was graduated from St. John's Military academy.

The marriage of Miss Aldridge Ballard, daughter of Mrs. Margaret A. Ballard of 5727 Winthrop avenue, and Dr. Edgar W. Swanson will take place today with a reception following at the Lake Shore club. Dr. Swanson is secretary of the faculty of the Northwestern university dental school and is the retiring national president of the Northwestern University Alumni association.

Miss Beatrice Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Fox, 2609 Windsor avenue, and Dr. Louis Arthur Friedrich, son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Henry Friedrich of 635 Briar place, will be married at 10:30 o'clock this morning in Queen of Angels church. The Paulist choir will sing.

The marriage of Miss Ruth Goldman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Goldman of Detroit, to William Henry Klein of Wilmette, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Klein, will take place tomorrow at the Lee Plaza in Detroit. Miss Goldman attended the University of Michigan Law school from which her fiancé was graduated.

Miss Helen Marjorie Rosenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel L. Rosenberg of 939 Hyde Park boulevard, will become the bride of Richard H. Rubens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rubens of 5000 East End avenue, tomorrow. The ceremony will take place at noon at the Windermere East hotel. Mr. Rubens and his bride will be at home on the near north side.

Saturday, Oct. 5.

Favorable vibrations today for minor matters related to career, relations with superiors and in the home. Also good for moving about and dealing with the opposite sex in small ways. But don't lean on long distance items with full weight.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead until next birthday is very emotional, coming to certain climaxes. Seek further training, education; push for more opportunity from June 22 on. Danger: Oct. 11-30, March 1-8, July 8-27, and from Sept. 23, 1941.

Tomorrow.

Do you want an individual interpretation for your own personal date? Send 10c for your 1941 horoscope (or 5c for balance of 1940 horoscope—15c for both) to WYNN, Tribune Astrologer, 286 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, date of birth, and address.

Knitted Twin Sweaters

BY JEAN MacDONALD.

This lovely knitted twin sweater set is ideal for active and spectator sports, and for town and country wear with tweeds or plaids. In fact, a set of this type is indispensable and, best of all, it is easy to knit. The sleeves may be knitted long and worn short. Directions are available in 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements.

For instructions in knitting the twin sweater set, No. 831, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Past Babyhood, Child Asserts Personality

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Look at your little girl of two. Does it seem possible that only 24 months ago she came into this world, a little snuggled-up bundle, uncoördinated in arms and legs and head, unable even to focus her eyes, unable to walk and talk and laugh and sing?

Look at her now! How incredibly rapid has been, not just her growth, but her development. It is a good thing for parents to let the realization of this sink in once in a while, because it will prepare us a little for what is ahead. And what is ahead is change.

Some of the changes will not be so rapid. Some of them will be in different directions, but there will be changes. Our very little children will not stay the same. Often it is expecting them to do so which accounts for much of the trouble mothers have in managing their small boys and girls. This I believe accounts for the difficulty described in the following letter.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"My little girl is 2½ years old, and altho she is a very bright child and has a cheerful, sunny disposition, she has recently acquired the habit of ignoring me when I tell her to do something. It isn't that she doesn't hear me when I speak to her, it's just that she seems to want to assert her independence. And so she purposely refuses to answer me, until I have asked her a question three or four times. And only when I threaten to spank her, does she do as I say. And I don't want to spank her for it, so I am puzzled as to the correct way of handling this situation."

What is the best way to handle this situation?

Of course, give up the spankings or the threats to spank.

Then try letting small daughter alone as much as possible. That is, try to direct and command her as little as possible. She is indeed trying gradually to become the independent young person nature eventually intends her to be.

When it is necessary to ask something that must be done, first gain her attention. Then, in an entirely cheerful friendly manner, make your request or statement, but make it in a quietly assured voice which expects no refusal.

Sunday Evening Club Opens 34th Season Tomorrow Night

The Sunday Evening club will open its 34th season tomorrow night at Orchestra hall. Clifford W. Barnes, founder, will preside and introduce the speaker, Dr. C. Lloyd Douglas, author of "Magnificent Obsession," at the 8 o'clock meeting.

The preliminary meeting, an hour earlier, will be informal with the Apollo club, directed by Edgar Nelson, singing excerpts from Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah." There will be gospel songs in which the audience will join, and numbers by the club's quartet with Edna Thompson as guest soprano.

The Sunday Evening club was organized to meet the devotional needs of the city resulting from the shift of churches from downtown and of visitors in the loop hotels. It is supported by voluntary contributions. During the last summer the trustees sought to broaden the basis of support by increasing the number of sustaining memberships, and the club's officers are seeking adequate endowment to safeguard the club's future.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 4.—Manager William McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds, now painfully aware of the miscarriage of his hunch that 34 year old Jim Turner could halt the Tiger power, will go back to the orthodox pitching dope tomorrow and start 22 year old Junior Thompson in the fourth game of the world series. With his Tigers leading the series, two games to one, as a result of today's 7 to 4 victory, it is Manager Del Baker's turn to try the hunch stuff. He will start Paul (Dizzy) Trout, winner of three and loser of seven this season.

The Detroit fans, who had chilled to a less than capacity turnout over yesterday's three-hit defeat at the hands of Bucky Walters, seemed pepped up over the blossoming of the famed Detroit bludgeoning today and full houses are expected tomorrow and Sunday, especially if the perfect weather which has blessed the series so far holds out. Tomorrow's game is the last in which the players share in the receipts.

The Siege Guns Blast.

This afternoon's third series game was two-thirds pitchers' battle and one-third slugging bee, and the hybrid performance pleased the majority of the 52,977 who paid to see it. This was because it was a Detroit crowd and the vaunted Tiger power boys finally wheeled into action for a really smashing victory.

For six innings two skilled curvers who were born in Tennessee in 1906—Tommy Bridges and Turner—engaged in a redhot duel. In those half dozen innings each held down production to one run and four hits.

As might be expected of two gents who were born in Tennessee or anywhere else as long ago as 1906, both Bridges and Turner tired perceptibly. If the pitchers weren't tired, the batters decided at the start of the Tiger seventh that they should be and teed off. That's when the show ceased to be a pitchers' duel.

Hank Greenberg, who started the five run rally in the second inning of the first game in Cincinnati, instigated the downfall of Turner and the Reds today. Previous to the seventh he had struck out and he had hit into a double play as the tying run got home in the fourth inning. He opened the seventh with a single to center, the fourth Detroit hit. He got home on a homer by Rudy York. The act met a wild response from the Detroit garbage school of baseball appreciation, the many members of which showered the outfield with the truck they had brought to assault visitors in case the opportunity arose.

After the field had been cleared

Lee not only turned back his foes with a five-hit performance before 4,789 spectators, but slipped thru the entire battle almost without being subjected to undue pressure.

John Has Some Trouble.

Rigney didn't enjoy a perfect inning until the eighth, his final appearance. Three runs recorded during the term had a slight taint, however, altho two were accepted as earned by the official scorers. The taint was put on the Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 4.—A kid who has coached 538 games in his lifetime against the 398 played by his opponents' team in its entire history.

That is the prior record for tomorrow's football game between Amos Alonzo Stagg's College of the Pacific eleven and Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, which is expected to attract approximately 30,001 citizens and 999 Hollywood celebrities to Notre Dame stadium at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Remember, Maroons?

The Stagg boy, a spry lad of 78 vigorous autumns, has warmed up for the battle by having devoted more than 40 years of his life to coaching elevens at the University of Chicago, the same school which clipped the old man as well as hundreds of his former pupils by its abolition of football last December. Tonight, in Chicago's Windermere Hotel West, Mr. Stagg and scores of those one time students all members of the order of the C, gathered for a reunion.

Tonight, with all of the trappings you might expect to find in a Hollywood première at Grauman's Chinese or the Cathay Circle, "Knute Rockne—All American," the motion picture story of Rockne's life, was presented in four South Bend theaters before an aggregate of 8,000 guests. Bonnie Skiles Rockne, Pat O'Brien, Ronald Reagan, Donald Crisp, and others dashed from one theater to another to make personal appearances with convoys of motorcycle police.

Irish Are Powerful.

Meanwhile Stagg was working out on the field named for him, the same soil where Hershberger, Eckersall, Steffen, and McCarty made Stagg coached teams among the best in the land. Stagg has headed College of Pacific football since 1933.

There have been considerable ice box league discussions about the potency of such teams as Washington, Ohio State, Minnesota, and Michigan, but a day in these parts reveals an undercurrent of confidence about Notre Dame which bodes no pleasant afternoons for the nine Irish opponents, including Kid Stagg's team.

Reason for this feeling that 1940 may produce one of the school's best seasons lies not so much in the line as in the back field. The Irish felt the loss of Steve Sitko at quarter back no end, but the folks around here will tell you that Bob Hargrave, his successor, will do right well. They also like the manner in which Steve Juzwik, who got his start at De Paul academy in Chicago, deports himself. And they figure the other 50 per cent of the ball carrying quartet will pass in most quarters, same being Capt. Milt Piepul at full back and speedy Bob Saggau at left half.

Missouri Travels East to Battle Pittsburgh

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4.—There is some danger that the White Sox will obtain title to Jeff Heath, who was one of Cleveland's rebels even before the revolution. . . . Jimmie Dykes says he would like to have him and thinks he can curb his notoriously ornery nature. . . . Don Hutson has scored 41 touchdowns and kicked 10 extra points in as many attempts against National league competition since joining the Green Bay Packers in 1935. . . . As baseball magnates what did the late William Wrigley Jr. and the late Charles A. Stoneham have that their sons, Phil K. and Horace, don't have? . . . Besides good ball clubs, we mean. . . . The answer is baseball luck. . . . Because other coaches have decided that his Nebraska Cornhuskers are shoo-ins for the Big Six conference football title, Biff Jones quotes John Milton as follows: "Praise from the enemy smelleth of craft." . . . Hampton Pool, the Chicago Bears' rookie end, went to West Point and the University of California before becoming a star at Stanford. . . . Lou Kolls, American league umpire, and George Magerkurth of the National league staff have been idolized for years as tough guys fistically in the Tri-Cities. . . . Lou lives in Rock Island and George in Moline. . . . However, Kolls is worrying about the coming winter. . . . Says he: "I just hope those pictures showing George on the ground after being bowled over by that truck driver in Brooklyn didn't penetrate to Moline." . . . Southern California has the lightest running guard in Howard Jones' 16 year régime in 179 pound Floyd Phillips. . . . But the Trojans make up for this by having their heaviest standing guard in several years in 226 pound Ben Sohn. . . . Sohn's chief assignment as right guard is to fill in for Phillips when the left guard pulls out of the line to lead the interference. . . .

Frank McCormick, athletic director at Minnesota, thinks Jimmy Phelan's Washington Huskies have a good chance to go somewhere in Pacific Coast football this fall. . . . Clint Brown of the White Sox has been reading how precious are oil and gas in war times, but he has sold 62 of 98 oil wells he owned a year ago and expects to peddle the other 36 at an early date. . . . In case you are interested, they are producing wells and not dream wells like the slickers, very oily slickers, sell to trusting suckers. . . . Abe Attell, the old featherweight champion, has opened a tavern in Manhattan. . . . This probably is no time to irritate Harry Stuhldreher, but five members of the Mississippi football squad are from Wisconsin. . . . Al Milnar, Indian southpaw, was born in Cleveland, went to school there, and learned his baseball on the city's sandlots. . . . The Associated Press has so many men covering the world series it is well nigh impossible to force one's way thru Cincinnati and Detroit hotel lobbies. . . . Headline in Los Angeles Times: "Padres Wallop Angels." . . . Sounds like trouble in Paradise.

When the smiles that they wear as they mix with the crowd
Show that each one is pleased with the other, and proud
It's a heart-gripping sight—it's inspiring and fine
To know that in life they are bucking the line—
A lad and his dad together.

But he likes to depend on a fellow who shares
And he feels mighty pleased at the chance to confide

It merits distinction and confidence when

Wary Purple Coach Honored by Syracuse

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 4.—Six thousand students of Syracuse university have declared tomorrow will be annual homecoming for alumni and friends of the Orange. Today Syracuse's honored guest, its most prominent alumnus athlete, Lynn Waldorf, brought Northwestern's football team to his alma mater to compete in tomorrow's intersectional game, high point in the week-end celebration.

The Northwestern invaders arrived shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon, more than an hour late. The players went immediately to the Onondaga hotel and after lunch advanced to Archbold stadium where they finished preparations. Syracuse relinquished the gridiron to the Wildcats and Coach Ossie Solem held the last practice for the Orange at a suburban overnight camp.

N. U. Line Is a Question.

It may be just as well for Northwestern that local celebrations were cleared from the calendar tonight since Waldorf is nearly as apprehensive of tomorrow's result as he was just before Oklahoma walloped the overrated Purple a year ago in the season's opener in Dyche stadium. Northwestern hasn't been overtouted this year for, despite the presence of two veteran back fields, the ability of the Northwestern line is in question.

So it was that on the eve of this friendly scrap, Syracuse students and alumni united in homecoming festivities in which Waldorf and his wife, an alumna of Syracuse, were central figures. Waldorf was a guest at the annual homecoming dinner, where he was welcomed by many of the men who played with him on Syracuse's great elevens in 1922, 1923, and 1924.

In Same Position.

Syracuse and Northwestern are approximately in the same position as this 1940 season opens. Each expects to be improved over last year, each has veteran backs, and each waits to test fully the power of its line.

In Don Clawson the Wildcats have a plunging back who is the peer of any Western conference full back. Red Hahnenstein, Tuffy Chambers, and Ike Kepford are ready for this strenuous season as is the veteran blocking quarter back, Dick Richards. In the group of other backs is Bill De Correvont, apparently recovered from an appendectomy undergone in July, who will play at least a portion of tomorrow's game.

Columbus, O., Oct. 4.—Ohio State's Big Nine championship football team, victorious over Pittsburgh in its only start this season, will make the first defense of its conference title against Purdue tomorrow afternoon before a crowd of 50,000.

The Buckeyes—big, powerful, and fast—demonstrated in their 30 to 7 triumph over Pittsburgh last Saturday that they are headed for another successful campaign. Purdue, with one of its lightest teams in recent years, gave a good account of itself in whipping Butler, 28 to 0, but Mal Elward still has no idea how his squad will perform under severe pressure.

Purdue Camps Out.

The Purdue boys paused in Columbus this morning only long enough for breakfast. They moved on to Magnetic Springs, 25 miles outside the city walls, where they will remain until time to leave for the stadium tomorrow.

"We're in excellent condition for our opening conference game," Elward told reporters. "I'm not worried about Ohio State's marked advantage in weight. Our line averages about 189 pounds and that's good enough for me. A man uses only so much weight effectively."

Coach Francis Schmidt expects to have two reserves in the starting lineup for Ohio State. Jim Straubaugh, who was injured in an intrasquad game a few weeks ago, can play at left half back, if occasion demands, but Schmidt prefers to give him another week of rest and plans to start Dick Fisher, a junior, who turned in a satisfactory performance against Pitt. Thornton Dixon will be at left tackle instead of Jim Daniell.

Galvin Dangerous Kicker.

If Johnny Galvin, former Chicago prep who plays left half back for Purdue, is as accurate with his kicks tomorrow as he was against Butler a week ago, Ohio will have no walkaway. He repeatedly zoomed the ball out of bounds around the 10 yard line. No opponent can afford to relax against Purdue as long as Mike Byelene, right half back, is enjoying good health. He's a game-busting runner who has annoyed conference rivals no end the last two years.

Detroit Eleven Defeats Catholic University, 13-0

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 4 (AP).—The toe of Peter Sachen, 168 pound quarter back, saved Catholic University for two quarters, but the power of the University of Detroit's line and backs ultimately proved too much and the Titan eleven won, 13 to 0, before 19,352 in the University of Detroit stadium tonight.

BY HOWARD BARRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 4.—University of Michigan football fans have seen by the papers that they have a pretty good team—but they're curbing their enthusiasm till they see for themselves. They'll get a chance tomorrow. Fortified with the confidence gained in last week's 41 to 0 victory over California, the Wolverines will meet Michigan State here in the 36th game of a venerable series.

The boys on the Ann Arbor campus have been showing admirable restraint in refusing to get prematurely high on their team's chances. You could hardly blame them for a bit of strutting after Tom Harmon's four touchdowns on the Pacific coast last Saturday. It's a safe bet, however, that if Harmon gets loose tomorrow for several of his 75 yard runs, the campus self control will crack wide open and all Ann Arbor will be football crazy once again.

Seeks Back Field Substitutes.

The game will give Coach Fritz Crisler a chance to continue his quest for good back field material. In addition to Harmon, Michigan may rely with confidence on Forest Evashevski at quarter back and Bob Westfall at full back. An injury to any one of these three, however, would be a serious blow to the Wolverines' chances in the struggle for the Western conference championship.

Michigan also needs a first rate player to occupy the fourth starting position in the back field. Norman Call, Bob Krejsa, and Dave Nelson are now engaged in a battle for this assignment. Krejsa is a sophomore who may develop with more experience. Nelson has a lot of speed, but isn't quite as big as might be desired. Carl has a bad ankle, so Krejsa and Nelson will share the position tomorrow.

Davis Leads Spartans.

Michigan State's offense is built around Wyman Davis, a solidly built 180 pound six footer, who is the Spartans' nearest approach to a triple threat man. His passing is expected to be more dangerous this year because reports have it that his marksmanship has improved considerably.

The Michigan State line is expected to make a powerful stand against the Wolverines. The wall averages 195 pounds and Coach Charles Bachman has plenty of good reserves.

PITTSBURGHER FLOORS HENRY IN FINAL ROUND

Robinson Wins in Pro Debut.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Fritzie Zivic beat Henry Armstrong [15] [title bout]; Ray Robinson stopped Joe Echevarria [2]; Al Bernard beat Jackie Donavan [6]; Joe Bonnetti beat Curley Stangelo [6]; Jake Kogan beat Pete Scalzo [6].

New York, Oct. 4 [Special].—Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, member of a famous fighting family, defeated busy little Henry Armstrong in a 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight to take the world's welterweight championship Henry had held since defeating Barney Ross of Chicago in 1938. The crowd of 12,082 contributed a gross gate of $29,212. Arthur Donavan was the referee and the judges were John Potter and Marty Monroe.

Zivic Takes Early Lead.

Zivic was the aggressor at the outset and had a clear margin in the first round. The Pittsburgher also was superior to the champion in the sixth, tenth, and twelfth rounds, and held Henry even in the seventh. In the other rounds, altho not displaying his usual whirlwind style of attack, Armstrong managed to score thru his more polished ring generalship.

Henry began to tire noticeably in the 13th and 14th rounds and Zivic, who seemed to be in the better condition of the two, used his left jab to pile up points. Just before the bell ended the bout, Fritzie sent Armstrong down for no count with a flurry of lefts and rights to the head.

Both of Henry's eyes were closed at the finish.

Decision Is Unanimous.

Despite Zivic's fast pace thru the last half of the bout, he held no very wide margin. The decision was unanimous, with the referee and both judges each giving him eight rounds.

The 27 year old Zivic, unmarked, revealed later that he knew from the 10th round on he "would win."

"I heard him start puffing then, and I knew dead sure it was all mine," said Fritz.

Ray Robinson, New York and Intercity Golden Gloves champion, made a successful professional debut when he flattened Joe Echevarria of Puerto Rico in the second round of a scheduled four round bout. Ray dropped Joe for counts of eight with a right and then a left in the first round and then had him down twice again in the second before Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the contest.

INVITE WINNER TO CHICAGO.

Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission and president of the National Boxing association, last night invited Fritzie Zivic to defend his newly won welterweight championship against Milt Aron in Chicago this winter. Aron knocked out Zivic in the eighth round in the Coliseum last Dec. 27. Pittsburgh promoters likely will arrange a rematch between Armstrong and Zivic, but Triner doesn't believe Armstrong's showing last night warrants an encore. Immediately after the fight the N. B. A. president sent Zivic a wire of congratulations. The message follows:

"As president of the N. B. A. I greet you as the new welterweight champion of the world with full confidence you will be a credit to the game."

HOOSIERS GET 1ST TEST TODAY AGAINST TEXAS

Improved Indiana Eleven Faces Longhorns.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 4 [Special].—Indiana's 1940 football team, generally rated as improved over last season, will receive its first test tomorrow afternoon in an intersectional clash with Texas.

The Southwestern conference team, headed by Jack Crain, who scored eight touchdowns last season in his sophomore year, is more of a known quantity than the Hoosiers by virtue of its 39 to 7 victory over Colorado last week. Indiana will pit the passing of Hal Hursh against the broken field running of Crain. Lineups:

GOPHERS FACE HUSKERS

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 4 [Special].—The Nebraska football squad, 37 strong and accompanied by rain, rolled into Minneapolis today, ready for its battle tomorrow with Minnesota. Coach Biff Jones showed concern about the weather, indicating he prefers a fast field for the open play and quick reverses of his powerful eleven. As he spoke the rain stopped, making cloudy and cooler weather the prospect for game time. Lineups:

SOUTH DAKOTA AT IOWA

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 4 [Special].—A wide open attack will be used against South Dakota university here tomorrow as Iowa opens its football season.

Forty-eight men will be in uniform, more than half of them sophomores with whom Coach Eddie Anderson is expected to experiment.

In the starting lineup are two sophomores and nine veterans who have won letters. Wilford Burkett has been named to start at right end and Bill Stauss to the important half back position.

Santa Clara Wins, 9-6, on Place Kick in Last Period

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 4 [Special].—Santa Clara defeated the University of California at Los Anegels tonight, 9 to 6, in the Los Angeles Memorial coliseum. Santa Clara flashed a brilliant half back in 187 pound Jimmy Johnson, whose 26 yard pass in the first period and place kick from the 8 yard line in the fourth period accounted for the Santa Clara scores.

Lane Defeats Sullivan, 19-0; Tilden Wins

Lane Tech's football team scored its second straight victory in the north section of the Public High school league yesterday, defeating Sullivan, 19 to 0, in Winnemac park. Lothar Koenig, Slavek Baranowski and Warren Mraz scored for Lane Tech, Mraz on a fifty yard run. Lane led at the end of the first half, 12 to 0.

Tilden Tech also triumphed, whipping Phillips, 24 to 0, in Normal park. Tilden, which last week dropped its central division opener to Lindblom, scored all its points in the second half against Phillips. Al Stanlack led the attack with two touchdowns.

St. Patrick opened its campaign in the north division of the Catholic league by defeating Weber, 6 to 0, in St. Philip field. St. Patrick scored the winning touchdown in the third period, Tony Lach, full back, plunging over from the 2 yard line.

Calumet won from Hirsch, 12 to 7, in a south division game in the Public School league in Shewbridge field. In the other half of the double header Parker beat Harper, 13 to 12.

Reunion.

Within the tangled skein of life
There runs a golden thread
Among the blackened threads of strife,
And those that glow with red.

They bind us side by side,
When friendly hands clasp once again
And friendly hearts are wide.

May He who watches from a star
Grant this unto the end:
That we may meet from near and far

Cubs and Lee Beat Sox, 4-0; Square Series

three tallies by Luke Appling, who once failed to grab a throw from Mike Tresh and twice produced bad throws of his own. The other Cub run was unsullied, resulting from a pair of extra-base wallops while Clint Brown was finishing up for Rigney in the ninth.

The Cubs might have picked up more than a lone run in the third if they hadn't become confused. Hack led off with a single to center and immediately set out on a steal of second. Appling was caught off guard by the maneuver and by the time he got over to cover the bag he couldn't grab Tresh's good throw. Hack continued to third as the result of Appling's error. A pass to Warstler was the next happening. Nicholson sent a fly to Kreevich and Hack scored after the catch, but there was no further scoring.

Bonura knocked a single into left to open the fourth and it became a run. After taking the throw in from Solters, Appling, for some unknown reason, threw to Kuhel, who wasn't expecting the move. The throw went into the Cub dugout and Bonura was waved from first to third. He crossed the plate while Todd was being thrown out by Webb.

Rigney got along nicely in the fifth and sixth, being disturbed only by Nicholson's double with two gone in the fifth and Bonura's second single with one out in the sixth. But between three singles and Appling's third error in the seventh Rigney couldn't dodge another run. After Mattick had popped out, Lee singled to center and Hack slapped a single into right. Appling reached Warstler's bounder back of second but tossed wide trying to force Hack at second and by the time the ball was recovered Lee had scored.

ILLINOIS WILL MEET BRADLEY BEFORE 25,000

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 4 [Special].—Illinois will begin its season tomorrow against Bradley Tech before an estimated 25,000 in Memorial stadium. World war veterans, reserve officers, members of allied organizations, and Boy and Girl Scouts will attend.

Altho Bradley lost its opener to Western Kentucky, the team is reported to be as heavy, fast, and experienced as the one that held the Illini to a scoreless tie last year. Illinois seeks its seventh victory in the series.

Defense against Ken Olsen, star passer and kicker for the Peorians, has been stressed all week in drills. In an effort to improve back field pass defense and blocking, Coach Bob Zuppke has moved Paul Milosevich from left to right half. Ken Cheeley, sophomore center, and John Worban, left half, are the only sophomores in the Illinois lineup.

Other experiments in the Illinois lineup include George Bernhardt, who will start at full back after two years as a guard, and Dave Dillon, tackle, who won a letter last year at sub end.

100 points to judge a Champion Pointer—

But one point—TASTE—to pick the best of the Bourbons!
(1) Pointers may vary in a hundred ways; so it's hard to pick the champion. But bonded bourbons vary only in taste . . . so it's a cinch to pick the winner. Judges everywhere say, "It's Meadow Brook!"
(2) Every inch a gun dog, a champion pointer is full to the brim with energy and hunt. Another thoroughbred is Meadow Brook! A famous bonded bourbon, it surprises you with a superb flavor that stays rich down to the very last drop in your highball glass.
Says REUBEN CLARKE, famous dog judge, when asked how to pick the top bourbon—

FLAVOR, MISTER—THAT'S WHAT COUNTS! MEADOW BROOK'S TRUE BOURBON TASTE WON ME AT FIRST SIP!
(3) Pointers acquire the hunting instinct early—at an age that few dogs can match. "I've still to meet the bourbon," Judge Clarke remarks, "that can match Meadow Brook's superb taste and low price!"

LOMBARDI MAY BE LOST TO REDS FOR THE SERIES

Big Catcher Hits Double in First Appearance.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 4 (AP).—Ernie Lombardi, big catcher who was out of the Cincinnati lineup with an ankle injury for the first two games, got a nice round of applause from the crowd when his name was announced in the starting lineup for today's game with the Tigers. He responded by lifting a double into the right field corner to open the second inning. Whether Lombardi sees further service in the series is questionable—his ankle was severely swollen after the game.

Jim Turner turned in a neat pitching trick in the second inning, throwing seven successive strikes to Hank Greenberg, Rudy York, and Bruce Campbell. Hank looked a bit surprised when he swung at the third one. York watched a waist high curve go past for his third one. After Campbell took one strike, he watched a ball, then lined a double to left center for the first hit off Turner.

Despite a last minute attempt to unload at prices as low as $1 for a $6.60 ticket, scalpers were caught short with hundreds of world series tickets today.

Detroit's run, scored by Barney McCosky in the fourth, marked the second time in the series that Greenberg had hit into a double play and scored a runner from third.

Away Goes Mr. Turner.

This was all for the Cincinnati Tennessean. He was replaced by Lloyd [Whitey] Moore, who got the side out with some difficulty, his travail including a single by Dick Bartell and a double by Barney McCosky.

In the eighth it was the turn of the Detroit Tennessean to show fatigue. But, with a 5 to 1 lead, he had little reason to be perturbed over a run the Reds produced on their fifth, sixth and seventh hits.

Greenberg, now thoroly frisky, opened the eighth with a triple off Joe Beggs. York struck out, but Greenberg got home on Campbell's third hit and Bruce came in on Higgins' double. This eighth inning outbreak seemed highly unessential at the time, but when the Reds made two runs in the ninth, the Tigers doubtless were glad to have the padding.

Reds Open with a Run.

Bridges seemed neither surprised nor chagrined when Werber busted the first pitch for a double to left, a line drive that bounced against the 340 foot marker, six feet inside the foul pole. Mike McCormick failed in two attempts to bunt, then struck out, but Goldman lined a single to center. Werber scoring.

Lombardi's batting bow in the series, at the start of the second inning, took the form of a double to left. Ernie then nursed his sprained ankle at second while Joost was called out on strikes, Myers popped to Bartell and Turner flied to McCosky.

After the efforts of Frank McCormick, Ripple and Lombardi had been held to the infield in the fourth inning, the Tigers stepped out in their half and tied the score. McCosky opened with a single to center. It appeared that Frank McCormick should have handled Gehringer's grounder smash, but he didn't and it was a single into short right which put McCosky on third. Greenberg hit into a double play, started by Werber, McCosky scoring.

The Tigers Pounce.

Greenberg, first up in the seventh, ran the count to two balls and two strikes 'midst much fuming and snorting, fouled one, and then lined a single to center. York then took one ball, after which he busted his homer, a high one which came down in the lower deck of the left field stand after a flight of about 350 feet. After Hank and Rudy had trotted home Campbell stepped up and socked a single to right, whereupon Higgins lined the ball into the upper deck of the left field stands, scoring behind Campbell. Moore replaced Turner and retired the side without further scoring.

The Cincinnati eighth would have caused great excitement 15 minutes earlier but it was just routine exercise after the big Tiger seventh. Myers opened with a single to deep short and was forced by Lew Riggs, batting for Moore. Werber singled to left, Riggs stopping at second. Mike McCormick singled to center, Riggs scoring.

It's All in Fun.

Greenberg opened the eighth against Beggs with a triple to right center. York struck out but Campbell singled to center, scoring Greenberg, then panicked Mike McCormick into a wild throw by dashing for second. Higgins doubled to right, scoring Campbell. Higgins tried to score from second while Myers was throwing out Tebbetts but was doubled on Frank McCormick's relay to Baker, who had replaced Lombardi at the start of the inning.

The Reds helped their personal averages in the ninth. Ripple's single, Higgins' error on Baker's grounder, and singles by Joost and Werber produced two runs before Mike McCormick struck out.

CARDINALS FACE DETROIT TONIGHT ON LIONS' FIELD

Jimmy Conzelman and his Chicago Cardinals set out for Detroit yesterday to adjust a record that has been sadly neglected. In 12 National Football league starts against the Detroit Lions, the Cardinals have never won a game and tonight in the University of Detroit stadium they expect to deprive the Lions of whatever distinction that goes with being the only team the Chicagoans have never defeated.

Meanwhile the Chicago Bears, idle since the Cardinals slipped up on them, 21 to 7, in Comiskey park 10 days ago, move on to Cleveland today where tomorrow they meet the Rams.

Wisconsin and Marquette Are Feudin' Again

Madison, Wis., Oct. 4 [Special].—The annual football "battle of Wisconsin" will be fought in Camp Randall stadium tomorrow afternoon between a veteran Marquette team and a Badger eleven that is certain to include three sophomores, perhaps five, in the starting lineup.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher today still was undecided on who will start at left end and right tackle. The back field appeared set, however, with Tommy Farris at quarter, Mark Hoskins and Don Miller at the halves, and George Paskvan, who will be acting captain against Marquette, at full back. Hoskins is the only sophomore in this quartet.

Against this offensive Marquette will present a veteran back field that is well balanced with speed, passing, and the ability to drive thru and around the line or take to the air lanes. In Bill Phillips at quarter back, Jimmy Richardson and Johnny Goodyear at the halves, and Doug Renzel at full back, Coach Paddy Driscoll of the Hilltoppers has a quartet that carries plenty of power and deception.

Probable starting lineups:

WISCONSIN.		MARQUETTE.
Phillip	L. E.	Vosberg
Thornally	L. T.	Bryz
Gage	L. G.	Kamnitz
Ladewig	C.	[A. C.] Apolskis
Bambick	R. G.	Tunis
Tornow	R. T.	J. Felfer
Schreiner	R. E.	Sleaks
Farris	Q. B.	Phillips
Hoskins	L. H.	Richardson
Miller	R. H.	Goodyear
Paskvan [A. C.]	F. B.	Renzel

Broadcasts—WIBA, WIBU, WHA, Madison; WTMJ, WISN, Milwaukee.

Dietrich and Passeau Meet in Night Game

The fifth game of the city series will open at 8:15 tonight in Comiskey park, with Bill Dietrich pitching for the Sox and Claude Passeau for the Cubs.

Each club voted 31 full shares in the series split and the total for the first four games, which is the limit of player participation, was $32,762.39. This means a winning share will bring a check for $634.11 and a losers' share $422.74. Last year each winning Sox took home $698.66 and each losing Cub $513.95.

TRIBUNE SPORTS PHONE SERVICE SETS NEW RECORD

The Tribune's sports bulletin telephone service handled a record high of 135 calls a minute yesterday as world series and city series baseball fans flooded the switchboard with queries for inning by inning scores. From 12:30 p. m. to 4:30 call lights were ablaze on the 30 incoming trunk lines to The Tribune's bulletin equipment service where girls, working in 15 minute relays, gave the scores. A peak of 8,100 calls per hour was reached for a total of 32,000 by 4:30 p. m.

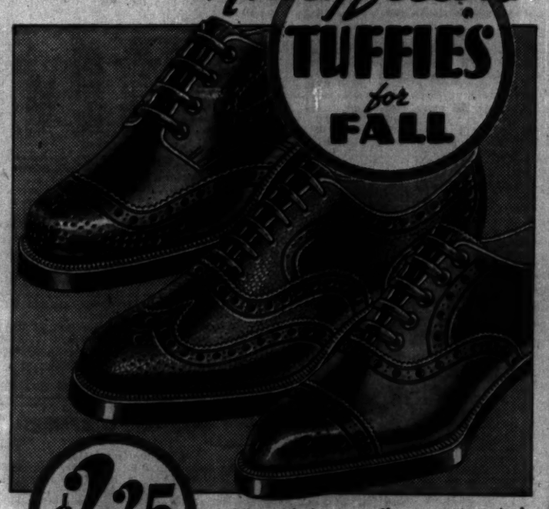
FATHER & SON Yungfellow's TUFFIES for FALL



$3.35

Awfully tough but very smart. Heavy English brogue types, built for rough going, but with all the swank and swagger of shoes that cost twice as much. Rugged grains and sturdy calfskins. Browns and blacks.

HAWTHORNE WILL END MEET WITH 2 FEATURES TODAY

Speed, Au Revoir Handicaps Top Closing Card.

Hawthorne closes its most successful meeting in several years today with a pair of feature events. The $2,500 added Speed handicap for 3 year olds at 6 furlongs will be supported by the Au Revoir handicap at 1 1-16th miles.

Seven of the best sprinters in the middle west have been named for the Speed handicap, with B. F. Masterson's Busy Morn assigned the top weight of 120 pounds. Talked About, Mrs. James F. Waters' colorbearer, which set a track record at 6½ furlongs last week, has been asked to carry 117 pounds, with T. B. McGrath's Kings Blue weighted at 111 pounds.

The Au Revoir for 3 year olds has attracted a field of eleven. M. B. Cohen's Comendador II. will share the top impost of 116 pounds with Kings Blue.

The Au Revoir field listed according to post position follows:

	Wt.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.

FENELON IN FIELD OF 16 ENTERED IN $50,000 HANDICAP

Your Chance, Shot Put Rivals at Belmont.

New York, Oct. 4 (AP).—A field of 16 horses is entered for tomorrow's first running of Belmont Park's 2¼ mile New York handicap, with $50,000 in added money. While William Woodward's Fenelon rates as the standout favorite, the rest of the field has just about every class of horse in it from distance running jumpers down to maiden flat runners.

Fenelon's chief threats figure to come from the 3 year old Your Chance, and the 4 year old Shot Put, which set an American record for 2¾ miles less than a month ago.

CHICAGO BANKS LENDING MOST SINCE 1937 PEAK

Call Reveals Gains Over Year Ago.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Chicago banks are lending more money to commercial borrowers than at any other time since the peak of the 1937 business upturn, it was disclosed in figures made public by the banks yesterday.

Each of the large downtown banks reported an increase in loans and discounts over the corresponding date last year and all except one showed an increase over the volume reported three months ago.

State banks issued statements of condition in response to a call by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. The controler of currency did not make a call for statements from national banks but the latter made public their figures voluntarily. Under the Illinois law the auditor must issue four calls a year. The controler of currency is required to request statements from the national banks only three times a year, altho usually the calls are issued every quarter. The regular national call also was omitted in October, 1936, prior to the national election in that year.

Loans Near 747 Million.

A tabulation of the figures reported showed that the aggregate loans and discounts of Chicago banks stood at $746,800,000 on Sept. 30. This was the highest level reached by Chicago bank loans since Sept. 28, 1937, when the total amounted to approximately $833,000,000. The 1937 peak was reached shortly before the swift decline in industrial and business activity got underway late in that year. At no time since has that level been reached.

An expansion of approximately 26 millions in loans and discounts has occurred since the last call date on June 29, 1940. The banks have been reporting moderate increases from week to week for the last two months, but bankers assert that the national defense program as yet has not resulted in a material increase in demand for commercial credit.

Many Firms Have Own Cash.

Industrial corporations in many instances have had substantial cash reserves to draw on before finding it necessary to go to the banks for loans. As the defense program gathers momentum, however, it is expected to result in employment of part of the large supply of idle funds which the banks are carrying.

Over the last 12 months loans and discounts have been rising gradually, but the rate of increase has been comparatively slow. The expansion for amounted to about 81 millions.

Banks' Comparisons.

Among the downtown banks the Continental Illinois National reported a rise in loans and discounts to $157,472,000 from $156,347,000 three months earlier. A year ago the Continental's total was $146,477,000. The First National bank had outstanding $273,898,000 in loans and discounts on Sept. 30, compared with $264,807,000 three months' earlier and $251,563,000 a year earlier.

The Harris Trust and Savings bank and the Northern Trust company each reported gains for the 3 month and 12 month periods. City National's total was down moderately from the June total, but above a year ago. American National and La Salle National reported increases.

GUARANTY TRUST FIGURES.

New York, Oct. 4 (AP).—Guaranty Trust company, the nation's third largest commercial bank, today reported that the total resources as of Sept. 30 declined to $2,584,742,898 from $2,600,724,025 at the end of June. Deposits amounted to $2,291,011,486, against $2,302,794,073 on June 30.

Excess Reserves of Federal Reserve Member Banks

Excess reserves are the funds held by member banks on deposit with the Federal Reserve Banks in excess of requirements fixed by law and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve system. Reserve requirements for banks at present are as follows, on demand deposits: In New York and Chicago, 22¾%; in reserve cities, 17½%; elsewhere, 12%. It is estimated that with present excess reserves, banks could increase their loans by about 33 billion dollars.

Ask 5 Millions from Packers in Wage Suits

Suits to recover an estimated $2,600,000 in overtime wages allegedly due employés of four packing companies and an equal amount in penalties were filed yesterday in federal court in Chicago by Arthur J. Goldberg, counsel for the Packinghouse Workers Organizing committee, a C. I. O. affiliate.

The suits named as defendants Wilson & Co., Armour & Co., Swift & Co., and the G. H. Hammond company, a Swift subsidiary. They were brought by 168 individuals on behalf of 78,000 workers similarly employed in the four companies thruout the United States.

Ask Million Each from Two.

Amounts sought are $1,000,000 from Armour by 102 employés on behalf of 5,500 in Chicago and 30,000 outside; $1,000,000 from Swift by 41 individuals on behalf of 5,000 in Chicago and 20,000 outside; $500,000 from Wilson by 19 workers on behalf of 2,500 here and 15,000 elsewhere, and $100,000 from Hammond by six complainants on behalf of 50 employés in Chicago.

The case hinges on an interpretation of the fair labor standards act which provides time and a half must be paid for all hours over 44 worked from Oct. 24, 1938, to Oct. 24, 1939, and for all hours over 42 from Oct. 24, 1939, to Oct. 24, 1940.

The "tolerance" clause, which allows 14 weeks a year exemption to the overtime requirements, provides the question involved in the suits.

Exemption Issue Involved.

Packers contend that all branches of the industry are included for the exemption. The wage and hour administration, however, according to Goldberg, has declared that only those employés actually engaged in the slaughtering come under the provision. The suits, following this view, assert that the law exempts only workers on the killing floors.

The Institute of American Meat Packers, which intervened for the industry, stated that its member companies have not been served and therefore do not know the particulars of the suits.

A suit filed last February by the wage and hour administration for an injunction to restrain Swift & Co. from allegedly violating the overtime provisions is pending before the federal court. This case is also based on the exemption interpretation.

Wheat Loan Sealings Rise to 177 Million Bushels

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4 (AP).—The Commodity Credit corporation announced today that 177,020,802 bushels of wheat valued at $126,496,000 were under 1940 crop loans Oct. 2. This compared with 123,458,341 bushels valued at $87,000,000 under loan on the corresponding date last year.

COST OF LIVING DROPS IN AUGUST, BUT TOPS 1939 BY 3.4 PER CENT

The cost of living among wage earners and lower salaried clerical workers in Chicago declined 0.7 per cent from July to August, but the August level was 3.4 per cent above a year earlier, according to the monthly survey of the conference board made public yesterday. Declines of 2 per cent in the cost of food, of 0.6 per cent in clothing and of 0.4 per cent in house furnishings were noted.

The only increase in prices during the month was recorded for fuel and light, which went up 0.8 per cent. Housing and sundries cost the same in August as in July.

The largest rise in any single budgetary item, compared with August, 1939, was 8.3 per cent in food.

The conference board reported that 35 cities had declines in living costs from July to August ranging up to 1 per cent, and 10 had increases up to 0.7 per cent.

SAILPLANE FIRM BEGINS WORK ON FIRST 10 UNITS

The Frankfort Sailplane company, which moved into its newly acquired plant at Joliet in July, began construction of its first 10 sailplanes this week, Stanley R. Corcoran, vice president and secretary, said yesterday.

Sales have been assured for all 10 of the craft, Corcoran said. Two sizes are scheduled for production eventually, but the 10 sailplanes now on order are of the smaller type. Known as the Cinema I, the smaller ship is a single seater with a wingspread of 46 feet and an overall length of 21 feet 6 inches. Prices will range around $950, depending on the cost of materials, which have been rising.

Additional machinery will be added soon in the factory for the assembly work, Corcoran said. A load test will be conducted next week on the experimental ship by the Civil Aeronautics authority, which already has approved the engineering of the sailplanes. Daily lessons are being given to 14 students in the gliding school which is conducted in conjunction with the factory.

Crown Cork Plans Big Debt Refunding Operation

New York, Oct. 4 (AP).—The Crown Cork and Seal company has notified preferred stock holders of its intention to issue up to $15,000,000 of 3½ per cent sinking fund debentures and up to $4,000,000 of serial notes with average interest rate of approximately 2½ per cent. Proceeds will be used to retire all currently outstanding sinking funded obligations. Holders of the preferred stock were asked to approve the financing or file objections before Oct. 28.

Threaten Law to End NLRB's Sway in Arms

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4 [Special].—Threats of legislation to outlaw "punitive" acts by the government against companies accused of violating labor laws were made in congress today. The development came in the wake of Attorney General Robert H. Jackson's ruling upholding the national defense advisory commission's policy of refusing contracts to corporations adjudged guilty by the National Labor Relations board of unfair labor practices.

Because of these threats, it was generally held that the billions of dollars already let in defense contracts would not be affected by the ruling. Jackson, in an informal opinion, said he did not believe contracts already entered into would be affected.

Fear Delay in Arms Program.

The same opinion was held generally on Capitol hill, but it did not minimize the concern of many members of congress, who held that in acceding to the pressure of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, the administration had created possibility of delay to the defense program.

In many cases, it was said, companies held guilty by the NLRB are the only ones which could produce certain defense material.

1. A threat by the Smith committee to investigate the NLRB.

2. A private assertion by an influential house member that unless the menace to speedy national defense appropriations is removed by the administration, a bill making impossible the withholding of defense contracts to companies violating the labor act would be introduced.

3. Denunciation in the house of Jackson's ruling.

Strike Action Deferred.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 4 (AP).—The C.I.O.'s steel workers' organizing committee today deferred strike action against Bethlehem Steel corporation, averting a tieup of work on almost $1,000,000,000 of contracts for army equipment and naval vessels.

However, at the conclusion of a meeting of SWOC chieftains called to consider a strike, the union announced it had asked Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem, to meet SWOC officers.

Strike Interrupts Arms Job.

Harrison, N. J., Oct. 4 [Special].—A strike of 150 crane operators today stopped work in several departments of the Crucible Steel corporation plant here where naval ordnance is being manufactured. The operators seek an increase of 10 cents over present hourly wage rates of 65½ to 67½ cents.

Discover 2 New Oil Pools in White, Wabash Counties

Mount Carmel, Ill., Oct. 4 (AP).—The discovery of two new oil producing areas in White and Wabash counties was announced today. In Wabash county the Hayes Drilling company began swabbing oil from the Benoist sand five miles northwest of Mount Carmel. The White county well, one mile west of Burnt Prairie, was producing 20 barrels an hour from the McClosky lime.

Study Proposal for FHA Aid on Loans to Small Plants

A proposal for the insurance of small industrial loans by the Federal Housing administration was discussed by the Mortgage Bankers Association of America at the closing meeting of its annual convention at the Drake hotel yesterday. The convention adjourned without taking formal action on the plan.

Dean R. Hill, new president of association.

Byron T. Shutz, retiring president, said the proposal offered possibilities which should be considered by the members. Shutz was succeeded as president by Dean R. Hill of Buffalo, N. Y. Frederick P. Champ of Logan, Utah, was elected vice president.

Would Cover Small Factories.

Shutz said the industrial loan plan woud mean the extension of FHA insurance to small nonspecialized factory buildings. At present FHA insurance is limited to loans for construction of residences and certain types of apartment buildings, and for home repair work. He said that under the plan suggested, loans up to $500,000 might be insured. Actual lending woud remain in the hands of private interests as under the present FHA system.

"It is the small business man and the owner of the small factory who have suffered most from the inactivity of the new capital markets," Shutz said. "Large well known companies can finance easily, but small industries find it difficult. They do not have adequate cash balances, and increased production means increased demand for cash."

Warned on Financing.

Edwin W. Craig, executive vice president of the National Life and Accident Insurance company, Nashville, told the mortgage bankers that too many people are now building houses on a shoestring.

"This is not as it should be," he said. "The mortgage is an honorable transaction because it enables men to become owners of homes. But it is no secret to any one in any way connected with the mortgage loan business that too many of these houses are being built without money."

Myers Y. Cooper, president of the National Conference of Real Estate Taxpayers and former governor of Ohio, said that America has the most "cumbersome, ridiculous and antiquated tax system in the world."

BUSINESS BOOKS

"The Search for Financial Security," by Robert B. Warren. [The Columbia University Press, Morningside Heights, N. Y. $1.25.]

This is one of five books resulting from a series of lectures on the economics of public policy given during the 1940 summer session of Columbia university. Prof. Warren, in explaining our present money system, sees no reason why the depressions or failures of the past should create or increase pessimism in the present.

He says that our continental currency was among the world's worst systems but it financed the American revolution. He says our system of wildcat banking was, if possible, worse, but if the development of the west had waited for a better one, our frontier might still be the Mississippi.

He writes of the monetary defenses in our money and banking system that have been built to cope with financial dangers that have beset us in the past, but he does not encourage the belief that the defenses in our present system will necessarily prove adequate against future economic and financial dangers.

BIG MAIL ORDER HOUSES REPORT RECORD SALES

Montgomery Ward, Sears Set Peaks.

Montgomery Ward & Co., and Sears, Roebuck & Co., world's largest mail order concerns, with offices in Chicago, yesterday reported the largest September sales in their histories. Both companies also said that sales for the first eight months of their current fiscal years set new records.

Montgomery Ward & Co. reported its September business was the best for any month so far this year. Sales totaled $45,971,673, an increase of 2.7 per cent, or $1,228,906 over the $44,742,767 of the corresponding month in 1939.

Up 8.9 Per Cent for Eight Months.

Eight months' sales, larger than in any corresponding eight months' period in the company's history, aggregated $330,113,607. This was an increase of over $27,000,000, or 8.9 per cent, over last year, when the period's sales totaled $303,106,311.

Montgomery Ward officials attributed the record sales to improvements in merchandise quality, increased sales effort, the addition of new stores, and to an improved mail order catalog. They said the comparatively small increase in sales in September over the 1939 month probably resulted from September of last year having five Saturdays. There was also one less working day in the month this year.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. sales in September totaled $65,650,020, almost equaling the volume for May, the company's best month so far this year. Volume was 4.6 per cent ahead of a year ago, showing an increase of $2,899,327 over the $62,750,693 business done in September, 1939.

Gain Exceeds 11 Per Cent.

Sears reported the best first eight months' business for the fiscal year in the history of the company. Sales aggregated $453,219,794, a gain of 11.3 per cent over a year earlier, or $45,983,503 more than the 1939 period's sales of $407,236,291.

"Business generally has been better this year and we are well covered with stores in the big industrial areas of the country where the first effects of government defense spending is felt," a Sears official said yesterday, commenting on his company's record sales.

Both Sears and Montgomery Ward have established new sales records every month since October, 1938.

SHIPPERS TERM SEAWAY TREATY PLAN VISIONARY

The Mid-West Shippers Advisory board yesterday denounced the proposed St. Lawrence waterway and power treaty with Canada as "visionary, impractical legislation." F. A. Schleifer, secretary, said the board charges that Secretary of State Cordell Hull revived the proposed treaty for developing a St. Lawrence river waterway and power project under the guise of a defense measure.

The board declared in resolutions sent to President Roosevelt and congress that the seaway could not be used for more than seven months in each year; that it could serve but a few of the ocean going vessels new in service; that it would only add to the surplus of available transportation facilities and that it would create new labor and tax problems.

Unload Motors for 18,000 New Chicago Fords

Unloading of 18,000 motors destined for 1941 automobiles was started yesterday at the plant of the Ford Motor company at 126th street and Torrence avenue—Chicago's only passenger car assembly plant. The motors and other parts to go into the new cars were brought here by the steamers Lake Freeland and Lake Allen which docked at the Ford plant.

The Chicago plant delivers approximately 5,000 passenger cars, trucks and commercial cars a month to Ford branch dealers located in 46 Illinois counties, five eastern Iowa counties, and eight counties in northwestern Indiana, Arthur S. Hatch, branch manager, said.

Bring Other Parts, Too.

In addition to 10,000 motors, the Lake Freeland brought in 3,500 rear axles, 5,700 hubs, 2,000 radius rods, 6,500 front axles, 8,000 brakes, and 10,000 tires. The Lake Allen brought 8,000 motors and corresponding amounts of other equipment. Each motor alone weighs 450 pounds.

Besides receiving parts from Dearborn, Mich., near Detroit, by steamer, the Ford company receives huge amounts by rail. The track capacity at the Chicago plant is 175 cars a day. On a basis of weight, more than 25,000 tons of material are received and shipped each year by rail, steamer and truck at the Chicago plant. Freight charges are $4,000,000 yearly.

Employing 3,000 Men.

Hatch said the Chicago plant, which includes 15 acres of buildings, is now employing about 3,000 men, with an annual pay roll averaging $3,500,000. More than 700,000 units have been assembled at the plant during the last twelve years for distribution in this area.

Hatch said that in addition to materials received from Dearborn, some 500 manufacturers in the Chicago district supply the plant with parts and materials.

PLAN NEW TWO STORY ADDITION ON MOVIE ROW

Plans for a new two story addition to the South Wabash avenue film row were disclosed yesterday with the filing of a lease agreement between R. K. O.—Radio Pictures, Inc., and the 1300 Wabash Building corporation. The one story building at the southwest corner of Wabash avenue and 13th street, occupied by Republic Pictures corporation of Illinois, is to be torn down before Dec. 2.

The 1300 Wabash Building corporation, owner of the property, will erect a two story building, 72 by 120 feet, to be completed before April 28, and leased to R. K. O. for 15 years at an annual rental of $16,500.

Universal Pictures 'Looted,' 3 Charge in Accounting Suit

New York, Oct. 4 [Special].—Charging "looting and wasting" of the assets of Universal Pictures Co., Inc., Samuel I. Posen, a director, and two stockholders today sued in Supreme court here for an accounting and damages.

J. Cheever Cowdin.

Defendants named included J. Cheever Cowdin, chairman of Universal Pictures Co., Inc.; Standard Capital company; Universal Pictures corporation, the parent company; Universal Pictures Co., Inc.; Big "U" Film Exchange, Inc.; Western Electric Co., Inc.; Electrical Research Products, Inc.; Eastman Kodak company; Charles R. Rogers; J. Arthur Rank; George N. Armsby; Lawrence W. Fox Jr.; Preston Davie, and Robert H. Cochrane.

Asks Contracts Be Canceled.

The plaintiffs asked that the court restrain Universal Pictures from paying interest on a $2,000,000 debt to Universal corporation, that the defendants be restrained from merging the Pictures company into the parent corporation, and that employment contracts with Cowdin, Rogers, and Cochrane be canceled and the sums paid them returned.

The plaintiffs who joined in the suit with Posen were Celia Braun and Ester M. Tolmach.

The complaint charged that Cowdin formed Standard Capital corporation in 1935 to finance motion picture production, and that subsequently Cowdin and other defendants conspired to gain control of Universal Pictures for the purpose of "looting and wasting" its assets.

Parent Formed in 1936.

In 1936, the parent Universal corporation was formed to "carry out the conspiracy," the complaint charged, and the new company took over an option for purchase of controling interest in Universal Pictures corporation.

In the course of the various transactions, the complaint said, a valuable subsidiary, Universal Pictures, Ltd., was sold for $600,000, altho it was worth $3,000,000.

The complaint said that Cowdin received a contract as chief executive officer at $1,750 a week, which was later settled for a lump payment of $200,000, and that Rogers received a contract at $2,000 a week, and Cochrane at $1,750 a week.

THERE IS REALLY NO PLACE LIKE CHICAGO, A COMPANY LEARNS

"There's no place like Chicago" was the unanimous sentiment expressed yesterday by some 50 members of the general office and sales staff of the Nu-Enamel corporation, which recently moved its offices back to Chicago and Cleveland.

Finding an "attractive buy" in a new plant and equipment, the company, manufacturers of paints and varnishes, left Chicago for Cleveland in 1936 to expand manufacturing. Officials learned, however, that they had departed from the "best distribution center," H. G. Ellis, secretary and treasurer of the corporation, said. In returning to Chicago, the firm is arranging for expanded manufacturing facilities and plans to dispose of its Cleveland plant, he said.

The corporation has offices in the same suite of rooms at 8 South Michigan avenue, which it vacated four year ago.

APPEAL RULING ON ELECTRICITY RATE CUT PLEA

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 4 (AP).—Eight Chicagoans today asked the Illinois Supreme court to set aside the action of the state commerce commission in dismissing a complaint against the Commonwealth Edison company on Sept. 17.

Their petition charged that the commission's dismissal of the plea for a rate hearing "amounts to the entry of an order without a lawful hearing" because it refused to call as witnesses three former members or employés of the commission, including United States Senator James Slattery, former chairman of the commission.

The complaint which was dismissed by the commerce commission asserted that the Commonwealth Edison company had failed to comply with the commission's order of Oct. 2, 1936, to reduce residential electric rates by about $2,500,000 annually. The commission ruled that the complainants had failed to establish cause for reopening the case.

KELLY PLANNING TO SEE JONES ON TRACTION LOAN

Mayor Edward J. Kelly announced yesterday that he had asked Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, for an appointment next Wednesday in Washington, D. C., to discuss terms of the proposed 53 million dollar federal loan to finance Chicago transit improvements.

The conference will also be attended by Philip Harrington, traction commissioner, and Edward E. Brown, spokesman for the surface and elevated lines.

Brown disclosed in a report to the federal court Monday that Jones is not prepared to make the traction loan under present rates of fares. Jones, it was explained, doubts that earnings of the proposed unified company would be sufficient to guarantee repayment of the loan. City officials hope to find some way to bolster earnings of the company sufficiently to satisfy Jones, without resorting to higher fares.

Monon Railroad's Net Loss in August Is Smaller

The Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville [Monon] railroad reported yesterday net loss in August of $20,586, compared with $84,940 a year earlier.

SUE TO DIVORCE GEN'L MOTORS AND GMAC UNIT

Federal Civil Action Filed in Chicago.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Suit was filed in the United States Circuit court here yesterday by the department of justice seeking to compel General Motors corporation to divorce itself from General Motors Acceptance corporation, its sales financing subsidiary. Both companies were named defendants in the suit, which charges violation of the Sherman and Clayton antitrust acts.

The case, which is a civil action, follows a criminal suit brought against General Motors, General Motors Sales corporation, G. M. A. C., and General Motors Acceptance Corporation of Indiana, Inc. Altho these companies were convicted at South Bend, Ind., last November, officials of the various units were acquitted. The criminal case is under appeal.

Assigned to Judge Sullivan.

Yesterday's suit was filed by Thomas H. Daly, special assistant attorney general on behalf of Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, who has been active in antitrust act prosecutions. The case was assigned to Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan. No date has been set for a hearing.

The civil complaint alleges that G. M. A. C. is a wholly owned subsidiary of General Motors corporation that finances cars purchased at wholesale from the various General Motors units and which finances cars sold at retail on time to the public. The complaint declares that thru "coercion and discrimination General Motors and G. M. A. C., acting together, require General Motors dealers to finance with G. M. A. C. on both wholesale purchases and retail sales of General Motors cars."

Restraint Is Charged.

"Under the device of owning its own automobile finance company," the complaint said, "General Motors corporation is able to control completely the business operations of General Motors dealers despite the fact that under the terms of the selling agreement between General Motors dealers and the General Motors Sales corporation, the selling agency for General Motors cars, the dealer is not considered either the agent or the legal representative of the seller.

The complaint further states that "the power of General Motors corporation, flowing from its complete ownership and control of G. M. A. C., is such that it is subject to abuses which can be corrected permanently only by severance of that ownership and control; that injunctive relief is inadequate since, among other things, the mere fact of ownership constitutes a coercive influence on General Motors dealers who purchase and sell General Motors cars in interstate commerce."

Receiver Proposal Made.

The petition asks that a receiver be appointed to hold all stock and capital of G. M. A. C. which is now held by General Motors corporation pending the disposition of the case.

Ernest S. Ballard, of Pope and Ballard, Chicago law firm, who represents General Motors in the criminal case on which an appeal is pending, said the automobile company up to late yesterday had not been served in the civil case. He said that only yesterday, at the behest of the government, he had consented to a delay in a hearing on the appeal from late in November to the first week in December. The appeal is pending in the Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago.

General Motors Acceptance corporation has assets of close to a half billion dollars. In 1939 it did a gross business of $1,158,941,000. It was incorporated in New York in 1919.

AUTO OUTPUT RISES TO 105,153 IN WEEK; BEST SINCE JANUARY

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 4 (AP).—Ward's Automotive Reports estimated today that motor vehicle production this week totaled 105,153 units, compared with 95,990 last week, and 76,095 in the corresponding 1939 week.

Terming this week's output the largest since last January, the trade publication said a small advance is in prospect next week, but that volume was leveling out for a sustained period thru this month.

FIVE FIRMS CITED ON CHEESE PRICE FIXING CHARGE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 4 (AP).—The Federal Trade commission announced today an order against five corporations to "cease fixing or maintaining" the prices to be offered Wisconsin producers of Swiss and Limburger cheese.

The order named Badger-Brodhead Cheese company, Monroe, Wis.; Kraft Cheese company, Chicago; Borden company, New York; J. S. Hoffman company, Chicago, and Triangle Cheese company, of Monroe.

The commission dismissed its case against National Dairy Products corporation, New York, on a finding that the company had not engaged in the practices attributed to the other respondents. National Dairy owns Kraft Cheese company.

STOCKS DECLINE UNDER SELLING TO CASH PROFITS

But Offerings Are Small Thruout Session.

New York, Oct. 4 (AP).—Further profit selling pressure turned stock leaders downward in today's market. Most pivotal issues, however, finished above their lows, losses ranging from fractions to a point. A few inactive issues were off more than 3. A few airlines, coppers and specialties held small advances.

Smallness of offerings thruout was regarded as an encouraging feature. Transfers amounted to only 466,080 shares compared with 784,885 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down .4 of a point at 45, the first set-back in this composite since Sept. 27.

Await News of Dictators.

Partly responsible for the decline, brokers said, was the practice recently adopted by many traders of lightening accounts as insurance against untoward happenings abroad over the week-end. The latest recovery swing which had lifted prices to a peak since mid-May also caused some to stand aside on the theory a technical "correction" might be in the offing.

In addition, the list was thought to have been handicapped by fears the Hitler-Mussolini conference at Brenner Pass might mean a new war or peace shift that could have an unsettling market effect. Moderate selling from British and Swiss sources again was in evidence.

Steels Reduce Losses.

Motors trailed with the rest of the list notwithstanding the fact this week's output of new automobiles was pushed up to 105,153 units. Steels more than halved early declines as mill production was expected to hold at current high levels. Rails kept losses to minor amounts.

Gainers included United States Rubber, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Chesapeake & Ohio, Loft, Market Street Railway Preferred, Eastern Air Lines, Pan-American Airways, and United Air Lines.

Chicago Stocks.

The extra hour between 2 and 3 o'clock which the Chicago Stock exchange added to the trading session, effective last Monday, was the most productive yesterday, when it accounted for sales of 3,300 shares. However, total volume dropped off to 18,000 shares, from 27,000 on Thursday. Price declines outweighed advances.

Following is a comparison of closing prices of several stocks listed both in Chicago and New York and the changes recorded here in the hour after the New York close:

Willkie Urges U. S. to Stop Drift to War—Story in Pictures: British Sink Italian Submarine

A few of the 59 horseback riders who set out from the Onwentsia club stables north of Lake Forest early yesterday, as they appeared in the Allison wood on Milwaukee avenue. This was the first leg of a three day, 110 mile trail ride, which will end at Onwentsia tomorrow afternoon.

A Dramatic Episode in Sea Warfare

According to British sources, the pictures below show the destruction of an Italian submarine, which first was brought to the surface by the explosion of a depth bomb and then sunk by a shell hit on the conning tower, where ammunition blew up. Before the sinking the survivors of the sub's crew were rescued.
